As far as registration returns indicate political probabilities, the republicans have all the advantage. The heavy republican wards have returned large increases over the off year registration of 1904. The heavy democratic wards show decreases.

The second and last day of registration, yesterday, put 139,550 names on the enrollment books, bringing the total of voters entitled to vote the county, municipal, and sanitary tickets Nov. 6 up to 347,074, an increase of 10,238 over four years ago, that being a similar off year registration, but a decrease of 55,897 from the figures of two years ago.

The democratic organization had made every effort to retrieve its admitted failure on the first day, Oct. 6, but the figures reported last night do not indicate that these efforts were rewarded with great success.

A certain allowance must be made for the fact that some of the republican wards include rapidly growing sections of the city and that an increase in their voting strength is to be expected naturally. Making allowance for this natural increase, there still remains the fact that republican wards have gained consistently and democratic wards have lost.

Uphill Fight for Democrats.

Predictions based on these returns do not justify any inordinate republican jubilation, but they are sufficient to show that the republican organization has gained the first advantage, and that the democratic ticket has an uphill fight from now on.

The value of the republican methods of organization never appeared to better advantage. It has been admitted—it could hardly be concealed—that the republican organization is superior to the democratic, if the chaotic assortment of ward leaders grouped in the democratic county central committee can be called an organization.

Under County Chairman William O'Connell and Secretary John Tansey heroic efforts have been made to bring democratic methods down to a systematic basis, but the work was too gigantic for accomplishment in one campaign. The painstaking and laborious work of the new officials of the democratic party was insufficient. No pains, postage stamps, or printer's ink had been spared to bring the precinct captains to a realization of the necessities of the occasion.

No Democratic Organization.

In spite of these efforts, which were truly commendable from a democratic standpoint, the registration returns of the day only add additional testimony to that afforded by the first day in revealing the fact that there is no democratic organization and that the efforts of the new officials have not yet built one.

Hinky Dink Kenna fell down in the First ward. The Fourth and Fifth went to the bad in generous fashion. John Brennan and his lieutenants in the Eighteenth could not do as well as they did four years ago. The Powers aggregation in the Nineteenth did not earn a medal for their work. The Loeffler wards show losses.

On the other hand, the Sixth, Seventh, Twenty-fifth, Twenty-seventh, and Twenty-eighth and other solidly republican wards

REWARD PAID FOR BANKER'S ARREST

Clearing House Turns Over to James Keeley the $5,000 Offered for Taking of Paul O. Stensland.

HE GIVES IT TO RECEIVER.

Amount to Go to Depositors in the Wrecked Concern, While "Tribune" Bears Expense of the Capture.

The Chicago Clearing House association yesterday settled the identity of the captor of Paul O. Stensland. It paid over to J. Keeley, managing editor of THE TRIBUNE, the reward of $5,000 offered by it for the arrest and delivery to the sheriff of Cook county of the fugitive president of the Milwaukee Avenue State bank.

Money Given to Bank Depositors.

Mr. Keeley, acting for THE TRIBUNE, immediately turned over the money to the depositors of the wrecked institution, sending the check to Receiver John C. Fetzer, accompanied by the following letter:

"Chicago, Ill., Oct. 16, 1906.—Mr. John C. Fetzer, Receiver Milwaukee Avenue State Bank, 215 Dearborn Street, Chicago—Dear Sir: I have today received from the Chicago Clearing House association the reward of $5,000 offered by it for the arrest of Paul O. Stensland, the defaulting and fugitive president of the Milwaukee Avenue State bank, who was captured by me in Tangier.

"On behalf of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE I take great pleasure in indorsing the check over to you and request you to utilize it as one of the assets of the bank and distribute it among the depositors of the wrecked institution.

"The amount may not be of great benefit individually to the depositors, but I feel every possible cent should be realized and utilized for those whose trust was betrayed and whose savings were stolen by the men in whom they had placed unbounded confidence. Very truly yours, J. KEELEY,

"Managing Editor 'The Tribune.'"

Mr. Fetzer's Acknowledgment.

Mr. Fetzer gratefully accepted the check and acknowledged it in the following letter:

"Chicago, Oct. 16, 1906.—Mr. James Keeley, Managing Editor THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Chicago—My Dear Mr. Keeley:

"I acknowledge receipt of the check of the Chicago Clearing House association for $5,000, the same having been received by you for the capture and delivery to the proper authorities of Paul O. Stensland, the defaulting president of the Milwaukee Avenue State bank, and indorsed to me on behalf of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

"I certainly appreciate both the receipt of this money and the motive that prompted the gift, and assure you that, so far as in me lies, the last cent of it and of every other fund coming into my possession in this matter shall be realized and utilized to the furthest extent for the benefit of the depositors of this institution.

"On behalf of the depositors I wish to extend to you and THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE not only our thanks for this check but for the great service you have rendered them and the community at large in the return of Mr. Stensland. Very truly yours,

"JOHN C. FETZER, Receiver."

Reward Offered on Aug. 14.

The Chicago Clearing House association offered the $5,000 reward in the following resolutions adopted at a meeting held on Aug. 14:

Whereas, The banks of Chicago have a special and peculiar interest in securing the conviction and punishment of persons guilty of forgery, defalcation, and other like crimes, when such offenders are Chicago bank officials; and

Whereas, Paul O. Stensland, president of the Milwaukee Avenue State bank, is accused of such crimes on apparently good grounds and is a fugitive from justice;

Resolved, That the clearing house committee be and it hereby is authorized and directed to offer and pay, in behalf of this association, a reward of $5,000 for the apprehension and delivery into the hands of the sheriff of Cook county, Ill., of said Paul O. Stensland.

All Expenses Paid by "Tribune."

When Stensland was arrested and placed in the hands of the United States government, Mr. Gummere, the minister to Morocco, received cable instructions from the state department to draw for all money necessary to keep, guard, and return the prisoner. These expenses, which ultimately would have come out of the Cook county taxpayers' pockets, were advanced by THE TRIBUNE.

THE TRIBUNE desires to announce that it herewith makes a present of the whole amount to the citizens of Chicago.

SERGEANT KILLS LIEUTENANT; MYSTERY IN ISLAND TRAGEDY.

Indianian, on Duty at Albera, Province of Leyte, P. I., Reported Slain, but No Particulars Are Known.

MANILA, Oct. 17.—First Lieut. Robert B. Calvert of the Twenty-fourth infantry, U. S. A., has been killed by Sergeant Taylor of the Twenty-fourth infantry at Albera, province of Leyte.

Particulars of the tragedy have not been received.

First Lieut. Calvert was from Indiana and a graduate of West Point. He was 31 years old, graduated from the infantry and cavalry school in 1894, and served as second lieutenant in the Eighteenth infantry before his appointment as first lieutenant in the Twenty-fourth infantry six years ago.

DEATH FOR 14 IN SUBMARINE.

French Plunger Fails to Rise and Crew Is Caught in Trap.

FARFADET HORROR AGAIN.

Disaster Near Biserta, Tunis, Is Second of Kind in Last Year.

PARIS, Oct. 16.—Fourteen men on board the French submarine Lutin, which tonight is lying crippled under 130 feet of water off Biserta, Tunis, almost certainly are doomed to the horrible death which the crew of the submarine Farfadet met near the same spot a year ago.

Official news of the latest submarine disaster was received tonight by Minister of Marine Thomson in a dispatch from the naval commandant at Biserta, which said:

"The submarine Lutin, while exercising off the jetties, disappeared from the view of the accompanying tug. Search and dragging operations were begun immediately, and resistance was felt at a depth of 130 feet near the place where the Lutin sank."

Heavy Seas Stop Rescue Work.

Two torpedo boats and three tugs have gone out in search of the submarine. No further news of it has been received.

Admiral Bellue, commander of the Tunis naval division, who went out on board a tug, returned at a late hour tonight and said that, owing to the heavy seas and the obscurity, it was impossible to continue salvage operations until dawn. The tugs and torpedo boats, however, will remain near the place where the Lutin made its final plunge all through the night.

The government salvage steamers belonging to Biserta, which are at present absent to assist in raising a French schooner wrecked on the coast, will return in the morning and participate in the work.

British Consul Offers Aid.

The British consul general here proposed to the French resident general to telegraph to the British admiralty at Malta for salvage assistance. This offer was accepted, and powerful salvage apparatus will be sent at once to the scene of the catastrophe.

The Lutin is a single crew steel submarine boat built at Rochefort in 1901. It carries a complement of fourteen men. It is 135 feet long and has a displacement of 185 tons.

HOLD UP TRAIN, DYNAMITE SAFE; $50 FOR THEIR PAINS

Armed Men Stop Passenger in Colorado Mountains, Run Express and Baggage Cars Several Miles Away.

Leadville, Colo., Oct. 16.—Two armed men boarded the engine of the Denver and Rio Grande passenger train No. 5 at Malta tonight, and at the point of revolvers compelled the engineer and fireman to uncouple the express and baggage cars. They then forced the engineer to pull the cars several miles up the road. When the train stopped the bandits went to the express car, and, covering the messenger with their weapons, attempted to blow open the safe. They only succeeded in getting about $50.

CHICAGO'S CANAL PLACED IN PERIL

Health of City May Depend on Action by International Commission Here to Investigate.

WOULD LIMIT THE FLOW.

Restriction to 10,000 Gallons a Second Fatal to Usefulness of the Great Sanitary Project.

The health of Chicago people—especially the health of future generations—may depend to a large extent upon the report of the international waterways commission, which came here yesterday to investigate whether it is not possible to restrict the flow of Lake Michigan through the Chicago drainage canal.

The commission, consisting of three representatives of the United States and three Canadians, made a voyage through the north and south branches of the Chicago river and then inspected the drainage canal.

After one day's cursory inspection of an engineering work that has occupied sanitarians and engineers in this country for nearly a score of years, the private opinion of at least two of the Canadian commissioners was that it was a tremendously extravagant piece of work for the disposition of the sewage of a city even as large as that of Chicago.

Will Stand by Report.

The commission, as a whole, it may be stated authoritatively, will stand by its recommendation, made to congress last March, that the flow be restricted to 10,000 cubic feet a second, or 600,000 feet a minute, unless powerful pressure is brought to bear upon it at the formal hearing beginning this morning.

Engineer Isham Randolph of the sanitary district says 10,000 cubic feet a second will not be enough to dilute the sewage sufficient to preserve the health of Chicagoans, including those in the regions of the proposed Evanston and Calumet branches, and of hundreds of thousands of people in the Illinois river valley. What Chicago wants is a flow of 14,000 cubic feet a second.

Considerably fatigued after the day's investigation the Canadian commissioners discussed the situation last night in their apartments at the Auditorium Annex. Formal hearing of arguments on whether the flow of water through the canal shall be restricted to 10,000 cubic feet will begin at 9:30 a. m. in the office of Engineer William H. Bixby, 508 Federal building.

Conclusions of Canadians.

The impressions gained by the Canadian members of the commission during their investigation, so far as it has progressed, may be summed up as follows:

"Bubbly creek" is an odorous object lesson on the difficulties that confront Chicago in the disposition of the sewage.

The voyage over the river was useful in demon-

SUBTREASURY SHORT $61,200

Government Experts at Work in St. Louis Discover Big Loss.

WAIT TO FIX THE BLAME.

Action Delayed Till Accountants Complete Inquiry at Office.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—A shortage of $61,000 has been discovered in the United States sub treasury here by expert accountants delegated by the treasury department at Washington to count the $20,000,000 in the vaults.

United States Subtreasurer Thomas J. Akins tonight admitted that expert accountants were at work in the treasury, but declared he would have nothing to say till their investigation was completed.

Subtreasurer Finds Shortage.

The shortage first was discovered by Assistant Treasurer Akins a week ago. He immediately notified the officials at Washington, and, following his request for assistance in checking up the accounts, a force of experts was assigned to his office. Mr. Akins hoped that an error had been made in checking the money from the vaults to the cages.

The subtreasurer says that it would be most difficult for a teller to be short $61,200 and not be discovered in a short time. He says that the money in the vaults are checked every Friday and this system would result in the speedy discovery of the person or persons responsible for the loss.

Inspection Ten Months Overdue.

As a rule, the treasury officials at Washington inspect the subtreasuries every two years. This biennial inspection is now ten months overdue in St. Louis. Mr. Akins says that when he was in Washington recently he called attention to the delay.

The treasury investigation committee began its investigation of the subtreasury receiving tellers' division Saturday. The investigation is to cover the entire office, and an accounting is to be had of every cent for which Treasurer Akins is responsible, in order to lay bare all the facts bearing on the responsibility of the discrepancy now reported. The expert accountants are expected to be at work all of this week.

Shortage Known in Washington.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Treasury department experts have announced in a report to Washington a shortage of $61,200 in the St. Louis subtreasury. Experts were sent to make a thorough examination of all divisions of the St. Louis office. The preliminary report, received today by Charles H. Treat, treasurer of the United States, sets forth the bare fact of the shortage, offering no explanation as to when and how it occurred.

The first intimation of a probable shortage reached the treasury department by letter from Assistant Treasurer Akins last week. Treasurer Treat at once took the matter up with Charles Hallam Keep, acting secretary of the treasury in the absence of Secretary Shaw. The letter from Akins indicated that he suspected a shortage, but that with the force at his command there he had been unable to locate it.

WHAT WAS ON THAT MYSTERIOUS SHEET OF PAPER?

FINANCIAL KINGS DISPUTE RAILWAY

Lining Up to Do Battle Today for Control of the Entire Illinois Central System.

HARRIMAN VERSUS FISH.

Former Said to Have Violated Compromise and Latter Considering Plan to Oust His Men.

President Stuyvesant Fish of the Illinois Central railroad was in his private office at the Park row depot until 2 o'clock this morning. Closeted with him was J. B. Dill, the famous corporation lawyer of New York, who is his attorney. There were also present officials of the road connected with the auditing department. Mr. Fish was laying his plans for a battle royal which will be fought out this morning.

On the Twentieth Century limited train on the Lake Shore which will arrive in Chicago at 8:30 o'clock this morning are E. H. Harriman and a party of his financial friends. They were coming as fast as the fastest train in the country could carry them to make the fight against Mr. Fish.

The prize is one well worth striving for. It is the control of the Illinois Central railway system, with its lines reaching to the gulf of Mexico on the south and the Missouri river on the west, with its thousands on thousands of cars, its great terminal facilities in every important city it reaches, including the vast docks at New Orleans—all the things which go to make it one of the great railways of the world.

Harriman Long Seeking Control.

For a year it has been known Mr. Harriman and his allies have been seeking control of this property. He wants to join it with his other railway interests and be the transportation dictator in the western country. President Fish and his friends now in charge of the road have been as persistently fighting him.

Today comes the test. It is the date for the annual meeting of the stockholders, and it is for them to decide whether the present directors or men allied with them shall be retained or the adherents of Mr. Harriman put in their places. The election of directors is the special order for the gathering.

There are 950,040 shares of stock, representing a capitalization of $95,004,000, entitled to vote at this meeting. The side which controls 475,021 shares will win. It has been assumed generally that Mr. Harriman controlled only one-fifth of the total shares of stock, but the information brought to Chicago yesterday was that he has had the banking firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. of New York working for and with him for some time, and every share of stock and proxy that could be bought or borrowed has been secured. Whether it is enough remains to be determined today.

Former Compromise Set Aside.

Only part of a complete board of directors is to be elected today, and it is understood that the details of the contest are over the alleged breaking of a compromise arranged some time ago. It is understood the basis of this agreement between Fish and Harriman was the choice by the board of directors of a man acceptable to the board as successor to the late W. Morton Grinnell. After the recent meeting of the Illinois Central board it was understood Harriman presented to Fish a statement signed by seven directors out of twelve naming Charles De Forest as an acceptable candidate to fill the vacancy in the Illinois Central board.

Fish, it is understood, declined to accept Mr. De Forest on the ground that he had confidential legal relations with Harriman, and the agreement that had been reached between Harriman and himself did not contemplate the addition to the Illinois Central board of another director who represented Harriman's policy in regard to the control of the property. The agreement contemplated rather that a man be chosen who would be a partisan of neither side and acceptable to both.

Fish's Sweeping Plan.

President Fish now has under advisement, it is said, the question of gaining control of the board for himself, by electing as successors to the late Mr. Grinnell as well as to the three directors who retire this year men who will be in sympathy with his policy of management of the Illinois Central. The directors whose terms are about to expire are Charles M. Beach, J. T. Harahan, and Cornelius Vanderbilt. Although it has been understood in the past that at least two of these directors, Harahan and Vanderbilt, were in sympathy with the Fish policy and opposed to the control of the Illinois Central by Harriman in the interest of the Union Pacific, it is said now that as a matter of fact they side with Harriman against Fish. Both are included in the list of directors who are understood to have signed the statement proposing the election of De Forest against the wishes of President Fish. The five other directors who signed the statement are understood to be E. H. Harriman himself, Robert W. Goelet, Charles A. Peabody, Walter Luttgen, and John W. Auchincloss.

Terms of Old Agreement.

Were the terms of the agreement carried out the three directors whose terms are expiring would be reëlected and the one vacancy on the board would be filled by a man who is not identified closely with either Mr. Fish or Mr. Harriman. It is known Mr. Fish's friends regard the agreement as having been practically violated by the attempt of the Harriman party to name a director who would throw the balance of power in the board to the Harriman side.

Under the conditions which exist Mr. Fish's friends assert he will be entirely justified in regarding this agreement as having been abrogated and in choosing nominees of his own in place of the three directors who retired this year and of the late Mr. Grinnell. It is understood that in following such a course Mr. Fish would have the support of prominent financial interests who have consented to act as directors if Mr. Fish decides to take this step.

Expects a Majority.

Mr. Fish last evening was confident the Harriman plan would fail and the meeting show a good majority of stockholders in favor of continuing the present policy. Still he was not taking any chances, and his work in his office until the early hours of this morning was to see to it no point was overlooked.

The annual elections of the Illinois Central road are unique in that they are attended by a larger number of individual stockholders than those of any large railway in the country. The road has always made it a point to get as many of its stockholders as possible to attend, and while in the main these stockholders hold individually but few shares, in the aggregate the amount of stock they vote is large. Should the Harriman forces be able to make the showing they hope to it is possible the result will be decided by the vote of these smaller stockholders who are present in person. It is understood, however, they are in the main favorable to the present management.

Gov. Deneen to Present Bill.

Gov. Deneen is in position to give the directors of the company a full and detailed statement of the state's claims against the road this morning. He came to Chicago yesterday from Mount Carroll and went over the report of the accountants as submitted by Frank D. Whipp and former Assistant Attorney General Boys.

The governor refused to discuss the claim which the state is prepared to submit, but intimated that it rested with the directors to hear it now or wait until some subsequent time. If the company does not wish to take the matter up it may be laid over until President Fish personally can take it up.

The amount which the state is prepared to demand from the company is said to be approximately $3,000,000, as has been stated.

John Jacob Astor and party will arrive at the Auditorium Annex hotel this morning on a two days' business and social visit. They will attend the Illinois Central meeting today, will inspect various property holdings tomorrow, and will leave for a week's trip through the west possibly Friday afternoon. Reservations were made at the hotel for the party last night by the valet of Mr. Astor, who arrived in the evening.

Constable May Await Mr. Fish.

When Mr. Fish goes to the stockholders' meeting he will run the risk of an encounter with a Chicago constable. Like possibilities will confront Mr. Harriman, and also John Jacob Astor, and Cornelius Vanderbilt, if the latter two should arrive today to attend the meeting.

President Fish was served at 6 o'clock last evening with notice that suit had been brought against the company by the Illinois State Audit company. This was started last week in Justice Martin's court, and the hearing is set for 11 o'clock this morning. Last evening a constable found him at the Auditorium Annex, and served him with a notice of the suit and a subpœna to be in court when the case is called. This stockholders' meeting is called for 12 o'clock, but if the case is heard by the justice it will not be ended by that hour.

Suit of Down State Merchants.

If he remains away from court a constable with an attachment may be sent for him. Subpœnas have been issued for Harriman, Astor, and Vanderbilt.

The suit is one brought by the audit company in behalf of half a dozen down state merchants who allege that the Illinois Central overcharged them at least one-third on freight bills, and thus discriminated against them.

The complainants are A. M. and A. L. Terwilliger, Champaign; H. G. Beatty & Co., Clinton; J. N. Baler, Clinton; Stowe Brothers, Mount Pulaski; Kent Brothers & Hopkins, Paxton; and J. C. Boyd & Co., Lincoln. Attorneys W. E. Mason and Hogan & Hogan will have charge of the merchants' case.

New York Central Men Coming.

Officials of the New York Central and Vanderbilt lines will reach Chicago this morning for an inspection of property here and lines west and south. The party comprises W. C. Brown, senior vice president of the New York Central, and ten other officials. They will spend tomorrow looking over the system in Chicago and will hold a meeting at the Auditorium Annex, where they reserved quarters last night, after which they will proceed on their tour of inspection of the lines west and south.

MEDIUMS GIVE MESSAGES AT SPIRITUALISTS' CONVENTION.

President of the National Organization Strongly Urges the Exclusion of Fakers and Impostors.

The National Spiritualists' association began its annual session yesterday in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium, 153 La Salle street, with delegates present representing more than 700 spiritualistic bodies.

Thomas Grimshaw of St. Louis spoke in the evening on "The Future of Spiritualism," while the speaker claimed to be under the influence of a spirit. Mrs. Georgia G. Cooley of Chicago and E. W. Sprague of St. Louis gave platform messages from the spirit world to persons in the audience.

In his annual report President Harrison D. Barrett recommended that the convention take a decided stand for prison reform, against child labor, against sectarian teachings in the public schools, for uniform taxation of all church property, against employment of salaried clergymen by legislatures and in the army and navy, against special favors to preachers, for international arbitration of all disputes, for educational qualification for voters, and for equal suffrage for the sexes.

In reference to the definition of the terms medium, clairvoyant, prophet, used by spiritualists, President Barrett said:

"Let us have the courage of our convictions and state them in plain, simple language, for all the world to see. If we hold to the idea that spiritualism is a religion, and that its mediums are its mouthpieces, therefore religious teachers and helpers, let us say so. If we hold the discovery of gold mines, the finding of hidden treasure, the giving of tips on the stock markets, and other equally questionable assumptions constitute the religion of spiritualism let us say so and tell all self-respecting people that their presence with us is no longer desired."

HARLEM BOARD DROPS M. O.; CITIZENS WILL PROTEST.

Trustees Grant Contracts to Furnish Light and Power on Cheaper Basis than Under Village Management.

Municipal ownership and operation in Harlem have proved a failure, the village board of the suburb has decided, and "foreign" companies will operate the water plant and furnish electric light.

In this the board's decision is in direct opposition to the belief of many of the village's citizens, and the latter propose to fight the recent granting of franchises. To this end they will hold a meeting Saturday night in Ogden hall to protest against the board's action. Resolutions are being prepared asking the president and the trustees to resign and expressing the citizens' indignation at the board's refusal to ask for a public vote before granting the franchises.

The franchise most objected to is the one contracting with the Oak Park Yaryan company for power to operate the water works and for street lighting for twenty years. The company is to do the pumping at 6¼ cents for 1,000 gallons, which the board insists will be a saving over the present method. The electric light, the trustees assert, also will be on a cheaper basis.

NEGRO TROOPS MUST "PEACH."

Roosevelt Gives Battalion Choice of Giving Rioters' Names or Be Dishonorably Discharged.

El Reno, Okla., Oct. 16.—It became known today that E. A. Garlington, inspector general of the United States, read an order from President Roosevelt several days ago to the battalion of the Twenty-fifth regiment of infantry (colored), stating that the battalion must tell the names of the men in the recent Brownsville (Tex.) disturbance or be dishonorably discharged. The men were given until 9 o'clock yesterday morning to "fess up." The time limit was extended a day, but it is believed nothing has been revealed.

DECLARES MAYOR HINDERS REFORM

Citizens' Association Annual Report Criticises the City Administration.

AIDED BY COUNTY BOARD

West Park Commissioners Also Come In for Special Favorable Mention.

Members of the Citizens' association, at their annual meeting yesterday, metaphorically speaking, shook hands with themselves. The thirty-second annual report of the association showed much work accomplished during the year, and with it went the consolation that the association could have done more had it had the help of the city administration.

In its work of sending former Circuit Court Clerk Linn to the penitentiary and convicting former Circuit Clerk Cooke the association had the active coöperation of President Brundage and other members of the county board, but when it came to correcting what it considered evils in the city hall it labored under difficulties.

In speaking of its successful endeavor to correct evils in the fee offices in the county the report says:

"Even more important than any of the results enumerated is the pledge given by the county board that it will secure from the legislature the enactment of a law extending the present civil service law to all the offices of the county. This splendid reform, placing under the protection of the merit system 1,200 employés in county offices now at the mercy of spoilsmen, will be of inestimable value."

Criticism of Mayor Dunne.

Then the report goes on to say it had also sought to have the city bridgetenders put under the civil service law, citing the fact that a previous investigation had shown "that saloonkeepers and politicians who were being carried on the city pay rolls as bridgetenders employed substitutes to do their work and made a large profit out of their salaries; that others received for their own services twice what they paid for similar service to assistants, while still others were paid to turn bridges which had been out of service for years."

An appeal was made to Mayor Dunne to aid the association in correcting this condition and as to his action in this matter the report says:

"In acknowledging receipt of the letter Mayor Dunne avoided giving any assurance that he favored placing the bridgetenders under the civil service system, and, so far as we have been able to discover, he has made no especial effort toward that end or toward remedying the abuses pointed out. These conditions constitute a standing scandal and an unanswerable proof of the weakness of the city government."

Wiping Out Policy Shops.

In telling of the efforts of the association to stop policy playing in Chicago the report recites the correspondence with Mayor Dunne at the time the charge was made that "Patsy" King was allowed to run policy games on the west side and none was permitted on the south, and the assertion is made that when detectives from Chief Collins' office had been detailed to raid one of the King games in West Madison street advance information was given to the gamblers and the raid was fruitless. In commenting on this correspondence the report says:

"During the year the association has by constant vigilance kept the city practically free of the policy shop evil, which it succeeded in eradicating with the help of Mayor Harrison in 1905. In January of this year a considerable number of policy shops suddenly made their appearance simultaneously in different parts of the city. As the number of shops rapidly increased, the matter was called to the attention of Chief of Police Collins. He professed ignorance of the matter, but promised to investigate. Another appeal to him elicited further protestations of ignorance. He offered, however, to detail two of his detectives to aid in getting evidence. These were tried, but were found to be useless for the purpose.

"Aroused to tardy activity by our letter, the police made numerous raids on Feb. 14 and 15, arresting a number of policy writers, several of whom were heavily fined. In consequence of the publicity given the matter all the shops operated by King's company remained closed after Feb. 15, since which date Chicago has been free from the policy swindle."

West Park Board Praised.

In the way of contrast between a well and a badly managed municipality the report calls attention to the reforms President B. A. Eckhart of the west park board has accomplished in the management of the parks and boulevards under his care.

"It required," says the association, "a complete reform and reorganization of the system, incumbered as it was with barnacles who worked for private instead of public benefit.

"Three hundred men, besides all special policemen, not needed in the economical and efficient management of the work, have been discharged. Three superintendents of separate parks, with their respective trains of high salaried subordinate officials, have been consolidated into a single department at less than one-half the former cost. Loafing on the part of employés, free flowers and plants for commissioners and their friends, and free boat rides for nearly everybody, as well as other forms of 'graft,' have been abolished and every man on the pay roll understands that he must give 'a fair day's work for a day's fair pay,' as the price of holding his place.

Fight Against Extra Fees.

"The extensive work of rehabilitating the parks and boulevards, which had fallen into serious decay, has been let to contractors and kept free from the wasteful system of day's labor.

"A vigorous fight against the allowance of extra fees to lawyers receiving regular salaries from the board is being waged, and one involving $30,000 is now pending in the courts."

The association reëlected George R. Jenkins and George Merryweather as members of its executive committee and these officers:

President—Eugene E. Prussing.
Vice president—Julius Stern.
Treasurer—John C. Black.
Secretary—Shelby M. Singleton.

LONG, LUCID INTERVAL COMING.

Prof. F. E. Ormsby Reads It in the Stars—Tickets to Kankakee Should Be Returned.

Chicago people who have purchased cheap rate tickets to Kankakee, on strength of the theory of Prof. Forbes Winslow, the London specialist who said the world is going insane, should return them and get their money, according to Prof. F. E. Ormsby, astrologer, who gives free lectures in "Star chamber," 26 Van Buren street, each Tuesday night.

"While it is true on a nebular hypothesis that there is an excess of insanity at present, baseball and otherwise, the theory of Dr. Winslow is poorly founded, and totally wrong," said Prof. Ormsby.

"He offered as foundation for his theory simply statistics—a sort of mathematical progression. The conjunction of Jupiter with the moon and Saturn in the square only indicates a short wave of insanity tendency. Then will follow an unusual wave indicative of mental and physical health."

Will Inspect New Garbage Wagon.

Superintendent of Streets Doherty, various ward superintendents, and other city officials will examine the first of the city's new garbage wagons this afternoon at the Hamler Boiler works, Thirty-ninth and Halsted streets. The wagons will be used to deliver garbage to the Sanitary Reduction company under the contract which goes into effect Nov. 1.

Society Girl to Become an Actress.

MISS HELEN MARCELLA DICKINSON

QUITS SOCIETY FOR STAGE

POPULAR KENWOOD GIRL DECIDES TO BECOME ACTRESS.

Miss Helen Marcella Dickinson Tires of Teas and Receptions and Determines to Endeavor to Make Her Mark as an Exponent of the Drama—Encouraged in Her Aspirations by Mr. Dillingham, a Theatrical Promoter in New York City.

Social gayeties have lost their charms for Helen Marcella Dickinson, a popular Kenwood girl, who will begin today to prepare for a stage career. Two seasons have "tired" Miss Dickinson of teas, receptions, and parties, she says, and now she will devote herself to "work" and stage uplift.

Miss Dickinson condemns society life as a "bore, superficial, and uninteresting, in which the only goal is to be the leader in entertaining." She believes every young woman should have some "occupation," and for herself she declares she no longer is willing to play the part of a "do nothing."

Two opportunities for immediate prominence on the stage are open to Miss Dickinson, but she will consult with Charles Dillingham, the eastern theatrical promoter, before making a choice. She will start to New York today to meet Mr. Dillingham, who is partly responsible for her decision to take up a stage career.

Venture Opposed by Her Father.

Miss Dickinson is the daughter of W. P. Dickinson, a Chicago business man, who protests strongly against the step which his daughter is about to take. She was educated at Sacred Heart academy, New York, and St. Xavier academy, Chicago. Three years ago she was introduced in Hyde Park society.

"I have chosen the stage as a career because I became tired of society," said Miss Dickinson at her residence, 195 East Fifty-fourth street, last night, in explaining her decision to become an actress. "I had two seasons of society and they were enough. I feel that I can no longer remain idle this way.

"Society to me is a bore with its round and after round of competition to outdo one another in entertaining. The only goal one can reach is to be the leader of entertainers. I don't care for it now, although there was a time when I found it quite fascinating.

"Every young woman should have something really worth while to do. I felt that I was wasting my time. I tried the stage in amateurish attempt, but I did not consider the stage as a profession seriously until recently. Now I have decided to go to work.

Her Ideal Is the Stage.

"Women and men alike should be at work of some sort. Work is the foundation of our existence, we all know, and the women as well as the men should consider it more seriously. I tried my hand a little at writing and had a few stories and poems accepted, and then dabbled in stage work.

"Acting I found real work. What little I have seen of it, I know, has required time and energy. I am willing, although I do not know that I have any talent. Mr. Dillingham says if I work hard in time I may 'do.' This is what I shall try.

"I hope none of my friends will misunderstand me. I do not want to pose as an uplifter or reformer. I believe the stage is somewhere near my ideals already."

A little preliminary stage work was done last year without salary by Miss Dickinson. She was known by the stage name of Helen Dudley. On being asked her age last night, she replied she was "just at that age when candlesticks are replaced by fireworks at birthday parties."

RAVINIA CHARITY NETS $2,000.

Theater Crowded with People to See Amateur Performance of "Les Romanesques."

Predictions of huge success for the north shore charity, an amateur performance of "Les Romanesques," followed by a harvest dance at Ravinia park, proved correct both from a social and a financial standpoint last evening. The theater, where a translation of Rostand's play was presented, was filled to its capacity. It had been preceded by a number of dinners at the casino at which 150 were seated, and it was stated that the proceeds of the two insured a sum in the neighborhood of $2,000 for the Grove Home for Convalescents at Evanston.

The entire casino, from the porches to the roof of the ballroom, was a mass of autumn leaves of red and yellow. The walls were covered with them, while pumpkins, bales of hay, and died corn lent variety of color.

The boxes were occupied by the parties of E. F. Carry, Samuel Insull, Alfred Baker, and Francis Peabody.

City to Tear Down Old Freight Shed.

The Pennsylvania railroad company's freight shed, which has stood for years in Halsted street between Kinzie street and Carroll avenue under the railroad viaduct, will be torn down today by Supt. Charles McDonald of the Eighteenth ward, who will take possession of the public property under the viaduct. The shed is one story, 300 feet long, and 60 feet wide.

LEMP PARTS FROM WIFE.

TOO MUCH TEMPER REPORTED TO BE CAUSE—DIVORCE NEXT.

Millionaire Head of St. Louis Brewing Company Decides Happiness of His Wife, Son, and Self Requires Separation—Only Incompatibility to Be Charged in Suit, Which He Will Not Contest—$500,000 Reported to Be Price of Domestic Quiet.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—William J. Lemp, millionaire head of the Lemp Brewing company, has left his beautiful young wife, known far and wide as the "Lavender Lady," and will permit her to secure a divorce. Lemp states that in consenting to a permanent separation he has decided upon a course that, in his opinion, will bring the most happiness to his wife as well as to himself and will be to the greatest advantage of their son. The grounds for the divorce, it is understood, will be incompatibility.

Mrs. Lemp, who was Miss Lillie Handlan, daughter of A. H. Handlan, president of the Handlan-Buck Manufacturing company, declines to make any statement concerning the separation.

Her unusual sobriquet is due to her preference for stunning lavender toilets. She has been conspicuous because of her gowns, lavish entertainments, and her unusual beauty. Mrs. Lemp also has achieved some note because of her reputation for a high temper.

Former Breaks Repaired.

Several times before within the last four or five years the Lemps have come to the parting of the ways, but friends and relatives up to this time have bridged the difficulty. Once Lemp was obliged to appeal to her father, who averted the threatened estrangement temporarily.

Mrs. Lemp, while returning recently from Atlantic City, where she spent the summer with her son, had an altercation on the train with her maid, which resulted in the latter refusing to accompany her mistress home when they arrived at the union station. An unpleasant scene ensued, it is said, before Lemp, who was there to meet his wife.

Too Much Temper, Says Brother.

"My wife and I have not been getting along for some time as husband and wife should," said Lemp tonight. "So, when patience ceased to be a virtue, it became a matter of self-preservation and the best welfare of our child."

A. W. Handlan, Mrs. Lemp's elder brother, spoke of the affair with much feeling.

"It is a matter of temper," he said, "and it is hard to tell which is most to blame.

"Mr. Lemp is too much of a gentleman not to permit my sister to secure a divorce now that their differences have reached a point where the breach cannot be healed. He has led an exemplary life. There will be no sensational charges on either side."

Report has it that Lemp has agreed to settle $500,000 on his wife on the understanding that she get a divorce on the ground of incompatibility and give him the custody of the child.

TOILING IN STEEL WORKS PERILOUS AS GOING TO WAR.

Deputy Commissioner Hughes Says a Commission of Mechanics Should Be Sent to Decide on Changes.

"Toiling in those works is worse than going to war" was the oral report Deputy Building Commissioner A. F. Hughes made of his examination of the Illinois Steel company's plant yesterday. "A soldier does not take half the chances the workingmen there do.

"It looks like a battlefield, also," continued Mr. Hughes. "There are stretchers on all sides and an organized ambulance corps waiting to carry the injured to the hospital. With an average of twenty to thirty men in the hospital, not to speak of those receiving minor injuries, some idea of the situation can be had."

Asked what he would recommend in the way of preventing accidents at the works, the deputy commissioner said:

"I do not feel like making any recommendations myself. The situation is one foreign to my experience, and I think a commission of practical mechanics well acquainted with the rolling mill business should take the matter up."

Mr. Hughes is to make another investigation today. This will be done to get evidence for Coroner Hoffman, to be used at the inquest over the bodies of the victims of the recent explosion. The coroner wrote Commissioner Bartzen yesterday asking that Mr. Hughes testify at the inquest on Oct. 24 as to the condition of the blast furnaces at the plant.

Must Die in Electric Chair.

Columbus, O., Oct. 16.—Frank Castor, who killed Police Officer Daniel E. Davis, must die in the electric chair. The Supreme court today sustained the decision of the Common Pleas court, condemning Castor to death. He is from Canton and came here to work. He was caught robbing a house on East Broad street and in trying to escape killed the officer.

SAY MAGISTRATE AIDS 'VICE TRUST'

Officers of Y. M. C. A. and Others Formally Accuse Justice Q. J. Chott.

RUMORS OF HIS REMOVAL.

He Is Alleged to Dismiss Cases Against Women Protected by "Combine."

Serious charges were made yesterday against Police Magistrate Q. J. Chott, who presides over one of the Desplaines street courts. They are so serious that the report in the city hall last evening was that Chott would be removed. He himself went to the city hall to see the mayor, but was told to call today.

The charges are made by the officers of the Young Men's Christian association, who have for some time been trying to clean out the "west side levee," and in effect are that no matter how active the police of the Desplaines street station may be their work is nullified by the fact that the magistrate discharges the prisoners they are most anxious to have convicted.

What is more, it is asserted, a "trust" exists on the west side, under which the women who pay tribute are protected.

"The Y. M. C. A. men have not as yet been able to connect Justice Chott financially with these transactions," reads the complaint made to the mayor. "Even if he is not now, but should suddenly become a sharer in the proceeds, the system could not work a whit more smoothly. Whether through ignorance of what is going on about him or through defects in character, or through actual connivance, the result is the same. Justice Chott, by releasing these women, makes complete the chain which is binding the police hand and foot."

Signers of the Complaint.

The complaint was made to the mayor by Prof. Graham Taylor, F. W. Pardee, Secretary H. W. Gates of the Y. M. C. A., Social Worker M. J. Stickel, and Employment Agent Alexander Cleland of the same organization, the Rev. M. C. Hartzel of the Centenary Methodist Episcopal church, and the Rev. John Roach Straton of the Second Baptist church. They secured a quasi promise that Chott should be removed. He was removed once before, but political influences seemed to be strong enough to get him back.

The complaint recites conditions on the "west side levee," asserting that after nightfall women practically own the streets and goes on to say that some time ago the religious organizations interested, aroused by the ruin of a choir boy 16 years old who had been practically dragged from the street into a low resort, appealed to the police for aid.

The police responded promptly and did efficient work. But, says the complaint:

"The splendid work of the police was defeated when the cases came to the police court for trial."

This led to a study of the police court records and this state of facts was developed: Of 465 of these cases brought before Justice Dooley 235 took changes of venue to Justice Chott. Of the 244 cases brought before Justice Chott only fourteen took changes to Justice Dooley. Justice Chott passed upon 455 cases during the three months and a half examined into, and either discharged or else simply imposed fines of the costs in 288 cases.

"A study of the cases in which Justice Chott imposed fines reveals some facts of interest," says the report. "On one day fines of $410 were imposed on eight women. Six of these women, on whom were imposed fines of $50, $75, and $100, were colored and not particularly bad or notorious. The two fined $10 and $25 were white women whose names have appeared frequently on the justice's record.

Controlled by Vice "Combine."

"There is in this district one of the most ingenious, thoroughly organized, and dastardly 'systems' for thwarting the police and protecting vice that this country has ever known. The district is practically owned and controlled by a 'combine,' which has headquarters at a notorious Washington boulevard hotel, a lawyer who represents one of the most influential politicians on the west side, the owners of one of the largest saloons on Madison street, and a group of depraved underlings, who with rough neck and strong arm men do the menial tasks.

"These find their chief aid and comfort in the fact that when any of the women who have been 'let in' to the 'system' are arrested by the police they can secure a change of venue to Justice Chott's court, and in practically every case be let off with costs or dismissed.

"The 'system' is financed as follows: When a woman is arrested she immediately gives a sum of money—from $10 to $25—to an agent of the combine, who furnishes bail and tells her that all fees, fines, etc., will be taken care of for her. She goes immediately back to her haunt, and appears in court only long enough to answer a few routine questions and be discharged. The agent pays the $1.50 costs, keeps his percentage, and renders to his chiefs the things that are theirs."

Answer of the Justice.

In the mayor's office Justice Chott said: "In my judgment I believe I fined these women heavily enough upon the evidence presented to me. You may look up my record and you'll find I have fined women brought before me heavier than any justice in Chicago. The Young Men's Christian association people have assured me they do not want these women driven into their home neighborhoods, but by assessing heavy fines that will be the result. As for the changes of venue taken from Justice Dooley to my court, I have this to say: I know of cases where Justice Dooley has advised women to take their cases to me. He wished to avoid fining them and by putting it up to me he would make me the scapegoat."

In the evening Justice Chott called on M. J. Stickel, chairman of the committee seeking his transfer, at the Y. M. C. A. building.

"Justice Chott asked us to let up on him. He pleaded for one more chance," said Stickel. "We have given him all the chances we intend to."

strating the extent of Chicago's industries, commerce, and population.

The $40,000,000 engineering work on the drainage canal is stupendously impressive, but the Canadian commissioners wondered why a more economical system was not devised for the disposition of the sewage, such as the systems of London, Paris, and Berlin.

To increase the flow of water through the drainage canal and also to build the projected waterway to the gulf probably will interfere with navigation not only in Lake Huron and Lake Erie but in Lake Michigan, and the commerce of the United States will be affected more than the commerce of Canada.

Lake Michigan, under the treaty of Ghent, is considered one with Lake Huron, and consequently within jurisdiction of the international waterways commission.

There is no disposition, however, on the part of either the Canadian commissioners or those representing the United States to disregard the health or the rights of Chicago.

Members of the Board.

The members of the American section are O. H. Ernst, brigadier general U. S. A., retired, chairman; George Clinton, a Buffalo attorney; E. E. Haskell, an engineer. The Canadian commissioners are George C. Gibbons, K. C., chairman, an attorney from London, Ont.; William F. King, geologist of Ottawa; and Louis Coste, engineer, Ottawa. Thomas Cote, an expert on international treaties, is secretary of the joint commission.

"Nothing will be decided in a hurry," said Mr. Gibbons. "Chicago's rights will be protected. Canada is no more anxious to protect the navigation of the great lakes by restricting the flow of water to reasonable bounds than American shippers. There will be hearings exhaustive in their scope. The commission then will make a report on the effect of the flow of water through the drainage canal and as to whether it lowers the waters in Lake Michigan, Lake Erie, and Lake Huron. This will be ascertained by calculations based on the average height of the water in the lake."

Gen. Ernst of the American section said every inch Lake Michigan was lowered impeded navigation through the great lakes system.

"The present flow of 300,000 cubic feet a minute," said he, "lowers Lake Michigan six inches. Twice that flow would lower it over a foot. We wish to ascertain whether it will be necessary to spread the present system of the sanitary district over the Calumet region or whether some other means can be found for draining that territory."

Chicago's Health All Important.

It was pointed out to the commission that Chicago's health was of paramount importance.

"That is a matter that will receive every attention," said Commissioner King. "If human life is at stake we must be careful in restricting the water used for diluting the sewage. That is a matter, however, on which no member of the commission cares to give an off hand opinion."

Mr. Coste, another of the Canadian commissioners, said the attitude of Canadians was not hostile toward Chicago's drainage system, but at the same time, the inhabitants of the river towns near Montreal and at other points along the St. Lawrence were jealous of their waterways.

"The water in the St. Lawrence," said he, "has been as low this season as it could possibly stand. Canadians are willing that enough water should be diverted from Lake Michigan to dilute the sewage, but they don't believe in wasting the water so that the level of the lakes is lowered."

The whole question probably will hinge on the question of whether the drainage of the Calumet district should be allowed to flow through the canal, necessitating an almost unrestricted flow of water. Gen. Ernest and other members of the commission apparently are of the belief that some other method should be adopted to care for the Calumet region sewage. There is a disposition on the part of the commission to dispute the wisdom or the justice to other cities of Chicago's effort to drain outlying territory.

Tour of the Commissioners.

The commissioners were received on their arrival by Engineer Randolph of the sanitary district, after which they boarded the city tug boat, Carter H. Harrison. A visit to the north pier was made and the commission inspected the shore line from the lake. Then they ascended the north branch as far as North avenue. The route then lay along the south branch and the drainage canal to Lockport, luncheon being served on the boat. At Lockport the canal was inspected, the power house, and the new channel being cut for water power purposes. Joliet was visited by street cars, on which all returned to Chicago.

The commission heard a good many arguments while the members were picking their way over the stony sides of the canal, from Attorney Stephen A. Foster of the sanitary board; H. A. Fischer, president of the Joliet Commercial club; F. M. Savage, chairman of the deep waterways commission of Joliet; C. L. Dering, vice president of the River Improvement association; and Henry M. Spangler, assistant city engineer. Lieut. Col. H. W. Rutten, city engineer of Winnipeg, also was of the party, a guest of the Canadians.

Point to Niagara Favors.

At a meeting of the real estate board a report was read from a subcommittee stating that it would be unjust to allow private corporations to take advantage of a flow of 17,000 cubic feet a second at Niagara Falls for manufacturing purposes, while attempting to limit Chicago to 10,000 when the city's health was at stake.

As a matter of fact, the factories now in operation and projected at Niagara Falls are said to be 50,000 cubic feet of water a second.

The Fall and Winter Overcoat.

"Vogue," the authority on men's styles, says that particular attention should be paid to the cut and the shape of the back in fall and winter overcoats. The difference in the backs, says this fashion journal, will differentiate the fine from the ordinary models.

The garment reproduced here is the model of one of the most famous designers of men's garments. It is 54 inches long. The back is like the front, a little fuller than last season, with just a slight flare in the skirt. The sleeves are peg top, finished with a bluff cuff, tailored with one button. The collar is of velvet or self. The lapels are broad, with round corners. The best garments from this model are made in vicuna or cheviot.

CASH DRAWER IS LOOT[ED]

Merchant Robbed in Store [in] Daylight and Beaten to Unconsciousness.

A revival of the activity of criminals [in the] streets of the city occurred yesterday [after]noon and last evening.

The percentage of captures by the [police] was small, though out of the region ne[ar the] South Shore Country club came a report [of] patrolmen "armed with the same rifles they used in chasing the car barn ban[dits"] were pursuing one pair of possible rob[bers]. This pair drove in an automobile.

Principal Robberies Reported

The principal robberies reported wer[e]:

LUNING, WILLIAM, 287 Washington boul[evard], accompanied by Hannah Curtin; held up a[t] night at Elizabeth street and Washington [boule]vard by two men; the victims beaten ov[er the] heads with revolvers and robbed of $17. [Lun]ing and Miss Curtin had just left a dance [at the] Second Regiment armory.

SCHWARTZ, JACOB, 201 West Twelfth [street], robbed of more than $500 by two armed [men] at Halsted and West Twelfth streets. Sch[wartz] had carried his money on his person sin[ce the] Stensland bank failure. No arrests.

TASEMKIN, MICHAEL, 9008 Commercial av[enue], South Chicago, furniture dealer; store en[tered] by robbers in broad daylight; Tasemkin b[eaten] into unconsciousness and his money box r[obbed] of nearly $300.

UNKNOWN WOMAN, attacked by two men [in an] automobile at Sixty-ninth street and [Yates] avenue; purpose probably robbery. Large [force] of police hunting for men.

Mysterious Attack on Woma[n]

The mysterious attack on the woma[n oc]curred in the neighborhood of the S[outh] Shore Country club. The first report [was] that she had been beaten and robbed, [but] this may be true.

Later Lawrence Klenkowski, 8724 Com[mer]cial avenue, a night watchman, said a y[oung] woman, believed to live at Michigan a[venue] and Thirty-second street, fashionabl[y at]tired and wearing much jewelry, had tol[d him] she had escaped from two men with w[hom] she had been riding in an automobile [after] they had made improper advances to her.

The men, according to Klenkowski, sto[pped] the automobile at Sixty-ninth street [and] Yates avenue. The woman broke from [one] of the men who was holding her, and, [jump]ing from the automobile, fled south in Y[ates] avenue. Her cries attracted the atte[ntion] of Klenkowski and John McDonald, a wa[tch]man at the Country club.

As the two watchmen approached the[y] drove the automobile south in Yates av[enue] and escaped.

Klenkowski assisted the victim to [a] pumping station near by. She said sh[e re]cently had come from Michigan City, [Ind.], with her sister, with whom she lived. [Klen]kowski failed to ask her name and sh[e left] the place. She thought the men possibl[y] meant to rob her. Policemen armed [with] rifles watched for them in South Chi[cago] but did not find them.

Merchant Beaten; Store Robbe[d]

The Tasemkin robbery was bold. Ta[sem]kin and his son, John, 18 years old, we[re in] the rear of the store when two men en[tered] at 3 p. m. and stood at a counter nea[r the] door. The father, who is 50 years old [and] feeble, walked to the front and asked [the] visitors what they wanted. As he turn[ed to] walk behind the counter one robber st[ruck] him on the head with a piece of gas pipe [and] knocked him down.

The robbers then hurried behind the c[ounter] and wrecked the cash register w[ith a] hammer. John Tasemkin was attracte[d by] the commotion and he hurried to the f[ront] of the store, but the robbers had run [into] Commercial avenue. The son pursued t[hem] for half a block and a crowd of citizens jo[ined] in the chase, but the robbers escaped.

When the son returned he found his fa[ther] unconscious on the floor and bleeding [from] two severe wounds in the back of his h[ead]. Tasemkin recovered sufficiently later to [tell] the circumstances of the robbery.

Later two men were arrested and ident[ified] by Tasemkin. They gave the names of Ge[orge] Ely and Edward Maher.

Robber Maimed by His Victim

Charles Carlson, a carpenter, 204 Sedg[wick] street, is happy because he nearly bit [off the] finger of one of three robbers who attac[ked] him a few minutes after he alighted fr[om a] Lincoln avenue car at Orleans and We[bster] streets Monday. The men pointed revol[vers] at his head and ordered him to throw u[p his] hands. Instead of complying with their c[ommand] he knocked down one of the men, [but] was immediately seized by the others. [The] struggle ended when Carlson bit the robb[er's] finger. The injured man and his compan[ions] fled into the alley and escaped.

AUTO LONG LEFT UNGUARDE[D] TAKEN AWAY BY POLICEMA[N]

Later Dr. Norval Pierce Claims It [and] Gets Possession—D. R. Ayers [of] Wheeling Knocked Down by Ca[r].

Dr. Norval H. Pierce, 149 Lincoln [park] boulevard, left his automobile in front of [the] Marshall Field building, Washington st[reet] and Wabash avenue, last evening, for m[ore] than three hours without a light or lic[ense] tag attached.

A policeman saw the machine and a[t ...] o'clock called a patrol wagon and had it ta[ken] to the Central detail patrol barns, whe[re it] was kept until an hour later when Dr. Pie[rce], who had been attending a reception, lear[ned] the machine was in the hands of the pol[ice]. F. H. Budd, a chauffeur employed at a gar[age] at 224 Superior street, was sent to the po[lice] station and he took the machine to the ph[ysi]cian's home. The policeman thought [the] machine was a stolen one.

D. R. Ayers, 63 years old, Wheeling, W. V[a.], was knocked down and bruised in the [...] crossing by an automobile at State and M[adison] streets. The auto continued east [and] escaped. It bore number 240J. This lice[nse] was obtained by Clinton Hunter, 1449 Mic[higan] avenue.

WOMAN ATTACKED NEAR CLUBHOUSE

Assailants Believed to Have Escaped in Automobile After She Jumped Out.

CASH DRAWER IS LOOTED.

Merchant Robbed in Store in Daylight and Beaten to Unconsciousness.

A revival of the activity of criminals in the streets of the city occurred yesterday afternoon and last evening.

The percentage of captures by the police was small, though out of the region near the South Shore Country club came a report that patrolman "armed with the same rifles that they used in chasing the car barn bandits" were pursuing one pair of possible robbers. This pair drove in an automobile.

Principal Robberies Reported.

The principal robberies reported were:

TASEMKIN, MICHAEL, 9008 Commercial avenue, South Chicago, furniture dealer; store entered by robbers in broad daylight; Tasemkin beaten into unconsciousness and his money box robbed of nearly $200.

UNKNOWN WOMAN, attacked by two men riding in automobile at Sixty-ninth street and Yates avenue; purpose probably robbery. Large force of police hunting for men.

Mysterious Attack on Woman.

The mysterious attack on the woman observed in the neighborhood of the South Shore Country club. The first report was that she had been beaten and robbed, and this may be true.

Later Lawrence Klenkowski, 8724 Commercial avenue, a night watchman, said a young woman, believed to live at Michigan avenue and Thirty-second street, fashionably attired and wearing much jewelry, had told him she had escaped from two men with whom she had been riding in an automobile after they had made improper advances toward her.

The men, according to Klenkowski, stopped the automobile at Sixty-ninth street and Yates avenue. The woman broke from one of the men who was holding her, and, leaping from the automobile, fled south in Yates avenue. Her cries attracted the attention of Klenkowski and John McDonald, a watchman at the Country club.

As the two watchmen approached the men threw the automobile south in Yates avenue and escaped.

Klenkowski assisted the victim to the pumping station near by. She said she recently had come from Michigan City, Ind., with her sister, with whom she lived. Klenkowski failed to ask her name and she left in haste. She thought the men possibly had meant to rob her. Policemen armed with rifles rushed for them in South Chicago, but failed to find them.

Restaurant Beaten; Store Robbed.

The Tasemkin robbery was bold. Tasemkin and his son, John, 18 years old, were at the rear of the store when two men entered at 1 p. m. and stood at the counter near the door. The father, who is 50 years old and feeble, waited to the front and asked the visitors what they wanted. As he turned to wait behind the counter one robber struck him on the head with a piece of gas pipe and knocked him down.

The robbers then hurried behind the counter and smashed the cash register with a hammer. John Tasemkin was attracted by the commotion and he hurried to the front of the store, but the robbers had run into Commercial avenue. The son pursued them for half a block and a crowd of citizens joined in the chase, but the robbers escaped.

When the son returned he found his father unconscious on the floor and bleeding from two severe wounds in the back of his head. Tasemkin recovered sufficiently later to tell the circumstances of the robbery.

Later two men were arrested and identified by Tasemkin. They gave the names of George Ely and Edward Maher.

Robber Maimed by His Victim.

Charles Carlson, a carpenter, 204 Sedgwick street, is happy because he nearly bit off a finger of one of three robbers who attacked him a few minutes after he alighted from a Lincoln avenue car at Orleans and Wendell streets Monday. The men pointed revolvers at his head and ordered him to throw up his hands. Instead of complying with their command he knocked down one of the men, but was immediately seized by the others. The struggle ended when Carlson bit the robber's finger. The injured man and his companions fled into the alley and escaped.

AUTO LONG LEFT UNGUARDED TAKEN AWAY BY POLICEMAN.

Dr. Norval Pierce Claims It and Gets Possession—D. R. Ayers of Wheeling Knocked Down by Car.

Dr. Norval H. Pierce, 149 Lincoln Park boulevard, left his automobile in front of the Marshall Field building, Washington street and Wabash avenue, last evening, for more than three hours without a light or license attached.

A policeman saw the machine and at 10 o'clock called a patrol wagon and had it taken to the Central detail patrol barns, where it was held until an hour later when Dr. Pierce, who had been attending a reception, learned that the machine was in the hands of the police. D. R. Ayers, a chauffeur employed at a garage at 18 Superior street, was sent to the police station and he took the machine to the physician's home. The policeman thought the car was a stolen one.

D. R. Ayers, 63 years old, Wheeling, W. Va., was knocked down and bruised in the afternoon by an automobile at State and Monroe streets. The auto continued east and Ayers's 25 bore number 240J. This license was obtained by Clinton Hunter, 1449 Michigan avenue.

A. Coleman, 55 years old, 282 Orleans street, was slightly injured when he fell from a rope which was attached to an automobile which was being dragged along at Jackson and Randolph streets.

THINK WICKES' SON WILD.

WITNESSES FOR DEFENSE HEARD IN WILL CONTEST.

Several Attack Reputation of Young Man, Saying He Failed to Pay His Bills, and That Actions Were Such as to Cause Wife to Consider Divorce—She Interrupts Court Proceedings to Deny This Statement—Testator Held of Sound Mind.

Attacks on the character of Harry Wickes were made yesterday at the beginning of the hearing of the evidence for the defense in the Wickes will contest in Judge Honoré's court. Alleged smuggling expeditions into Mexico and improprieties which were said to have caused his wife to plan a divorce figured in the testimony introduced to justify Thomas H. Wickes in practically disinheriting his son.

T. H. Martin of St. Louis, division superintendent of the Pullman company, gave the most important testimony against young Wickes. While nominally a character witness, called to testify to Thomas Wickes' soundness of mind, Mr. Martin was led by the questioning of the attorneys into a relation of his dealings with Harry Wickes.

Father's Complaint About Son.

"Thomas Wickes spoke to me several times about the trouble his family was giving him," said Mr. Martin. "He said he had given Harry every chance in the world to do something for himself and that he had thrown them all away. He said Harry had run up bills in San Antonio and had neglected his work until he had been discharged.

"I told him I had seen Harry at San Antonio and, hoping to help him, had offered him a position at New Orleans. Mr. Wickes advised against my placing any confidence in Harry, but later I gave him the position. He lasted only two months. He was yard foreman at New Orleans and was of no more use there than at San Antonio.

"His life was such that Mrs. Wickes talked to me in the lobby of the St. Charles hotel about the possibility of getting a divorce."

This statement was the cause of an outburst by Mrs. Harry Wickes, which brought a reproof from the court.

"I never saw that man Martin before in my life," said Mrs. Wickes. "I never talked to any one in my life about getting a divorce. I never dreamed of such a thing."

In the resumption of the cross questioning Attorney Mason for Harry Wickes sought to throw light on what appeared to have been a collusion between Thomas Wickes and Martin to profit by their official connection with the Pullman company. An attempt was made to show that the two men, as vice president and superintendent, had acquired a controlling interest in the Pacific Laundry company, with the purpose of giving all the Pullman work to the concern.

Letters from San Antonio.

Part of the attack on the younger Mr. Wickes was contained in a letter written by O. S. Newell, division superintendent of the Pullman company in San Antonio, to Hugh R. Walden, who was appointed to look after Harry Wickes when he was sent to San Antonio. The younger Wickes is accused of "disrupting the office force" by irregular hours and constant neglect of duty. His grocery bill, the letter said, was left unpaid while the young man squandered money and maintained an expensive house. The letter is in part as follows:

"I took Harry to work for me to save his father the annoyance attendant upon his presence in Chicago, but from the first Harry would resent taking instructions from any other person but me. While his wife was sick in bed he would remain away until long after midnight. After his wife left, it was impossible to keep him in restraint. His tastes are for women and low associates, and he would rather play dominoes in a beer saloon than attend to business. I do not think his grocery bill has been paid since he has been here and he owes a large doctor's bill. He told me yesterday he owed his landlord about $50 rent. I feel that the boy's father should know of these things, and you may tell him or not at your discretion."

Mr. Newell was called to the stand and identified the letter.

Senior Wickes Declared Sane.

Nearly all the afternoon session was given to the hearing of witnesses who testified to Thomas Wickes' entire accountability in business affairs. E. P. Ripley, president of the Atchison, Topeka and Sata Fé railroad, said he had known him as a man of unusual penetration, and that he never had seen any indications of abnormal tendencies in his relations with women, as charged by the prosecution.

THEATER FIRE CASES COSTLY.

County Board Is Asked for Authority to Employ Special Counsel for the Prosecution at Danville.

A request received yesterday by President Brundage of the county board from State's Attorney Healy for authority to appoint special counsel to prosecute the Iroquois theater cases at Danville, Ill., and for money to provide accommodations for almost 200 witnesses will be submitted to the board next Monday with a recommendation that the request be granted. It is believed the cases will be the most expensive in the annals of Cook county. President Brundage estimates that it will cost the county in fees, salaries, and transportation approximately $25,000.

CARS CRASH; WOMEN HURT

GRIP TRAIN SMASHES TROLLEY WHICH KNOCKS CAB OVER.

Same Old Excuse of "Brakes Failed to Work" Given for Serious Collision at Cottage Grove Avenue and Thirty-first Street—Defective Rail on Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railroad Upsets Locomotive and Kills Two Men.

That old familiar casualty excuse, "the brakes didn't work," was pressed into service again last night in explanation of a smashup between a Thirty-first street electric and a Cottage Grove avenue cable car, in which five women were hurt.

The Injured.

BAUM, MRS. J., 56 years old, 28 East Twenty-fourth street; nervous prostration, with possibility of paralysis from the shock.

EMBREE, MRS. WESLEY M., 651 East Forty-seventh street, wife of assistant pastor of the First Baptist church; head hurt; internal injuries.

OSTLAND, MRS. CLARA, 7529 Cottage Grove avenue; cut by glass.

OSTLAND, VINA, 11 years old; bruised and cut.

TURCK, MISS MABEL, Mrs. Embree's sister; bruised and cut about the head; suffering from nervous shock.

The grip car tossed the electric from the track and sent it crashing into a cab, which was also overturned. The panic in the street and on the sidewalk almost equaled that in the two collided cars.

Gripman's Signal Is Ignored.

The cable train was one of a long procession on the way downtown to handle the theater crowds. According to T. W. Blackstone, the gripman, they were running slowly, but did not intend to stop and so signaled the east bound Thirty-first street car for the right of way. The latter, however, shot out on the track and crashed into the grip. Motorman James Murray stuck to his post, though the glass was flying and the car itself was off the trolley. All those injured were in the electric car, except Mrs. Ostland and her little girl.

The women were taken to a near-by drug store and cared for by physicians. All the injured, except Mrs. Ostland, were taken to their homes in cabs.

Engine Upsets; Two Men Killed.

A defective rail on the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad two miles south of Crete, Ill., caused an engine pulling forty-seven freight cars to overturn at 3 o'clock in the morning, killing two men and injuring three others.

The Dead.

ALLEN, JOHN, brakeman; crushed beneath engine.

WAKELEY, JOHN, engineer; died at the Englewood Union hospital.

The Injured.

Fowler, S., conductor; slightly injured.

Heskell, Hans, 20 years old, fireman; severely injured about body; taken to the Englewood Union hospital.

Hull, H. C., student fireman; severely injured.

According to reports received by H. I. Miller, general manager of the road, the train was going at a good speed when it struck the defective rail. In the report of the accident received by Mr. Miller it is stated that the semaphore lights on the road had gone out a few minutes before the accident.

Milton Thomas, 35 years old, 1278 Ninety-third street, a switchman, stepped out of his shanty alongside the Belt Line railroad at Ninety-fourth street to flag a train when he was struck by an engine and killed. His head was severed from his body.

BUSY WITH NEW PHONE PLANS.

Joseph Harris Returns from Conference with Eastern Men Interested in the Company.

Progress is being made by the big independent telephone company which has been formed to take over the telephone rights and equipment of the Illinois Telephone and Telegraph company, and extend the service to a minimum of 100,000 instruments. Joseph Harris, vice president of the Automatic Electric company, has returned to Chicago from the east, where he conferred with eastern capitalists interested in the independent company, which, as yet, is unnamed. The general plans of the company were outlined in THE TRIBUNE last Thursday.

In regard to the plans of the company, Mayor Dunne said:

"I suppose they could rent space in the tunnels, but I do not know if they could take over the telephone system."

HUNTER'S ERROR KILLS GIRL.

Winona, Minn., Oct. 16.—William Casen, while hunting today near Hayfield, Minn., shot and killed Mabel Severson, 14 years old, whom he had mistaken for a woodchuck.

QUARRELS GIVE LIFE ZEST

SO DECLARES COUPLE WHO HAVE BEEN MARRIED SIXTY YEARS.

Mrs. James W. Van Duyn, 81 Years Old, Says the Good Health, Physical and Mental, of Herself and Her Active Octogenarian Husband Is Due in Great Measure to the Fact That They Had Their "Little Spats" Occasionally.

Mr. and Mrs. James W. Van Duyn of Waterloo, Ia., aged respectively 82 and 81 years, are celebrating the sixtieth anniversary of their wedding with a visit to Chicago. They are the guests of Mrs. G. L. De Vor, 588 East Sixtieth street, whose former husband, now dead, was the son of the aged couple.

They are remarkable for their mental and physical preservation. Neither has any use for eyeglasses. Mrs. Van Duyn even threads her needles. Both are ardent readers of late day fiction and pride themselves in keeping abreast with the times. Since they moved to town from their farm near Waterloo fifteen years ago Mr. Van Duyn's chief pastimes have been mowing the lawn in summer, sawing wood in winter, and caring for his carriage horses the year around.

Benefited by Little Spats.

As to the cause of their longevity, both hold some interesting ideas.

"We by no means agree with the old couple whose longevity THE TRIBUNE recently attributed to the fact that they never had quarreled," said Mrs. Van Duyn, her eyes snapping merrily as she smiled at her hoary headed spouse. "My, what a monotonous life theirs must have been!"

Mrs. Van Duyn referred to Mr. and Mrs. John B. Blakesley, 924 Walnut street, who celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary Sept. 21.

"Now, I don't mean to say that I advocate domestic quarrels or flat iron episodes, or anything of the sort," she continued, "but I will admit that we can attribute to a great extent our good health, mentally and physically, to the fact that we have our little spats."

"Variety is the spice of life; and we sort of like a good deal of spice," interjected Mr. Van Duyn laughingly.

"Now that possibly calls for considerable explanation," the wife resumed. "That wouldn't be a good policy for every couple. It's all right to have differences of opinion, but never lose your temper."

Secret of Longevity Revealed.

Little by little the "quarrel-a-little-bit" secret to longevity for married people crept out, and, resolved into so many words, was the well kept agreement which Mrs. Van Duyn said they entered into sixty years ago, subsequent to the nuptial vows. It was:

Differences of opinion are good; they are exhilarating.

Each shall concede to the other the right to express an opinion.

Arguments shall be limited to five minutes.

If no settlement has been reached by that time a five minute interim, during which no word shall be spoken, shall ensue.

Then the subject shall be changed to the weather or crop prospect.

"Of course, it was agreed we never should quarrel," further explained Mrs. Van Duyn. "Arguments make us forget we are growing old."

Mr. and Mrs. Van Duyn traveled from New York to Iowa in a "prairie schooner" wagon in 1858. In '49 Mr. Van Duyn had the "gold fever" and spent several years in California. To look over the grounds where he "panned gold" half a century ago they will start today for San Diego and will spend the winter there.

ALDERMEN BAD JUDGES OF ART.

They Like Fountain Donated by Schoenhofen Brewery, but Expert Commission Rejects It.

Are aldermen good judges of art? This question arose yesterday at a meeting of the special park commission of the city, when the municipal art commission sent word that it has rejected the fountain at Schoenhofen park, donated by the Schoenhofen Brewing company.

"Why I saw that fountain and I thought it was a good one," Ald. Sitte declared. "I guess we are not good judges of art."

"I though... it was artistic. I liked the stork on it, but it may be that's what they object to," Ald. Hen...y said.

As the municipal art commission has jurisdiction over the fountain designs for the city, the commission decided to notify the brewing company that the fountain does not have the city's approval.

The record of attendance at the city bathing beaches shows an increase from 87,410 in 1903 to 478,050 this year.

The police think rags saturated with turpentine left by the painters ignited and caused the fire. Mr. Lytton is treasurer of the Hub clothing store.

MRS. 'JEFF' DAVIS IS DEAD

PNEUMONIA FATAL TO WIDOW OF CONFEDERATE PRESIDENT.

Puts Up Hard Battle for Week, but in Vain—Last Illness Develops from Cold Contracted on Return from a Summer in the Adirondacks—Sinks Into Unconsciousness, in Which She Remains Until End—Son-in-Law Met with News Far Away.

New York, Oct. 16.—Mrs. Jefferson Davis, widow of the president of the confederacy, who had been ill for a week at the Hotel Majestic, died at 10:25 o'clock tonight.

Death was due to pneumonia, induced by a severe cold which Mrs. Davis contracted on her return from the Adirondacks, where she had spent the summer months.

A decided change for the worse was evident last night, and the attending physicians announced that the end was near. It was then believed that Mrs. Davis could not survive the night, but she rallied slightly during the early hours of today.

Shortly after 7 o'clock this morning she had a sinking spell. The Rev. Nathan A. Seagle, rector of St. Stephen's Protestant Episcopal church, was summoned. An hour later it was announced that Mrs. Davis had lapsed into unconsciousness, which continued to the end.

Family Surrounds Deathbed.

At the bedside were Mrs. J. Addison Hayes of Newark, N. J., the only surviving daughter of Mrs. Davis; Jefferson Davis Hayes, a grandson, who is a student at Princeton university; Mrs. Charles E. Bateson, a niece; Dr. and Mrs. Gustave Webb, the latter a granddaughter; and Dr. Robert H. Wylie, who, with Dr. Webb, cared for Mrs. Davis throughout her illness.

J. Addison Hayes had been summoned from Colorado Springs and was hurrying across the continent, when a message announcing Mrs. Davis' death intercepted him.

At the Majestic tonight it was said that the body would be taken to Richmond, Va., on Thursday.

Story of Her Life.

Mrs. Jefferson Davis was born in Mississippi, in old Adams county, in 1820, her maiden name being Varina Howell. She became the wife of Jefferson Davis before she completed her eighteenth year. Her father was distinguished for his service in the battle of New Orleans in the war of 1812, and the Howell family was among the most prominent of that section. She was Mr. Davis' second wife, his first wife, a daughter of Gen. Taylor, having died a short time after their marriage.

When the civil war began she went to Richmond and stayed there until peace was declared. When her husband was released from prison she lived with him for the remainder of his life at their old home in Biloxi, Miss. This was turned into a confederate veterans' home in 1899.

Declined Offers of Assistance.

From time to time offers of financial assistance were made to Mrs. Davis after her husband's death from societies through the south. She declined all these and has preferred to remain independent.

Mrs. Davis had a dispute with Gen. Nelson A. Miles last year, when the soldier was reported to have made reference to a letter supposed to have been written by her thanking him for his treatment of her husband while in prison. She declared she never had written such a letter, and that the treatment given her husband had been anything but kind.

ERLING BJORNSON ASKS GUARD.

Says A. B. Lange, Editor Whom He Beat, Threatens to Disturb Lecture in Wicker Hall.

Fearing a disturbance by friends of Anton B. Lange, editor of Scandia, whom he whipped two weeks ago for printing articles reflecting on his reputation, Erling Björnson, lecturer, and son of Björnstjerne Björnson, Norway's famous poet and dramatist, has decided to ask for a detail of police to be stationed in Wicker Park hall during his lecture next Friday evening.

Mr. Björnson was led to take this step yesterday, when he received several anonymous letters threatening him with a "tin can and whistling concert" the moment he dared to appear on the platform.

"I don't blame Lange for feeling sore after the whipping we gave him," said Mr. Björnson. "But I will tolerate no disturbance at the lecture."

TAKES STRYCHNINE AND LIVES.

University Student Found Unconscious from Too Large a Dose Is Recovering.

Horatio A. Brown, a student of the University of Chicago, who was found unconscious from an overdose of strychnine yesterday morning, improved rapidly last night and is expected to recover. He is still at the Baptist hospital.

For several days Brown had complained of nervousness and inability to study, and in an effort to stimulate himself took strychnine as medicine. While returning home late in the evening he suddenly became unconscious and was found at Fifty-second street and Ingleside avenue.

Brown is a medical student in the university. His home is in Wooster, O.

FIVE FIND DEATH IN FOUR SUICIDES

Three Inhale Gas, One Drinks Acid, and Other Leaps Into Quarry Pit.

LITTLE BOY IS A VICTIM.

Loses His Life When He Goes in Search of a Missing Foster Mother.

Four persons living in Chicago took their own lives yesterday and a fifth death resulted from one of the suicides. Three died from inhaling gas, one took acid, and another leaped to destruction in a stone quarry.

The Dead.

ANGER, FRANK, Cary, Ill., found dead in a room in the St. Charles hotel, 18 Clark street, with gas turned on.

FINNEGAN, PETER, 32 years old, 35 North Ashland avenue, drank acid while in Harry Vehon's saloon, Paulina street and Carroll avenue; had been despondent and in ill health.

WARREN, MRS. THERESA F., 61 years old, 1007 Walnut street, found dead on bed in her room with gas turned on; her husband said she had been suffering from mental affection and had tried to commit suicide before.

WARREN, ALBERT, 4 years old, her foster son; went into the room to find his mother, was overcome by the gas.

ZEITZ, WILLIAM, 46 years old, member of the firm of Zeitz Brothers, dealers in butter and eggs, 4162 Wilcox avenue; leaped to death in the quarry of the Chicago Crushed Stone company, Summit.

Boy Dies with Foster Mother.

Edward T. Warren found the bodies of his wife and adopted child when he returned from a lodge meeting at 9:30 o'clock. He detected the odor of gas and summoned Dr. W. M. French, 944 Walnut street. When they went to Mrs. Warren's room her body was lying across the bed and that of her son doubled up on the floor.

Leaving the boy with his playthings on the kitchen floor, Mrs. Warren had gone early to her room to lie down. After the evening meal her husband went out, saying he would return early. Soon afterward, apparently, little Albert went in search of his mother. In the bedroom he fell a victim to the gas that had taken Mrs. Warren's life. As there was no one else in the house when the woman and boy died, and as the door of the room in which they lay was open, the police at first thought the gas might have been turned on accidentally. Mr. Warren said his wife had tried to take her life before, and this inclined the police to believe she committed suicide.

Warned; Goes On to Death.

Before William Zeitz reached the Summit quarry where he found death, a watchman saw him and warned him of his peril. The watchman, seeing him climb over a fence before entering the quarry and walking toward the dangerous part of the grounds, thought the man was lost and called to him. Instead of heeding the warning Zeitz continued to advance until he reached the mouth of the pit.

After looking back to the watchman, who was approaching, he leaped into the pit, falling more than 100 feet. Aid was summoned, and the battered body was taken from the bottom of the hole, which is one of the deepest in the quarry. A card bearing the name of Zeitz Bros. afforded a partial identification. Henry Zeitz, a brother, was notified and went to Summit. He said his brother had been ill and despondent.

Dies in Hotel Room.

Frank Anger went to the St. Charles hotel at 12:30 o'clock in the morning. The odor of gas was detected shortly after noon yesterday and the door was broken in. Anger lay dead across the bed.

Turns On Gas; Lives.

Adolph Kroch, 25 years old, a clerk employed in a downtown office building, attempted to commit suicide early in the morning by turning on the gas in his room at the house of Mrs. Annie M. Nizze, 1562 North Halsted street. When found he was unconscious. He will recover.

Gibson City Excited Over Report That Simian Was Interred in the Cemetery.

Gibson City, Ill., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Residents of Gibson City are angered over a report that a monkey, which died last week while a carnival company was performing here, had been interred in the local cemetery. The owner purchased an expensive coffin and is said to have had the simian buried in the cemetery. An investigation has been ordered.

Every lock with a slit for a keyhole isn't a Yale. The thin, narrow keyhole of the Yale is a feature that has been most widely, because most easily, copied.

But back of the keyhole of the Yale Lock is the Yale mechanism, as difficult to imitate as it is to pick.

Therefore, when you buy a lock get farther than the keyhole. If you don't the chances are some burglar will.

If you order by the name—Yale—and see that the name is on the lock you buy, your property is as safe as human skill and ingenuity can make it.

STATE CHARITIES REFORMS PLANNED

Board Presents Scheme to Reorganize and Better the Whole System.

POINTS NEEDED CHANGES

Care of Insane, Management of Institutions, and Other Matters Touched.

The state board of charities made public yesterday its plans for the complete reorganization of the service in Illinois hospitals for the insane and feeble minded. The recommendations, which embrace reforms beginning at the bottom of the system, will be discussed in detail at the superintendent's meeting to be held in Gov. Deneen's reception room in Springfield tomorrow and on Friday.

The main recommendations of the board, which necessitate several legislative enactments for their fulfillment, are as follows:

The establishment of a state psychopathic institute for the education of institution physicians and the scientific study of diseases of the brain and nervous system.

The establishment of compulsory training schools for nurses and attendants.

The establishment of bath treatments for hopeful cases of insanity.

Industrial reëducation for chronic types.

Physical improvements to place the buildings and equipment in better condition.

The establishment of a state village for epileptics.

The establishment of a state sanitarium for consumptives.

It is pointed out also that a second hospital for the feeble minded is needed.

Business Administration Faulty.

The business administration of the institutions as now conducted is condemned as failing to produce the best results to the patients. Establishment in the natural groups of institutions now operating under the civil service law is recommended. Physicians in state institutions are found in need of a stimulation of the scientific spirit and the medical records in the hospitals were declared primitive and valueless. Six of the seven state institutions are shown to be overcrowded.

In a 5,000 word report the board takes up the five problems of state care, medical administration, business administration, new institutions, and physical problems in existing institutions. The keynote of the report is this sentence:

"Now is the time to try earnestly to elevate the service in Illinois state charitable institutions to a higher plane of efficiency."

State's Advantage Over Counties.

Concerning state care the report says:

"The state of Illinois is better able to classify and treat and care for inefficient populations than any of its counties. County care in Illinois today ranges from the primitive to approved modern methods. Illinois already has made great strides in state care, but this board believes the time has arrived for complete care of all insane, epileptics, and feeble minded now in county almshouses, and of dependent consumptives."

On medical service the board declares:

"The character of the medical superintendent is the vital element upon which the efficient administration of a state hospital must depend. He should be given a free rein to run the institution as long as he is successful.

"Each natural department on the medical side should be presided over by a senior physician. A paid interne service should be established to relieve the senior physician. In each institution there should be a superintendent of nurses, and each institution should have a high grade local training school with compulsory attendance. Those found unfit for service should be eliminated. The nursing and attendant service should be made more attractive. This field of usefulness has been neglected."

Treatment of Patients.

On the treatment of patients the report says:

"Experience has placed the hydrotherapeutic treatment of the acute insane beyond the experimental stage. It is time the state of Illinois adopted it as a practical and economic measure. Each hospital receiving acute cases should have a psychopathic ward, and necessary changes should be made in the law to allow temporary detention of hopeful cases for a thorough trial of hydrotherapeutic treatment.

"Work such as lace making, carpet weaving, gardening, and shoemaking should be provided for the chronic insane. Such reëducation can be made the means of self-support for many.

"The largest possible amount of amusement and recreation should be provided for patients—dancing, games, books, music, etc.

"There is need of a more discriminating classification of insane patients. General hospital features for the physically sane are inadequate. Hospital treatment, employment, recreation, human sympathy, and the elimination of prison features voice the modern scientific realization that the same elements of life are essential for the insane as for those in health."

Business Managers Needed.

Touching business administration the report says:

"Each institution should have a steward or business manager to relieve the superintendent of the details of business administration."

The establishment of new institutions is thus referred to:

"The physicians lack inspiration from a central institution. To remedy this condition the board recommends the creation of a state psychopathic institute under the civil service to be located at one of the hospitals and with laboratories in every state institution. Local clinicians should be instructed at the central institution. This ought to develop a thoroughness in examination, diagnosis, prognosis, and treatment which will reflect benefit upon the patients.

"There should be a change in the autopsy law to make it more favorable to scientific research.

"Complete and modern state care would remove all epileptics from the county almshouses, state hospitals for the insane, and hospital for the feeble minded. To care for these unfortunates properly would require the establishment of an epileptic village on a farm of 1,500 acres. This would provide relief for the hospitals for the insane and the feeble minded, but the time is near at hand when Illinois will be called upon to erect a second hospital for the feeble minded. The board also recommends a state sanitorium for consumptives; also a building in connection with one of the prisons for the treatment of these cases; also the segregation and treatment of the tuberculous insane."

Needed Changes in Buildings.

The basis for the physical changes is found in the report of the state architect, W. Carbys Zimmerman, who made a survey of the various hospitals. It is shown that there is a shortage in six of the seven institutions of 1,147 cubic feet air space allowance, or an average of 191 cubic feet. In new buildings for the insane it is recommended that only the cottage or pavilion plan be used.

On regrouping schemes the board has not reached a full decision. It will make recommendations later.

The report is signed by Dr. Frank Billings, Dr. Emil G. Hirsch, Dr. John T. McAnally, Mrs. Clara B. Bourland, and Secretary William C. Graves. Miss Julia Lathrop is in Europe. At the superintendent's meeting Gov. Deneen will tell the purpose of the conference. Some other speakers will be Dr. Billings, Dr. W. A. Evans, Dr. G. W. Webster, Dr. Daniel R. Brower, and Dr. Hugh T. Patrick.

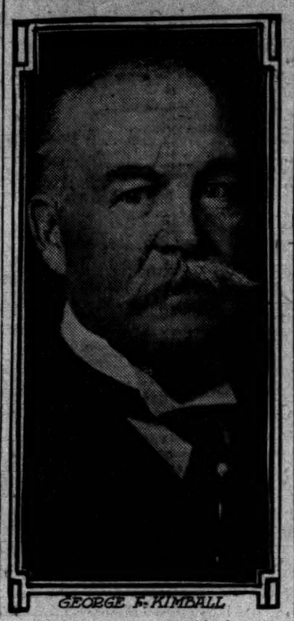
Chicago Man Dies in Gotham Hotel.



GEORGE F. KIMBALL

George F. Kimball, a retired business man of Chicago, dropped dead yesterday in the office of A. O. Brown & Co., brokers, in the Waldorf-Astoria hotel. Dr. Robert Adams of the hotel attributed death to heart disease. Mr. Kimball had been staying at the hotel for six weeks.

He was engaged in the glass business in Chicago for thirty-five years. He retired from commercial life in 1900 upon the death of his wife and since that time had made his home at the Auditorium Annex hotel. He was born in Boston, Mass., in 1839. Coming to Chicago in 1865, he entered the glass business with the firm of George H. Rice & Co. In 1879 he began business for himself. He sold out to the Pittsburg Plate Glass company ten years ago, but remained the manager of the Chicago branch until 1900.

Mr. Kimball's only son, Weston G. Kimball, who lives at 1724 Wesley avenue, Evanston, started last evening that he had held telephone conversation with persons in New York who saw his father yesterday, and they saw no indications of ill health. He declined to credit the report that speculative losses were a possible cause of heart failure.

FALLS DEAD CHASING PUNT

OHIO WESLEYAN FOOTBALL PLAYER SUCCUMBS TO WEAK HEART.

Right End Drops in Tracks After Going Down Field Under Kick—Efforts of Physician to Revive Him Unavailing—Accident May Demoralize Squad at Ohio Institution—Back's Leg Broken and Ankle Is Sprained in Scrimmage.

Delaware, O., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Lewis A. Crisler, right end of the Ohio Wesleyan university football team, fell dead on the athletic grounds this evening from organic heart failure. After a run down the field of about forty yards, urged on by Coach Rickey, who was sending the ends down under punts, Crisler fell to the ground. A physician was summoned and every effort made to revive him, but it was futile.

Though in no wise responsible, football at Ohio Wesleyan undoubtedly will suffer, as Coach Hickey and his squad have had all the life taken out of them by Crisler's death.

Crisler was a senior, president of the local chapter of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity, and was unpopular with the student body. He had been identified with athletics for several years, though it is said that he has been bothered with heart trouble.

His parents at Paulding, O., were immediately notified. He may be given a college funeral, though the school will abide by the wishes of the parents.

MRS. JONES WISTER TO FIGHT ON

Claimant to Weightman Millions Declares Mysterious Slip of Paper Has Helped Her Case.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Mrs. Jones Wister, who started a fight to get a share of the late William Weightman's $60,000,000 estate for her daughter, declared today the case would go on, and that she is in better shape than ever. The mysterious scrap of paper which created such a sensation yesterday, she said, would help her when it eventually is brought out, but she would not tell its contents. Mrs. Wister said:

"The paper does not reflect on or compromise me in any way. It will not injure my case. On the contrary, it has benefited me. It put an entirely new phase on the case. There will be no compromise whatever."

Mrs. Wister declined further to discuss the unexpected turn of the case.

Richard Waln Meirs said this afternoon that the scrap of yellow paper "stabs somebody." Meirs is the husband of Mrs. Wister's daughter, but in this controversy he always has sided against his mother-in-law.

BURTON GOES TO PRISON SOON.

Solicitor General Hoyt of Department of Justice Will Ask Mandate on Monday.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16.—Solicitor General Hoyt of the department of justice on next Monday will appeal before the Supreme court of the United States and ask that a mandate be issued for the execution of sentence in the case of former United States Senator Burton of Kansas, whose prison sentence was affirmed yesterday by the Supreme court. The delay in asking for issuance of the mandate is to enable Mr. Burton to conclude his business arrangements. The mandate will be placed in the hands of the United States marshal for the eastern district of Missouri, who will serve it on Mr. Burton, who then will be placed in prison to begin his six months' sentence.

SAND KILLS THREE CHILDREN.

Caught by a Small Landslide in a Gravel Pit, They Smother to Death.

Canton, O., Oct. 16.—Three children were smothered to death in a gravel pit here this afternoon. They were Casper and Sylvia Ertle and Dorothy Rice. When the children failed to come home at supper time a searching party was made up, and their bodies were found in the pit, where they had been playing. A landslide had caught them.

TOTAL REGISTRY 347,074 VOTERS.

Second Day Adds 139,550 Names and Gives Republicans Advantage.

DEMOCRATS SUFFER LOSS.

Their Banner Territory Makes a Much Poorer Showing than on October 6.

show the efficiency of the republican methods, all returning increases over four years ago, and in one or two instances increases over the big presidential registration of two years ago.

Eliminating that portion of the increase which may be attributed to the natural development of the territory, the advantage remains with the republicans.

Democratic Failure a Surprise.

The failure of the democratic statesmen to do better is somewhat surprising, considering that a number of the men who have disappointed their central organization were personally and directly interested in the election.

Kenna in the First ward did much better work on the first day of registration than he did yesterday. He is directly interested in the success of Justice Caverly, and the first day's registration indicated his interest. There was a decided falling off in his work on the second day and the total for the First ward falls 734 short of the total of four years ago, when Mr. Kenna did not have so much at stake personally.

In the Fourth ward the democratic decrease is greater, being 1,093, as compared with the total for 1902, and the Fifth ward fell 529 short. The Loeffler wards indicated indifference or lack of ability on the part of the "boss." The Ninth lost 1,561 votes, and the Tenth 883.

John Brennan in the Eighteenth was supposed to have a reason for activity in the candidacy of his brother-in-law, Justice O'Donoghue, but the figures do not reveal that his interest was converted into much activity. He, like Kenna, made good on the first day, but not on the second, his total falling 429 short of the lowest figure at which the vote of the ward normally can be put.

In the Nineteenth ward John Powers has been absent and any way has no particular interest in the result of the election. For this reason it was not surprising to find the total in this ward falling short by 784.

Contrast Is Startling.

The contrast between the democratic and republican wards is startling.

In the Sixth, where John R. Thompson, county committeeman for the ward, is a candidate for county treasurer, 1,748 names were added above the off year registration of 1902. In the Seventh ward, where W. N. Gemmill, ex-county committeeman, is a candidate for the Municipal court, 2,352 names were added over and above the figures of that registration.

In the Twenty-fifth, which has several candidates, including Lewis Rinaker and Harry Olson, the organization work was successful in putting 3,760 more names on the registry books than they carried in the preceding off year registration.

On the northwest side, which is particularly interested in Joseph Haas, candidate for county clerk, the wards show corresponding increases. The Twenty-seventh, which is a growing ward, beat even its presidential registration by 1,040, and its 1902 registration by 4,117 votes. The republican wards in the Town of Lake show increases and the general rule was that democratic sections of the city should show decreases and republican sections increases.

Secretary Tansey of the democratic committee had predicted a registration of 160,000. John J. Hanberg, chairman of the republican organization, had predicted a registration of 140,000 to 150,000. The lowest figures of the latter came close to the mark, the total being 139,550, including the registration of women.

The 160,000 which Mr. Tansey predicted represented the hopes of the democrats. The difference between the prediction and the actual figures represents the extent of the democratic disappointment.

Registration of Women.

The women's registration for the first day is included in the figures for that day, but is not included in the figures for yesterday or in the total, being carried in the separate column. The total registration of women is the highest in the last three registrations, the total for 1904 having been 1,699. The Seventh ward, with 270 women registering, leads in this column.

Several women, as usual, refused to give their ages, and thus lost the right to register. Three such cases were reported. The women appeared at three separate polling booths, eager to be registered as voters, "just as the men are." They told their names and their addresses, and even gave the number of years they have lived in the ward, city, county, and state, but when it came to telling their ages it was an entirely different matter. The precinct officials tried to argue with them that the law requires the age of voters, but they thought the law was ridiculous and that it didn't matter any way. Any one could see that they were old enough to vote, they admitted, but they did not intend to tell just how far they had passed the legal voting age.

The precinct election officials were forced to appeal to the city election commission as a court of last resort before the women would be satisfied that they could not register. Then they departed, still carefully concealing the secret of just how old they are.

Pease Workers Win Wages.

As one result of the day's work 100 members of the Seventh ward republican organization will contribute each $2 and will act as hosts for 100 men from the Twenty-fifth ward organization. Sheriff James Pease and his workers won their wager with Roy O. West and his Hyde Parkers, running up a score of 16,716 to the Seventh ward's 15,895, thus winning the dinner.

One of the knotty problems which the election commission had to solve during the day was an instance where a traveling man removed his family from New York to Chicago thirteen months ago. A home was established in Chicago, the furniture was moved from New York, and the family came westward, but the husband was traveling in the east when the change of residence was made and did not himself come to Chicago until several months later. When he tried to register the election judges found that he had lived in Illinois only eleven months, but the election board decided that he is entitled to vote upon the ground that when his home was established here it became his home, even though he did not live here.

State Meetings Scheduled.

The republican state organization has scheduled the following meetings in the state campaign:

ASSAILS DEMOCRATIC LEADERS

John B. Moran at Boston Ratification Meeting Hits Douglas, Quincy, and Whitney.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 16.—The democratic state ticket, headed by District Attorney John B. Moran, was ratified tonight by a massmeeting in Faneuil hall. Mr. Moran made a lengthy speech, at the close of which he fainted. In his address Mr. Moran did not spare three of the leaders of the democratic party, former Gov. William L. Douglas, Josiah Quincy, former chairman of the democratic state committee, and Henry M. Whitney. He said while Mr. Douglas was traveling in the west for his health, the ex-governor nevertheless seemed ready to return in case he (Moran) should withdraw from the contest.

"BOSS" M'CARREN ATTACKS HEARST

Brooklyn Leader Says Candidate's Object Is to Wreck Democratic Party.

TIGER GETS IN CAMPAIGN.

Ratification Meeting at Tammany Hall, with Cockran in the Chief Role.

New York, Oct. 16.—[Special.]—While Tammany was ratifying the state ticket tonight and cheering for Hearst, Senator McCarren, leader of the Kings county democracy, was denouncing Hearst as a bolter and strongly intimating that he should be scratched on election day.

McCarren's speech was made at a meeting of the county committee. It was brought forth because Hearst had declared many of the democratic nominees for judges in Brooklyn were unfit and had nominated independent candidates against them. McCarren had tried to threaten Hearst into withdrawing his ticket, but instead of getting frightened by McCarren, Hearst defied him. Tonight's speech, therefore, was McCarren's answer. He said:

"The candidate nominated at the democratic state convention recently held at Buffalo has bolted our party ticket in this county. I assume every man understands the definition of bolter. We never before, in my time at least, and I believe within the memory of the oldest man in the party, have been confronted with a situation such as that which we have to deal with tonight. We never have been called upon to call the attention of the democrats of this county to the hostility of the democratic nominee for governor.

Chance on Election Day.

"It is said our candidates for the office of Supreme court justice are notoriously unfit. We can with propriety call upon the people of Brooklyn to resent this attack on the characters of these men who have been referred to by the candidate for governor; we can, irrespective of party popularity in our community, resent emphatically and as forcefully as we can, by our votes on election day, this insult offered them.

"And I want to say, also, that we have additional reason for asking the citizens of Brooklyn by their votes to vindicate the character of our candidates; their characters all are unassailable because of this vilification of the man who recently came here from the west.

"I am reliably informed that he could not be elected poundmaster where he formerly lived. He now is engaged in the effort to defeat the regular democratic ticket in the state of California. He is attempting to do there what he is attempting to do here—namely: destroy the democratic party."

Cockran Explains for Tiger.

At the Tammany Hall ratification meeting in New York Bourke Cockran was selected to tell why the organization supported William R. Hearst for governor. Cockran said he didn't like Hearst personally, but that when Hearst accepted the platform which Cockran drew up, which duplicates resolutions Tammany Hall adopted March 19 last in protest against socialism, the way was paved for Tammany's support. Even then the organization was reluctant to nominate him, Cockran said, until it was seen no other man was available who would fit the platform.

Cockran declared with heat there had been no deals, no bargains, except those to be made himself, over the adoption of the platform. Hearst must support Tammany ideas to get its support. When he did that by telegraph through Louis Stuyvesant Chanler, who was at the Buffalo convention as a delegate, opposition to Hearst melted away in the Tammany ranks and its followers voted for him.

Tonight's meeting was declared to be as enthusiastic a ratification as Tammany has held in ten years. The meeting also was notable for the fact that Mayor McClellan was referred to by implication as a traitor. The name of Belmont also was hissed and hooted at. For Jerome there were groans and hisses until Mr. Cockran protested against "wasting good breath on a political outcast."

Two candidates on the state ticket were in the hall, Louis Stuyvesant Chanler for lieutenant governor and William Schuyler Jackson, running for attorney general. Hearst's name was loudly cheered.

ACCOMPLICE IN THE THAW CASE?

Jerome, in Court, Intimates Another May Be Indicted as Principal.

CROKER TO COME HOME?

Message to Son Hints Former Tammany Boss Soon Will Leave England.

NEW YORK BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE. New York, Oct. 16.

As argument for a writ of prohibition, restraining the district attorney and the grand jury from subpoenaing further witnesses in the John Doe proceedings case of Harry K. Thaw, came up for argument before Recorder Goff today, and something of a sensation was created by the intimation from the district attorney that his indictment of an accomplice might be on the cards.

Another to Be Indicted in the Thaw Case?

The motion was made by John B. Gleason, counsel for Thaw, and was opposed by District Attorney Jerome.

As to the propriety of prohibiting an inquisition by the grand jury into the crime, Mr. Jerome said the Doe proceedings before the grand jury may have been for the purpose of finding an indictment against other persons implicated as accessories with Thaw in the murder of Stanford White. He said:

"From my present knowledge of the case I am not so sure there isn't another person who could be coupled with Harry K. Thaw on the indictment for murder in the first degree. Under the law a person who aids or abets advises or counsels another in a crime, whether present or not, is a principal.

"It does not appear from what source Thaw got the revolver with which he killed White. It does not appear whether words were not spoken to him to urge him to commit the crime of murder. It does not appear that the grand jury is not continuing its investigation toward finding an indictment against others than the prisoner in the Tombs."

Recorder Goff finally asked both sides to submit briefs.

"Will shortly see you," was the conclusion of a cablegram received from his father today by Richard Croker Jr. It was the first intimation received in New York that Richard Croker intends to pay a visit here.

Message Intimates Croker Is Coming Home.

"Of course, I cannot state positively that is what father means," said the son, "but the inference surely is warranted. This is the first word I have received of his intention to visit America."

The cablegram read: "Satisfactory and adequate retraction is promised by the London Magazine for the publication of an unjust and unwarranted article of which I was made the subject. The promise also was made to stop the publication of the rest of the series and make amends in Wednesday's issue. My feelings were outraged by the publication, as you may well know, and I feel convinced that this course, as well as public opinion, sustained me. You need not now go to the trouble of coming across. Will shortly see you. FATHER."

"I felt convinced from the start that my father had been libeled," said young Croker, "and was preparing to call to be at his side during the suit. I am glad it ended in this manner."

A verdict of $5,000 was returned in the Superior court in Jersey City today in favor of Miss Viola La Barre, a typewriter, against John F. Maroney, former manager of the Penn Mutual Life Insurance branch office in that city, whom she sued through her next friend to recover $20,000 for assaulting her on the night of May 24 last.

Girl Gets Verdict of $5,000 for Assault.

Miss La Barre, a slight built, modest appearing young woman, wept as she told her story on the witness stand. She said Maroney came into the office under the influence of liquor, seized her, and kept her a prisoner in the office for three hours.

Maroney admitted the assault, but attempted to place the blame on the woman.

On Oct. 22 Maroney will be tried on the charge of criminal assault.

The third annual meeting of the board of casualty and surety underwriters was held here today, with President John T. Stone of Maryland presiding. President Stone reported that thirty-seven casualty and surety companies are now members of the board, including six foreign companies. The membership comprises about four-fifths of all the companies doing this class of insurance business and the annual dividends paid by them aggregates $50,000,000.

Risk Man Sees "Petty Graft" in Reports.

President Stone devoted considerable attention to the subject of insurance legislation. The board, he said, is anxious to secure legislation that will do away with the compulsory publication in country newspapers of annual and sometimes semi-annual statements of companies, in which he declares there is a system of "petty graft."

Mrs. Elizabeth M. Holmes of Brooklyn, who was arrested in Washington last January while attempting to secure an interview with President Roosevelt, today was ordered by Judge Crane to be committed to an asylum as a paranoiac. The application for her commitment was made by her husband. Several doctors testified that Mrs. Holmes believed that government officials and judges were implicated in a plot to protect a lawyer by whom she believed she had been swindled.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 16.—An automobile running at a high rate of speed struck a trolley pole in Lakewood, a suburb, early today and the gasoline tank exploded. Every one of the four occupants of the car was injured. Two may die. The injured are:

Miss Anna Schmittel, burned about the arms and body, right arm fractured.

Miss Hulda Ackerman, burned about the face and back, condition critical.

Benjamin Camra, burned about the head and hands.

Fred Hartman, right eye gouged out, skull fractured, condition critical.

According to Camra, who was driving, nothing went wrong with the machinery. Seven gallons of gasoline exploded.

HUNGER FOR CUBAN SPOIL

LIBERALS MORE RESTLESS OVER FAILURE TO GET OFFICES.

Opponents of Palma's Administration Do Not Relish Gov. Magoon's Policy That No Public Servants Shall Be Removed Except for Cause—Insists That Merit and Efficiency Alone Are Issues to Determine Fitness or Unfitness for Service.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

[Copyright: 1906: By the New York Herald.]

HAVANA, Oct. 16.—The liberals are hungry for office, and getting uneasy. They keep telling Gov. Magoon they want nothing themselves, but that he must save the country from the unspeakable moderates he so far has refused to turn out of office. La Lucha, now a liberal organ, is outspoken. It said tonight:

"Sometimes when one great political party of a nation is elected to the administrative power the chief personnel of the offices of the various departments are allowed to remain for a time, and in some cases, which are rare, are continued permanently. History never has recorded an instance in which an unpopular and corrupt government, after having been overthrown by a revolution, has been allowed to have its chief captains and lieutenants remain in the administration of the succeeding government.

Suicidal Policy Pointed Out.

"Such a toleration would be suicidal to those who had fought to liberate the country. It would render all of their efforts futile and even worse, for with the same minds directing the different departments of administrative service the hand of vengeance would have a continual clutch upon their throats. The same animosity would exist even to an exaggerated degree and in a short time the country again would be dragged to perdition. When one sees in the decrees and on every side that the same men who were the trustees of the former secretaries are now serving in a like capacity to the provisional governor it provokes the profoundest contempt and the gravest doubts."

That these doubts soon will grow to demands none familiar with Cuba doubts. The situation is interesting because of Secretary Taft's policy, which Gov. Magoon has said he should follow. It is to disturb nobody in office except for cause.

Two More Fever Cases.

Additional apprehension over the yellow fever situation was caused today by the discovery of two more cases. Both were Spaniards and both located in new localities for the disease. One was in the Vedado, Havana's fashionable suburb, which contains pretentious homes of many Americans and other foreign residents. The other case was near Colon park and the Villa Neuva railway station, also a good neighborhood. These new cases raise the total under treatment in the city to ten. There are three reported in Cruces, making thirteen for the whole island.

WANTS CUPID LONG FACED

BRITISH CLERGYMAN SAYS PRESENT DAY WOOERS TOO GIDDY.

Pleads with Church to Surround All Courtships with Sanctity and Rid Them of Jests—Blames Light View of Marriage for Deterioration of Home Life—Fatherhood and Motherhood Down Almost to Commercial Basis.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Oct. 16.—The Rev. J. H. Jewett, in making his presidential address to the conference of the Congregational union at Wolverhampton, deplored the degradation of marriage and the religious deterioration of Christian homes.

"One is forever hearing about the rights of parents, but one rarely hears of their duties," he said. "Much baneful evasion of parental duty can be traced to the flippant conception of the solemn sacrament of marriage. In countless instances the marriage relationship is entered upon as if life were a jaunty picnic instead of a serious crusade."

He asked if the churches could not do something to surround the holy season of courtship with acknowledged spiritual sanction, rid all references to courtship of inane and sacrilligious jests.

"The covenant of marriage," he said, "is being robbed of its spiritual significance. Current literature is creating a more secular and superficial conception of fatherhood and motherhood. The registrar's office is coming more and more into requisition. Marriage is deteriorating into a merely civil institution. The gracious term 'home' is becoming rapidly obsolete."

The bishop of Manchester, in addressing a meeting of clergymen at Chorley, also gravely lamented the decay of home-life. He said:

"Theoretically, Sunday schools ought not to exist. They are an accommodation to the low standard of Christian life. It is an open argument whether churches have done harm or good in accommodating themselves to that standard. If Christian homes are what they ought to be there would be no need of Sunday schools.

"The tendency of modern life is to break up homes. The present organization of industry is destructive to the home influence. The teaching of constructive efforts ought to be devoted to restoring the family to the place assigned it by God."

MORE RUSSIANS PUT TO DEATH.

Many Men Convicted by Court Martial Shot in Various Parts of the Czar's Empire.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 16.—Five men, convicted by court martial of robbery, were shot today at Riga.

Three Christians and three Jews, who were caught Oct. 12 robbing the offices of the firm of Friedborg, at Rostov-on-Don, have been tried by court martial and shot.

Many executions are reported to have occurred in other parts of Russia.

After investigating the killing of Mlle. Semenova, the young medical student confined in the central detention prison of St. Petersburg, who was shot and killed by a sentry Sept. 10 when she showed herself at the window of her cell overlooking the courtyard, the commander of the St. Petersburg garrison, in an order of the day, has thanked the soldier who killed the girl, and has given him a reward of $5. In addition the soldier, who belongs to the Seminovsky regiment, is upheld in the order of the day as an example to his comrades of the faithful performance of duty.

The admiralty has determined to build a battleship of the Dreadnought type. In order to overcome Minister of Finance Kokovsoff's refusal to supply him with funds Vice Admiral Birileff, minister of marine, has appealed direct to Emperor Nicholas, who has brushed obstacles aside and ordered M. Kokovsoff to transfer to Admiral Birileff $9,000,000.

Communist Leader Taken.

ODESSA, Russia, Oct. 16.—The "anarchist communist" party has lost its most prominent partisan, Masurkin, who was captured today by the police, together with several other leaders of the party. They will be tried by court martial.

Capture Forty-nine Terrorists.

WARSAW, Oct. 16.—The police today discovered the headquarters of an elaborately organized band of terrorists and captured forty-nine members of the band, who are charged with having committed many murders and robberies.

HOLY WAR NEAR IN MOROCCO.

Mouly Abou Arousing Natives, to the Intense Apprehension of the French Authorities.

PARIS, Oct. 16.—The imminence of a formidable native rising in Morocco and Algeria is growing. The French military authorities in Algeria are in a state of apprehension. The commander of the troops in the district of Ain-Sefra has cabled to the minister of war, saying that the preparations among the Moors for a holy war are proceeding rapidly. Mouly Abou, a cousin of the sultan of Morocco, has visited all the tribes and has induced them to cease their internal quarrels and prepare to take the field in the middle of November.

Send Troops to Get Taxes.

TANGIER, Morocco, Oct. 16.—A military expedition of considerable strength is being organized in Fes for the purpose of gathering taxes, which for several years have remained unpaid, from the turbulent tribes in the south.

A caravan consisting of forty camels conveying German goods to Morocco City has been pillaged, and Dr. Rosen, the German minister, has entered an energetic protest with the Moroccan government.

UNIVERSITY GIRL UPHOLDS TOILERS

Commits Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs to Support of Trade Unions.

INSISTS ON FEDERAL AID.

Miss Sophonisba Breckenridge's Speech Routs Conservatives at Meeting.

Working girls found an effective champion last night in Miss Sophonisba B. Breckenridge of the University of Chicago, who, to judge from her stirring speech before the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs at Mandel hall, has found time, along with dry studies in coinage and finance, to go deeply into the human experiences of the woman who toils.

At any rate it was Miss Breckenridge who successfully stormed the conservative element in the federation, silenced those delegates with a penchant for "culture" and "laissez faire," and practically committed the influential state federation to the woman's trade union movement.

Program for Their "Sisters."

As a result the 20,000 members of allied women's clubs in the state of Illinois will push during the coming year the following program in behalf of their "sisters," in and out of the unions:

To have the United States government undertake a comprehensive investigation into the working conditions of girls, women, and children.

To have the Illinois state legislature pass laws requiring factories to install protection from dangerous machinery.

To promote a "trade school" movement for girls, similar to the one in Massachusetts.

To help the girls and women to organize into unions.

To further such farseeing legislation as will "make the trade bear the burden of its own accidents" as is done in Germany through "compulsory insurance" laws.

Trades Union Women Present.

On the stage back of Miss Breckenridge were a dozen members of women's trade unions in Chicago, including Miss Agnes Nestor of the Glove Workers; Miss Josephine Casey of the Elevated Railroad Employes, and others. Mrs. Raymond Robins, Mrs. Harriet Van der Vaart, Miss Mary McDowell, and Miss Anna Nicholes, chairman of the industrial committee, were also on the stage.

"Why is it that women in industry are so helpless?" said Miss Breckenridge. "One reason is that the women are so young. Statistics show that over one-third of those employed in factories in Illinois are under 21 years of age.

"Just think, if you can, what that means. At that age your own daughters, well housed and well clothed, are just preparing themselves for life. These factory girls whom you employ, who must toil if you are to be clothed and cared for, have picked up their life burdens.

"Then, too, being girls, they expect to marry. The working girl does not assume that she will work always. She hasn't the professional point of view. She cannot, and it would hardly be natural to expect her to, deny herself for the sake of an improbable future gain.

"All around them are dangers of which we dare not speak, but which are in our minds. The pressure is fearfully strong. It is only by an exercise of positive heroism that many a girl keeps herself reputable.

"Even in those more fortunate women who have built up a bulwark about them, these women on the platform here tonight, whom I am proud to call my sisters—even they have my sympathy for the long hours and the strain of which you and I know nothing."

Trade Schools Are Advocated.

Mrs. Harriet Vandervaart described a recent Massachusetts investigation in which it was shown that the children between 14 and 16 were rated so low industrially and received such low wages that the manufacturers had frankly stated their willingness to have the children go to trade schools instead.

Miss McDowell urged the members to deluge their congressmen with letters urging them to vote for a federal investigation into the working conditions of women.

Prof. Edwin O. Jordan of the University of Chicago spoke on "Municipal Sanitation." At the close of the program a reception was given to Miss Sarah S. Platt Decker, president of the National federation, and Mrs. James Frake, president of the Illinois federation.

Mrs. Peattie on "Children's Reading."

Mrs. Ella W. Peattie made the address of the afternoon on "Children's Reading," in which she paid her respects to the books frequently fed to the "young person."

"If in youth the taste of the child has been well formed and sustained," she said, "it probably will resist to the end the attacks of bad literature. By bad literature I do not, of course, mean merely the books which reveal poor ethical perception. I refer to poor workmanship, meager conceptions of life, foolish books which are, on the one hand, out of harmony with the beauty which antiquity has bequeathed to us and on the other hand are untouched by the realism and scientific perceptions which distinguish the present time.

"No child, for instance, who is to become a person of taste and a lover of truth, should be allowed to roam unguarded through the maudlin monstrosities of the poorer sort of Sunday school libraries. The poverty struck style of the books to be found there, the fictitious awards bestowed upon virtue, and above all the misrepresentations of life, are distinctly injurious."

Mrs. Mary Codding Bourland created a ripple of amusement and pity when she read off the lists prepared by high school students throughout the state showing what they had read during the previous year.

"One boy from the Avon High school," said Mrs. Bourland, "says his reading for the year has consisted of the Republican Atlas, the Sunday School Herald, 'Sermons on the Devil,' and the Chicago Daily Drovers' Journal."

Send Greetings to Mrs. Deneen.

At the morning session resolutions were passed extending the greetings of the convention to Mrs. Charles S. Deneen, who is ill at Springfield. Mrs. Deneen is vice president of the Twenty-first district.

Mrs. Francis D. Everitt recounted the triumphs and failures of the St. Paul biennial convention, describing especially the efforts of the club women to induce Uncle Sam "to spend as much money investigating child life as he does studying the young lobsters along the New England coast."

Nominations for offices will take place this morning. Among the candidates "mentioned" to succeed Mrs. James Frake as president are Mrs. M. C. Bourland of Pontiac, Mrs. George Watkins of the South Side Woman's club, and Mrs. Frank Gates Allen, secretary of the national federation in Illinois. About 300 delegates are present, representing, it is estimated, 20,000 club women.

This afternoon the delegates will hear the reports of the philanthropy committee, of which Mrs. E. J. Murphy is chairman, and the pure food committee, Mrs. G. W. Plummer chairman. Dr. Caroline Hedges of the University of Chicago Settlement will talk on "Some Factors in the Production of Clean Milk" and Prof. J. M. Trueman on "How Can We Secure a Clean Milk Supply?" Enos A. Mills of Estes Park, Colo., will talk on "Forestry."

PRIEST OUSTED, HOLDS FORT.

MOTHER AIDS BROUWER

TESTIFIES FOR DOCTOR ACCUSED OF WIFE MURDER.

Denies That He Ever Was Familiar with Miss McClenahan — Relates How Mrs. Brouwer in Dying Moments Turned Care of Two Sons Over to Her—Doctor Called by the State Weakens Case by Saying Powdered Glass Does Not Always Kill.

Toms River, N. J., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Mrs. Althea Calverly, mother of Dr. Frank Brouwer, took the stand late this afternoon to testify for her son, who is on trial on a charge of wife poisoning. After she had testified attorneys for the defense announced they rested their case.

The sight of his mother broke the nerve of the doctor. For the second time during the trial he covered his face with his hands and sobbed without shame.

The mother never once looked at her son. She kept her eyes on the face of Attorney Carmichael.

When she passed within two feet of the physician on leaving the stand she paused in a second's indecision, lifted one hand as if to lay it on his shoulder, then passed on to her seat.

"Where have you been since Mrs. Brouwer died?" asked the attorney.

Receives Wife's Last Trust.

"I have been staying at the home of my son, caring for his two motherless babies."

Then she told how she had been summoned to her son's home at the time of Mrs. Brouwers' fatal illness, how she had helped to tend the sick woman, and how she had received her dying injunction. On the night of her death, Mrs. Calverly said, Mrs. Brouwer in a lucid moment called her to her bedside.

"She asked me in a whisper to take care of her two boys, love them, and make a home for them," said the witness.

Mrs. Calverly corroborated the testimony given by Dr. Brouwer as to the symptoms of the invalid's disease and the nature of the convulsions.

"Did you ever see Miss McClenahan alone in company of the accused?" asked Mr. Carmichael.

"Never," said the witness, with a determined biting off of the word.

"Did you ever see the accused indulge in any familiarity with this woman?"

"Never," repeated Mrs. Calverly.

"What was the attitude of the accused toward his wife at all times under your observation?"

"It was as it should be between husband and wife. There never was any unpleasantness."

Mother Not Questioned Much.

Mrs. Calverly was allowed to leave the stand after only a perfunctory cross-examination by the prosecution.

Dr. E. McLain, foreman of the Monmouth Memorial hospital at Long Branch, who took the chair as an expert witness for the defense, weakened and floundered considerably in the tangle of cross-fire questioning.

Powdered glass, he said, is not necessarily fatal when taken into the body. He believed any one could swallow a teaspoonful of glass chips such as were found in the viscera of Mrs. Brouwer without fatal consequences. Nor did Dr. Forman believe the symptoms of the woman's illness other than characteristic of ptomaine poisoning.

Dr. I. H. Pance of Lakewood was put on the stand by the defense to say Mrs. Brouwer's symptoms were those of ptomaine poisoning, as was also Dr. George W. McMillan of Lakewood.

SMALLEST BALLOON WINS RACE

Ernst of the Berlin Air Navigation Society Travels 200 Miles with Small Gas Capacity.

BERLIN, Oct. 16.—All the balloons which started from Tegal Sunday in a race for the cup offered by Emperor William have landed except the Franken of the Frankish Airship club, Carl Hochstetter, aeronaut, which was sighted Monday morning in Bohemia.

The longest distance made by any of the contestants was by the Sohnke of the Munich Air Navigation club, which was sailed by Dr. Emden. This balloon landed Monday afternoon near Orloff, province of Warsaw, Russian Poland, having made 256 miles.

The Ernst, the smallest of the seventeen starters, handled by Dr. Brockelmann of the Berlin Air Navigation society, which landed at Brieg, in Austria, 200 miles from the point of ascending, has won the race because of the distance traversed, with a capacity of only 680 cubic meters of gas.

Steamer Peerless Abandons Trip.

The steamer Peerless of the newly formed Chicago and Milwaukee Transportation company did not leave for Milwaukee on its regular trip last night and it was reported around the river that the line was about to retire from the field, owing to the fierce competition of the Barry and Goodrich lines.

54,600 Meals Did Him No Good

How One Man Wasted 50 Years of His Life. Thousands Like Him.

"What's the use of eatin', anyhow?" said the scrawny dyspeptic to his rotund, prosperous-looking friend. "Here I've been eatin' three times a day, and sometimes twice a day, for 50 years, and look at me. I'm rawboned and skinny, still at the bottom of the ladder, sour on the world, and a pessimist. I know it and I can't help it. If I had it to do over again, though, I would take care of my stomach, for I don't believe I ever relished a meal in my life, not even mother's Christmas dinners, and I firmly believe that my way of eating, or whatever it was, brought along with it darkness and impossibility of success."

"You're right," nodded his companion. "Of course, that isn't always the case. But in this age we must not only 'Trust in the Lord and keep our powder dry,' but we must swallow sunshine with our food. Cheerfulness, especially while eating, which is the most essential act of man, is as necessary to him as sunshine is to the flowers. Nothing normal can be produced in darkness.

"But this is what you haven't been doing, Mr. Dyspeptic. Your brain and your stomach, remember, are twins, and you have to treat them accordingly. Why not start now and repair the damage you've done? It is never too late, you know."

"You mean at my age? And suppose you can't always get the sunshine?"

"Absolutely, yes. Science has made it possible to get the sunshine, the health, and the strength that your stomach needs, all put up together in little tablets. They call them Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, the most effective tablets in the world for this very thing. One ingredient in these tablets digests 3,000 grains of food without the help of the stomach. Two tablets after each meal can do more work, quicker work, and better work, in digesting a heavy meal than the stomach can itself. The stomach need not work at all. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets does all the work and gives your jaded stomach a rest, the rest it needs. Meanwhile you cure yourself of brash, irritation, burning sensation, heartburn, sour stomach, acidity, fermentation, bloat, and the worst cases of dyspepsia and indigestion. You get rid of these for all time. And then, besides, you can eat all you want and whenever you want, and you will also relish mother's Christmas dinners if you will take Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after eating. That's the sunshine I was talking about. Then your face will reflect the internal change going on, you'll be more energetic, your mind will be clearer, you will have more confidence in yourself, you'll be happier, and you'll be yourself again.

"Your heart will change and you'll feel rosy. You'll enjoy your meals—and live. Let's walk down to the drug store and let me introduce you to one little package of these Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. You can get them at any drug store in the world for only 50c a package. It is worth it, Mr. Dyspeptic."

NEW BANK THEFT SHOWN EVERY DAY

Startling Record of Defalcation Discussed at the St. Louis Convention.

BAD LOANS WORST EVIL.

Commissioner of Massachusetts Shows Weak Spots in System and Offers a Cure.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Pierre Jay, commissioner of banking of Massachusetts, estimates that not a day passes without the discovery of a bank embezzlement somewhere in the United States.

He pointed out the increasing danger of this weakness in the country's banking system in a speech delivered today before the trust sections of the American Banking association, now in annual meeting here. As a solution of this problem, made more difficult by the impossibility of devising an embezzlement proof system, he urged a more vigorous system of accounting and auditing. While this would act as a powerful deterrent on the dishonesty of minor officials, Commissioner Jay deplored the fact that it could not stop the greatest evil of the banking system—the making of excessive and unsound loans by trusted officers, which is almost invariably the cause of bank failures. To fight this evil he urged a form of state supervision which would make regular and disinterested examinations of the books imperative.

State supervision also was urged by President Clark Williams of New York, who made the Stensland failure in Chicago and the Hipple case in Philadelphia the text of his address.

The meeting of the trust companies section and the savings bank section opened the annual convention of the banking association, which meets as a whole tomorrow. Hundreds of prominent bankers, representing every state and territory, as well as the United States dependencies, are here as delegates and officers of the association, and place the total attendance, including delegates and unaccredited visitors, at 4,000.

Lesson of Big Failures.

The trust companies section was called to order by Vice President Clark Williams of the Columbia Trust company, New York, who in his annual address said, in part:

"Some good may come from the catastrophe of the Real Estate Trust company failure at Philadelphia and the Stensland bank at Chicago, if only in the practical lessons we may learn of lasting benefit. Nothing could more clearly demonstrate the wisdom of the policy in advocating adequate state supervision. It seems to have been so lacking in these particular cases that the trust companies of Pennsylvania are considering the advisability of calling a general convention to devise relief from present unsatisfactory conditions.

"I believe it to be the duty of every trust company official, not only to his institution but to himself, to adopt such means as are best calculated to keep the directors of his company closely in touch with its affairs, not only by formal report but by requiring their frequent personal examination of the cash, securities, and loans."

A Defalcation Every Day.

After the annual report of the secretary, which showed the addition of 638 new members, covering 113 trust companies, in the year, Banking Commissioner Pierre Jay addressed the association on the subject of defalcations.

"The president of a large surety company," Mr. Jay said, "recently told me that his company had averaged one bank embezzlement case a month for the last twenty-two years. When you consider that there are eight or ten other surety companies issuing fidelity bonds to bank employés, which are probably having proportionately similar experiences, and when you consider that perhaps two out of three of the minor embezzlements never reach the surety companies but are made good by relatives and friends, or are charged to profit and loss, I think I am safe in estimating that a new case of bank embezzlement is being discovered in the United States on every day in the year. In proportion to their number of banks this would mean, say eighteen a year in Missouri, fourteen in Illinois, seventeen in New York.

"Small as many of these irregularities or embezzlements may be, the frequency with which they occur, and the long period which some of them cover, create a situation which deserves and is receiving the careful attention of bank directors and officers all over the country. In the first place, let us remember that no man can embezzle without the opportunity, and while it is impossible to devise a system which shall be embezzlement proof, it is nevertheless the duty of those in charge of banking institutions, in justice not only to their depositors and stockholders but also to their employés, to attempt to reduce the number of opportunities for embezzlement to the minimum.

Accounting and Auditing the Cure.

"This best can be accomplished:

"First—By establishing a thorough system of accounting. A proper system of accounting will prevent more embezzlements than a proper system of auditing will disclose, and it will save many a naturally honest man from yielding, under great stress, to the temptation of stealing, which a loose system of accounting will encourage.

"Second—The best accounting system obtainable having been installed, the entries made under it should be audited as frequently as possible.

"But however serious such defalcations of tellers, bookkeepers, and clerks may be, they are not to be compared in disastrous result with the making of excessive or unsound loans and investments by trusted officers of banks, of which Chicago, Philadelphia, and Boston have each had such flagrant cases during the last few months, and which has caused the failure of nearly every bank which has gone down in normal times.

"I believe that legislation should be enacted in every state similar to the law recently passed in New York, which would compel the directors of every bank and trust company to make at least two examinations each year of its condition.

At the afternoon session of the trust company section the following officers were elected: President, Festus J. Wade, president Mercantile Trust company of St. Louis; first vice president, Philip S. Babcock, vice president Colonial Trust company of New York, and state vice presidents, one from each state represented in the section.

Executive committee—Ralph W. Cutler, Hartford, Conn.; Benjamin F. Cohen, Portland, Ore.; O. C. Fuller, Milwaukee; S. W. Rayburn, Little Rock, Ark.; J. H. Holliday, Indianapolis, Ind. The section convention then adjourned. Tonight a banquet was tendered the general officers, executive council, and executive committee of the trust company and savings bank sections at the St. Louis club.

Considerable opposition developed at the session of the currency reform conference before the adoption of a resolution referring several plans submitted to the currency conference back to the executive council of the association without comment. The resolution urged that the plans be submitted to a legislative committee, which will meet in Chicago Nov. 20, to draft a bill for presentation to congress. The resolution adds that the present supply of currency is inadequate and not sufficiently flexible, and that certain changes in the banking laws are necessary and expedient.

BOARD OF TRADE ALARMED

MEMBERS SEEK REASON FOR THE LACK OF BUSINESS.

Unparalleled Dullness Continues to Oppress World's Greatest Grain Market, and Brokers Call Meeting at Which a Restorative Will Be Discussed—Some Say "Reduce Commissions and Float Quotations" as Remedy for Inactivity.

What is the matter with business on the Chicago board of trade?

This question is and for weeks has been burning in the minds of traders in the grain markets. So fierce has the flame of discussion become that resident members of the big exchange at the foot of La Salle street—the seat of the world's greatest market—have been driven to seek respite from the extreme dullness from an industry that is expected to share proportionately in such unprecedented general prosperity as now is being enjoyed by the nation.

In the parlance of the street, there is "nothing doing" in the Chicago grain markets. All the rest of the business world admittedly is in clover. Perhaps, say some traders, the painful lack of interest in the speculative grain market is directly due to the general prosperity in so-called "legitimate" lines of trade and professions. When a business man earns a fair profit in hardware, or prunes, or anything else, they argue, he is not apt to risk himself in speculation. It is in "hard times," they maintain, that the business man resorts to "evening up" methods—the shortest and quickest route being via the speculative methods.

Bigger Commission No Aid.

Last March the board of trade members voted to increase trading commissions 100 per cent. All traders were put on the dignified basis of brokers. Since then, instead of bolstering the then waning business, trade has become more and more dormant, almost all the activity coming from professional circles. Some of the supporters of the rule change within the last few weeks have reduced their clerical forces, because of the lack of business to keep them active enough to earn their salaries. Houses of prominence have discarded telegraphers, thus indicating a falling off in outside business.

A meeting of members has been called for tomorrow afternoon in the visitors' room of the exchange building. It is said a proposition to restore the commission rates to the old basis in effect before March 1 last, and to give quotations a wider circulation, will be discussed. To some members it appears that the board's price quotations, recognized on all sides as being standard, are being confined to too narrow limits.

Two Changes Are Urged.

"Reduce commissions and float the quotations," said a leading trader yesterday. "Bucket shops, despite arguments to the contrary, are prospering, and they are doing business at ⅛c where the board rate is ¼c. When a man makes good in a bucket shop he will continue his operations on a legitimate exchange, if conditions are equal."

Because of the extreme dullness many members have been prompted to dispose of their memberships on the board of trade. The association has been taking in a number at around $2,400. About this time last year memberships were quoted at $3,175.

CASE AGAINST DR. STOCKLEY MARKED BY PECULIAR TURN.

Only Copy of Girl's Accusations in the Hands of Defendant's Lawyers at Preliminary Examination.

At the preliminary examination of Dr. Darwin R. Stockley on charges of assault, made by Hannah Olsson, 19 years old, held yesterday in Justice Rogers' court in Evanston, surprise was caused by the fact that the only typewritten report of the girl's accusations made to Chief of Police Frost and City Attorney George N. Woodley, were in the hands of the defendant's lawyers, one of whom is Carleton F. Pendleton, law partner of the city attorney.

Because of this fact the city attorney expressed unwillingness to conduct the prosecution. Mr. Woodley did not give a satisfactory reason for the girl's typewritten statement being in the hands of the defense. Chief of Police Frost remained in the vicinity of the courtroom and expressed his belief that the case would be dismissed.

After Miss Olsson had told her story former Judge Charles G. Neely, another of the defendant's lawyers, called several prominent Evanstonians to testify that Dr. Stockley's character was good.

Expert testimony from several physicians was called to show that an assault as described by Miss Olsson was impossible. Dr. Stockley then took the stand, denying the vital point of the accusation while admitting many of the circumstances alleged by the complainant. He was asked to cite at the next hearing the medical authorities directing the treatment he administered to the girl for sore throat.

Assistant State's Attorney Barbour, on whose advice Dr. Stockley was arrested, expressed himself last night on the situation as follows:

"It is an outrage. When Mr. Healy found that the city attorney had allied himself with the defense, when he ought to be trying the case, and that the chief of police was assisting him, he told me to be present this morning under all circumstances. The Evanston people may have a good soldier at the head of their police department, but they have mighty poor protection out there."

The hearing will be resumed Saturday morning.

WHO WANTS A JAPANESE BABY?

Destitute Widow from Orient Wishes Some Chicago Family to Adopt Her Infant Son.

Is there any one in Chicago who is willing to give a home to a bright little Japanese baby boy? If there is one so inclined, he should direct his inquiries to Dr. Bertha Schwartz, 279 West Adams street.

The case of baby Yo is not without interest and pathos. Some months before the little fellow was born his mother was left a widow, a stranger in a strange land. Unable to speak English or to do hard manual work, the death of her husband left her in almost destitute circumstances, and the coming of little Yo made her burden still heavier. So she was forced to leave the baby in the care of Dr. Schwartz, hoping his winning ways might attract to him the attention and affection of some kindly disposed person and win for him the comfortable home that she was unable to provide.

Is there a family in Chicago to fulfill this mother's hope?

PEABODY DENIES COERCION CHARGE

Defends Mutual Life Against Accusations Following Official's Dismissal.

HEARING IN KENTUCKY.

Company May Be Ousted from the State if Commission Decides on Guilt.

Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 16.—Charles A. Peabody, president of the Mutual Life Insurance company of New York, appeared today before Insurance Commissioner H. R. Prewitt to answer charges which were read to him by the commissioner, as follows:

The department is informed that your company has not only violated the law in reference to the approaching election of trustees but is attempting to coerce, intimidate, and otherwise influence agents of the company into soliciting votes for the ticket known as the "administration ticket."

You are not only permitting but compelling salaried employés of the company to electioneer and solicit votes for that ticket.

You are employing agents, paying them salaries and expenses from the company's funds to solicit votes for that ticket.

You are having agents and other employés of the company go from different sections of the country to the home office in New York for conferences concerning the election of the administration ticket and defraying the expenses of such agents out of the company's funds.

You are threatening employés of the company with discharge unless they loyally support the administration ticket.

You already have discharged several of the managing agents of the company from the company's service because they or some kinsmen of theirs have accepted a nomination on a ticket other than the administration ticket, or because they would not support and solicit votes for that ticket. You have lately dismissed Col. Bisco Hindman, late managing agent of the company in Kentucky, because he accepted a nomination for trustee on a ticket other than the administration ticket, and because he refused or failed to loyally support the candidates on the administration ticket.

Peabody Denies the Charges.

To these charges Mr. Peabody entered a denial, and when it came to explaining the dismissal of Col. Hindman he said he could not have dismissed him for being on the trustees' ticket, because Col. Hindman had told him that he had not accepted the nomination. Mr. Peabody stated that Col. Hindman had openly and avowedly attacked the integrity of the management, and that his position was not consistent with a proper performance of his duties as an insurance manager.

Mr. Peabody then read a prepared statement, in part as follows, stating the position of the company:

The bylaws of the company provide that, with the exception of the president and vice president, no officers of the company shall be members of the board of trustees.

To comply with this bylaw in the few instances where managers or agents of the company have announced the intention of accepting nominations for office as trustees, this company has felt impelled to terminate the contracts under which such managers and agents have been in the company's service.

No action has been taken by the company which can properly be characterized as coercing and employ into voting or soliciting votes otherwise than as his own free will dictates.

The law compels the trustees to nominate a ticket described as "administration ticket."

However, no money of the corporation can be properly used in electioneering and this committee has not and will not authorize any such use.

It is the duty of all employés of the company to explain to the policy holders their rights under the law. And it is the duty of all such employés to abstain from exercising any kind of coercion and from submitting to any coercion.

Wins Protest, Then Answers.

Mr. Peabody protested when Attorney Brown asked him who sent out the ballot from New York with only one ticket on it. Mr. Peabody replied that the company did not, and Mr. Brown asked who did. This brought out the protest, and Commissioner Prewitt ruled that only the affairs of the company were being investigated. Mr. Peabody then stated voluntarily that he himself had sent out the ballots on his own personal account and this ended the matter.

Commissioner Prewitt stated that a decision in the matter may not be announced for several days. Under a recent Kentucky statute the power of the insurance commissioner to oust a company from the state is absolute.

TEACHERS FEAR A REFUND

POSSIBILITY OF BIG CLAIM FOR EXCESS PAY.

If Courts Hold Illegal Cooley's Plan of Raising Salaries After Promotional Examination Those Who Have Received Such Advances for Last Four Years May Have to Return Total of $140,000—Old Council Likely to Be Revived.

Trustee Louis F. Post's promotional scheme for Chicago public school teachers found new fences to hurl yesterday, and in attempting to overcome these obstacles it fell down and hurt itself.

The suggestion by Trustee P. Shelly O'Ryan, spokesman for the radicals, that if Supt. Cooley's old system of secret markings were continued an appeal would be taken to the courts, forced the admission from those who hold Mr. Cooley's plan illegal that the teachers who have benefited by the promotional examinations might have to refund their "gratuities" and go back to their original salaries.

"It is a logical conclusion," said a member of the school board who thinks that Supt. Cooley's plan is illegal. "I think that the board will decide to test the matter, and this question cannot be avoided. It is my opinion that a court would find that a refund must be made."

Big Sum Involved.

The suggestion startled those 910 teachers who have been promoted by the secret markings. Each of these may have to pay back to the school fund from $50 to $150 for each year that they have been drawing their increased salaries.

It is estimated that $65,000 has been added to the pay roll during this year by the "gratuity" system condemned by nearly 80 per cent of the teachers and a majority of the board. During the four years $140,000 has been paid out. Few if any federation teachers are affected as they have not taken the examinations.

The "uplift" members of the board responsible for the fight on Supt. Cooley would not discuss the subject of a possible refund—not for publication, any way. Mr. Post and Mr. O'Ryan said they had thought about it but were not ready to express opinions publicly.

Supt. Cooley also was noncommittal. He had the attitude of a man seeking ammunition.

"I have been wondering," he said. "I have been wondering just how far this thing would go. I have not reached an end of wondering yet. I am seeking advice. Some is given to me without seeking."

Public discussion of the examination problem will be held at a special meeting to be called by Trustee Jane Addams. The subject will not be discussed Friday night by the school management committee.

May Revive Teachers' Council.

The reorganization of the old teachers' council probably will be incorporated in the report of the subcommittee of the school management appointed to devise some scheme whereby the teachers and superintendents could have a voice in the problems that come before the board. Dr. Cornelia De Bey is chairman of this subcommittee.

The teachers' council died a natural death two years ago because of the fight made against it on account of the controlling influence of the Teachers' federation. The present is considered a favorable time for reviving it.

HUNT AND MULCAHY PENSIONED

Two Deposed Police Officials Placed on Roll at $900 a Year Without Protest.

The police pension board yesterday placed Nicholas Hunt, the deposed inspector, and Roger Mulcahy, the former lieutenant, who was discharged by the civil service commission, on its rolls. At the board meeting in the city clerk's office the applications of the two former officials were accepted. Each will receive the pension limit of $900 a year.

There was no protest or objection to granting "Nick" Hunt's request, although he is said to be worth $250,000.

Under the rules any official who is retired after twenty years of service and is over 50 years old is entitled to a pension. Both men came within the requirements.

EX-EMPLOYE SUES LOFTIS BROS.

Dr. H. F. Weber of Pittsburg Wants $50,000 for Alleged False Imprisonment and Conspiracy.

Suit for $50,000 damages was begun yesterday against Loftis Bros., jewelers, by Dr. H. F. Weber, former manager for them in Pittsburg. According to Attorney William W. Johnson, the suit is based on false imprisonment and conspiracy to injure Weber's reputation. Loftis, according to the lawyer, charged Weber with conspiracy, to secure mailing lists from the Loftis concern, and placed a warrant in the hands of Constable Dennis Flemming with directions to serve the paper. Later Weber declares the jeweler reconsidered the matter and took him into his private office, where he kept him a prisoner for two hours.

OIL TRUST GOOD, ALL OTHERS BAD?

Lawyer for Defense at Ohio Trial Tells Jury It Excels in Virtue.

ODD ARGUMENT FOR JURY

Closing Oratory of Attorneys Vies in Praise and Abuse of Monopoly.

Findlay, O., Oct. 16.—Taking of evidence in the trial of the Standard Oil company of Ohio for conspiracy against trade was completed today, and it is expected the case will be given to the jury tomorrow. Both the state and defense closed their cases early today after two witnesses had been called and the last document submitted by the prosecution.

Some of the closing oratory which followed, especially that emanating from the defense side, was almost droll. Attorney Troup held the Standard Oil trust up as a model, something to be respected and emulated. There are trusts, he said, which were inimical to the laws of the state of Ohio and to any community. They ought to be wiped out. As illustrations he mentioned the "bridge trust" and "grocers' trust." But he said the Standard Oil company "is not that kind of a trust."

"The Standard Oil trust—I don't care what you call it," he said—"is a tremendous, but legitimate, growth, because it has behind it brains and character."

All Good at 26 Broadway.

He asked the jury if they had ever heard of the men at 26 Broadway, New York, who were behind the Standard, ever owning private yachts, or betting on horses, or indulging in worldly follies—"No." These gentlemen were earnest workers. He asked the jury if they would not individually be proud to have their sons or some of their relatives appointed to a position with the Standard Oil company. "Of course you would."

He maintained that the men at 26 Broadway, New York, had helped the country and the county of Hancock. It was true they had carried on their business for their own benefit, but they had also helped and not hindered the development of the country. To drive them out of business would cut off $30,000 a year from Hancock county in taxes. Getting back to the evidence in the case, he said no one denied the defendant was in the trust in 1882. A trust was not then contrary to any statute. In 1892 it was ordered to withdraw from that trust. It had done so in good faith. He maintained there was not a single syllable of evidence to show that the defendant company had ever renewed its connection with the trust. Mr. Troup concluded by asking who in Hancock county had been injured by the Standard Oil company of Ohio. No one made and complaint.

Same Old Trust, State Declares.

Prosecutor David opened the argument for the state. He said it had been proved that the Standard of New Jersey owned all the shares of the stock of the local companies, except one share each owned by the resident directors, a requirement of the state laws. Each one of these subsidiary companies, he said, had a separate function to perform in the oil business and they might as well be called the producing department, the gathering department, the refining department, and the distributing department.

"We have shown," he said, "that John D. Rockefeller, William Rockefeller, Flagler, Archbald, Rogers, are today the heads of these companies. These men were of the nine original trustees in the trust."

St. Louis Trial Continued.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 16.—The hearing of the state's ouster suit against the Standard, Waters-Pierce, and Republic Oil companies was resumed today for the presentation of testimony in defense, but was continued until Nov. 8. The statement was made by Attorney General Hadley that he had found on looking over the official copy of the proceedings of the former hearing that H. Clay Pierce, chairman of the Waters-Pierce Oil company, had ordered the official stenographer to change some of the testimony he had given at that time. This would greatly affect the case, said Attorney General Hadley, and he entered a firm objection.

Indict Oil Trust in Indiana.

Jackson, Tenn., Oct. 16.—The grand jury of the special term of the United States District court today indicted the Standard Oil company of Indiana. The charge is transportation of separate carloads of oil at rates discriminating in favor of the Standard Oil company of Indiana, covering alleged illegal shipments for the last three years. The indictment contains 1,524 counts involving a maximum total fine of $30,480,000. The indictment is the outcome of the investigation made by Commissioner Garfield.

ALLEGES COMBINE IN GRAIN TRADE

President of Farmers' Elevator Association Charges Discrimination.

LOCAL MEN UNDER FIRE

Dealers Are Accused of Using Unlawful Means to Ruin Competitors.

Lee Kincaid of Adrian, Ill., president of the Illinois Farmers' Elevator association, in testifying before the interstate commerce commission yesterday, charged the "regular" elevator proprietors and grain dealers of the state with employing unfair methods of competition to force the farmers' elevators out of business and alleged unlawful discrimination by the railways to aid them in carrying out their plans.

Chicago grain men were alleged to be in combination to hold down grain prices and to be employing a method of "forcing" grain into their own elevators in such a way as to evade the state law.

These were the main features of the day's hearing under the La Follette resolution.

Mr. Kincaid, who is a farmer and banker, said Milo Leach of Springfield, a farmers' elevator operator, received a letter from Bartlett, Frazier & Carrington of Chicago last June in which he was told that if he would not cease overbidding that firm in the purchase of grain the firm would "ruin" him by advancing the price beyond his reach.

Makes Charge Against Railways.

The railroad against which Mr. Kincaid made the most serious charge is the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern.

"The road has discriminated against us in furnishing cars," he asserted, "and also in the matter of freight rates. We found out some time ago that it was giving the regular elevator man at Farmingdale, Edwin Beach, a 6 cent rate to St. Louis, while it was charging the farmers' elevator 8 cents. The fact was given away by a substitute agent who came to take the place of the regular agent while he was sick. We later found that the farmers' elevators at Pleasant Plains and Ashland were discriminated against in the same way. We have laid the facts before the attorney general of Illinois, and expect to bring suit against the road for $5,000 damages."

Mr. Kincaid said there are 150 farmers' elevators in Illinois, and that everywhere they are located the regular elevator companies raise the price of grain 2 or 3 cents. He admitted that a number of farmers' elevators have a penalty clause in their contracts under which a stockholder may be fined 1 cent on every bushel of grain which he sells to another concern, but said he knew of only two instances in which it had been enforced.

How Competition Is Checked.

George E. Marcy, president of the Armour Grain company, and also of the Armour Elevator company, described the way in which the Chicago board of trade prevents competition in the purchase of grain. At the close of each day's session of the board, he stated, the last call is posted, and no member may bid more than that amount for grain in the country until the next day.

"As a grain dealer cannot house his own grain in Illinois, a practice has grown up in Chicago," Mr. Marcy said, "by which the elevator man owning grain which he wishes to store in his own house sells it to a broker and immediately buys a future upon it, which he pays ⅛ of a cent per bushel. The grain, according to a previous tacit understanding, is then placed in the elevator of the holder of the future, and the penalties of the law are avoided. The elevator man depends upon the elevation charge to reimburse him for the brokerage charge."

Mr. Marcy emphatically denied that the Armour Elevator company has been guilty of discriminatory favors from the railroads, as formerly stated it has to pay rent to the Burlington and other lines from which it leases elevators, and gave the figures of several rentals, which were of substantial size.

Combine of Chicago Elevators.

The testimony of James Pettit, president of the Peavey Grain company, developed the fact that up to sixty days ago six big Chicago elevator companies were in a combination the object of which was to restrain competition among themselves and also to protect them from the competition of others. The combination was dissolved when the railway rate law went into effect. The companies in the combination were the Peavey Grain company, the Armour Elevator company, the Calumet Elevator company, the Central Elevator company, the South Chicago Elevator company, and the J. Rosenbaum Grain company.

He pointed to lay the agreement before the commission today. It provided, among other things, for a pool into which each company paid three-fifths of a cent for every bushel of grain it stored. Any company which violated the agreement and thereby got business from another party to it was subject to a fine which should be taken from the pool.

At the morning session Richard Gamble, a board of trade member, declared that a rule forbidding members from bidding in country more than the last call for grain in Chicago is "killing" Chicago as a grain market.

"If that rule is permitted to stand," declared Mr. Gambrill, "Chicago will soon be a 'one horse' grain market. It puts Chicago in the position of a country village."

Shuts Out the Scalpers.

Judge Kohlsaat in the United States Circuit court formally entered his decree against the ticket scalpers in the case brought against them by the Pennsylvania railroad. He expected soon to enter similar decrees in the other cases pending against them, and when this is done the ticket brokerage business in Chicago will be practically a thing of the past.

The western railways have appointed the following traffic experts to confer with the committee representing the Interstate commerce commission in an effort to devise a simple and uniform method of making and publishing tariffs: Elmer H. Wood, general freight agent Union Pacific; George Somers, assistant freight vice president Burlington; F. A. Leland, assistant general freight agent Katy; W. H. Goodwin, chief clerk to the passenger traffic manager of the Southern Pacific; W. G. Comstock, assistant general passenger agent Rock Island, and B. H. Payne, assistant general passenger agent Missouri Pacific.

To Relieve Traffic Congestion.

The Central and Western Association Service Experts will meet tomorrow at the Palmer house to devise some plan for relieving present traffic congestion. It will also try to evolve a scheme for preventing future shortages.

Its recommendations will be submitted by the American Railway association when it convenes here next week.

The interstate commerce commission has ruled that party rates could not be made especially in favor of theatrical companies, baseball companies, etc., as heretofore, but when made must be open to the public. The executive committee of the Western Passenger association has decided to inform the commission politely that the United States Court of Appeals a few years ago sustained the refusal of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad to obey a demand of the commerce department that it extend the same rates to groups of soldiers as to others. The contention that the railway's refusal did not constitute discrimination under the law. The commutation clause was the same then as now.

SUGAR REBATE TRIAL ON.

CASE AGAINST N. Y. CENTRAL AND OFFICIAL IN FULL SWING.

Sum of $26,000 Refunded to Trust Involved in Prosecution—Railroad to Sacrifice Officers but Fight Own Indictment Hard—Letter Pleading for Special Rates for Edgar Firm and Reply Granting Them Read in Court.

New York, Oct. 16.—[Special.]—The trial of the New York Central railroad company and its former assistant, but now chief general traffic manager, Frederick L. Pomeroy, on charges of giving rebates on west bound sugar shipments to the American Sugar Refining company in 1903 and 1904, got into full swing in the criminal branch of the United States Circuit court today.

Several witnesses testified that the sugar trust had a separate department with a separate bank account for the traffic business of the combine. Letters were put on record showing that Lowell M. Palmer, head of the traffic department of the trust, had asked Pomeroy for a rate of 18 cents a hundred pounds on west bound sugars, the tariff being 23 cents, and that Pomeroy had granted the low rate—the refund of 5 cents off the tariff rate to be made by voucher.

$26,000 in Rebates Involved.

United States District Attorney Stimson, in his opening statement to the jury, outlined the indictment, which alleges the giving of some $26,000 in rebates on sugar to the trust in and before 1904. He wished it understood that all the transactions complained of had taken place before President Roosevelt began his agitation for the rate bill.

After the tariff lists for the years involved had been put in evidence, then Lowell M. Palmer went on the stand. Palmer's memory proved to be poor on the point as to whether he had been a director of the American Sugar Refining company of New York at the time of the alleged violations of the Elkins law, although he said he was a director of the New Jersey Sugar Refining company, another of the big branches of the trust.

The jury then was excused while the counsel had a tilt over the admission of letters which Mr. Stimson believes will prove the company and its officers guilty of the rebating charged. He said in September, 1904, he had written to the railroad's counsel asking it to produce in evidence the large number of letters between witness, Mr. Palmer, and Nathan L. Guilford, then general traffic manager of the road, but since promoted to be vice president. The letters had not been produced up to date.

Counsel for the railroad company then made a move which generally is construed to mean no great resistance will be made to the charges against Guilford and Pomeroy, indicted jointly with the road, but every effort will be put forth to prevent the conviction of the New York Central.

Incriminating Letters Read.

The most important of the two letters referred to, amid a volley of objections from Mr. Fox was put into evidence. Palmer admitted signing the letter attributed to him and the next witness, Arthur B. Holmes, private secretary to Guilford, said it got to Pomeroy all right.

The letter from Mr. Palmer to Mr. Pomeroy, which is marked "personal and confidential," bears the date of April 11, 1904, and read in part:

"A serious state of affairs seems to threaten in regard to shipments of sugar to W. H. Edgar & Son. Edgar is in a trying position in the state of Michigan, with the severe competition that he is experiencing with the Michigan beet sugars, and with Arbuckle Bros., and it seems quite certain from the position that he has taken that something must be done for him in the way of rates this season. I think that if we could arrange to give him a net rate of all rail of 18 center per hundredweight to Detroit and the same relative basis to other Michigan points we could make an arrangement with him whereby these shipments could be confined strictly to New York Central and West Shore fast freight lines throughout the entire year. If some arrangement of this kind cannot be made it is quite certain that Edgar's business will be put on the canal and rates arranged on it by himself beyond Buffalo. If such a course is pursued it will simply mean the disintegration of the present understanding for the division of the sugar traffic. In order to help out in this matter and to keep Edgar's sugar off the canal, I on my part would be willing to accept on their shipments 3 cents per hundredweight instead of the regular 4½ cents.

Mr. Pomeroy replied to this on April 26, 1904, undertaking "to handle Edgar's shipments for Detroit and such shipments as are to be reforwarded from there to points on the Michigan Central railroad at the rate of 18 cents per 100 pounds, New York to Detroit, all rail shipments to be billed at tariff rates and refund to be made by voucher."

VEAL AND POULTRY MEN GET RULING ON INSPECTION LAW.

Farmers Who Sell Stock to Commission Merchants Will Be Provided with Certificates of Exemption.

The committee recently appointed by the Chicago Veal and Poultry association to confer with President Roosevelt and Secretary of Agriculture Wilson regarding the provisions for the inspection of meat in this city under the new law, reported yesterday that concessions had been granted whereby the members of the association who are known as commission men now are to secure justice equally with the packers.

The original law provided that all stock should be inspected by federal inspectors stationed in Packingtown. The veal and poultry commission men held that this section of the law denied them the privilege of buying stock and competing with the packers.

A committee composed of Newton B. Partridge, Irwin Cougle, F. A. Kelley, W. J. Margraf, and Congressman Martin B. Madden laid the matter before the president at Washington, and Mr. Partridge reported to the association that hereafter farmers selling stock to commission men are to be supplied with certificates of exemption which are to be used in lieu of federal inspection tags in vouching for the meat sold. In this way the federal inspection for privately sold stuff outside the stockyards is to be done away with. The report was accepted and a vote of thanks was given to the committee and to Congressman Madden.

A committee was appointed to endeavor to secure some provision for tagging meat that is to be shipped out of Chicago by private buyers. Its members are J. R. Collins, George Hough, H. F. Batteman, Irwin Cougle, and Frank Hyland.

SOUTH SHORE CLUB IS FINED.

Manager Admits Selling Liquor Without License and Maximum Penalty Imposed—Case to Be Appealed.

On the advice of George P. Merrick, attorney for the South Shore Country club, Water McNally, manager of the club, who was arrested two weeks ago on complaint of the Hyde Park Protective association on a charge of selling liquors at the club without a license, pleaded guilty yesterday in Justice Caverly's court and was fined $100 and costs, the maximum penalty.

The case was disposed of in less than five minutes, and before the arrival of a delegation which was expected in the court from the Hyde Park Protective association.

Attorney Merrick said he would appeal the case to the Criminal court.

POLITICS BOGY OF UNION LABOR.

Leaders in Convention at Streator Unable to Mix Two Forces.

COHEN ATTACKS GOMPERS

Head of Illinois Federation Sees Dissension if Advice Is Followed.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Streator, Ill., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—If there is in existence some mysterious power of alchemy which will unite politics and unionism, Illinois labor leaders, who gathered here today in annual state labor convention, would like to discover it.

The political priests of labor are at sea over the program to be followed in Speaker Cannon's district. Samuel Gompers has ordered a fight on Mr. Cannon in the coming election. Local leaders are willing to carry out the orders, but are wondering how it is to be done without incurring the enmity of the United Mineworkers, the leading labor organization in Illinois.

John H. Walker of Danville, member of the Miner's union is in Streator supported by about sixty miner delegates who are advocating the indorsement of his candidacy against Congressman Cannon. The trouble is Walker is a candidate on the socialist ticket.

The American Federation of Labor, and particularly President Gompers, it is admitted, never will stand for supporting a socialist. Walker's friends see the difficulty, but demand his indorsement on the ground that he is a trade unionist. The miners, incidentally, control about one-third of the delegates in the convention. W. D. Ryan, secretary of the Illinois miners, says if the federation does not indorse Walker it will have to answer to the United Mine Workers.

Labor Leader Hits Gompers.

To add to the confusion of the situation, President Barney Cohen of the state labor body in the morning session of the convention took a direct slap at Gompers' political policy.

"The history of the labor movement," said President Cohen, "has been that where political action has been taken by the union that body has been rent by dissension and personal jealousies, and there is no reason to doubt that history will repeat itself."

Realizing that political action probably will be the keynote of the convention, President Cohen devoted considerable space to the subject in his report. He advocated "individual" activity instead of an "organization" movement.

"I believe it is the duty of every organized man to take an active interest in politics," he said, "but the place for him to do it is in a ward club. I care not to which party he belongs, not necessarily to any party, but if he attends meetings of political parties and spends a little of his personal time in investigating he will have no trouble in finding out who are the best men. I do not believe, however, that it is the business of trade unions to dabble in politics."

Divorces Politics and Unionism.

Speaking afterwards regarding the establishment of an independent political party, which the convention will discuss, Mr. Cohen said:

"I do not believe a political party will be launched at this meeting. Politics and unionism have no interests in common; politics should not be infused into unionism."

President Cohen recommended in his annual report a strong labor lobby at Springfield, but advised experts to secure legislation that should be confined to two or three main lines. The most desirable act for labor at present, he said, is the passage of a law making employers liable for injuries to workmen even though the accident is caused by a fellow laborer.

Thirty-eight new organizations were reported to have joined the state federation since a year ago.

"The record for the year," said President Cohen, "may be told in one word, 'victory.'"

Secretary-Treasurer J. F. Morris reported $772.81 in the treasury.

The scramble for offices promises to be lively, as usual, although the spectacular feature is lacking in the absence of Martin B ("Skinny") Madden. President Cohen announced he will not stand for reelection a fourth time, and his successor will be either Edwin R. Wright, president of the Chicago Typographical union, No. 16; John J. Brittain, treasurer of the Chicago Federation of Labor, or W. A. Eskridge of Belleville. About 175 delegates are attending the convention.

Cause Fight at Washington.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Representatives Snapp and Rainey of Illinois and other congressmen who desire the indorsement of labor precipitated a sharp fight last night at the meeting of the Central Labor union of this city.

"We ought to have more labor and less politics in this body," said Secretary Winslow of the organization. "About six weeks more of this and you won't have a central body."

In spite of this warning the union indorsed the candidacy of the Illinois members named and Hunt of St. Louis, Stanley of Kentucky, and others.

Admirals to Be Guests at Banquet.

Admiral Robley D. Evans of the United States navy is to be the honored guest at the annual banquet of the Alumni Association of Illinois from the United States Naval academy, which will be held at the Auditorium hotel Nov. 14. He will speak on "The New Navy." Rear Admiral George Brown and Rear Admiral J. C. Watson will speak on "The Old Navy."

NO DAWDLING

Man of 70 Years Found Coffee Hurt Him. Stopped Short.

See Below;

When a man has lived to be 70 years old with a 40 year old habit grown to him like a knot on a tree, chances are he'll stick to the habit till he dies.

But occasionally the spirit of youth and determination remains in some men to the last day of their lives. When such men do find any habit of life has been doing them harm, they surprise the Oslerites by a degree of will power that is supposed to belong to men under 40 only.

"I had been a user of coffee until three years ago—a period of 40 years—and am now 70," writes a N. Dak. man. "I was extremely nervous and debilitated, and saw plainly that I must make a change.

"I am thankful to say I had the nerve to quit coffee at once and take on Postum without any dawdling, and experienced no ill effects. On the contrary, I commenced to gain, losing my nervousness within two months, also gaining strength and health otherwise.

"For a man of my age I am very well and hearty. I sometimes meet persons who have not made their Postum right and don't like it. But I tell them to boil it long enough, and call their attention to my looks now and before I used it. That seems convincing.

"Now, when I have writing to do, or long columns of figures to cast up, I feel equal to it and can get through my work without the fagged out feeling of old." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read the book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

"There's a reason."

Postum is served in the cafés of the prominent dry goods houses on State street.

POOR SPINSTER MADE RICH

FREAK OF LAW DIVERTS $1,000,000 OF BAKER ESTATE.

Widow of Chicago Man, Unable to Make a Will, Dies Intestate and Third of Big Fortune Passes Not to the Five Children of Her Late Husband but to a Sister, Jennie Phipps, Aged 62, Who Is Living at Troy, N. Y.

Through a caprice of the law a million dollar fortune yesterday passed from a wealthy Chicago family into the hands of an aged spinster of New York state.

Mrs. Anna Baker, widow of W. T. Baker, who died three years ago, died on Monday leaving no will. She was Mr. Baker's second wife and was the stepmother of his five children. The law provides that in case a person fails to make a will any property left shall go to blood relations. Under these circumstances Mrs. Baker's wealth passes not to her stepchildren but into the hands of her own relatives. Consequently her million dollar estate will go to her sister, Miss Jennie Phipps of Troy, N. Y., 62 years old, and her only near relative.

Miss Phipps Starts for Chicago.

Miss Phipps was notified of her sudden rise to the position of a wealthy woman and started immediately for Chicago.

The five persons thus deprived of a third of their father's estate are all well known in Chicago. They are Mrs. Van Wagenen Alling of Lake Forest, at whose residence Mrs. Baker died; Howard W. Baker, assistant general manager of Butler Bros.; Henry D. Baker, Charles Baker of Seattle, and Miss Annie Baker. Their father left no will at his death and their stepmother through the law came into possession of one-third of the estate, which was said to be $3,000,000. Mrs. Baker was suffering from paralysis and was unable to make a will.

Money Not Begrudged.

"We are glad that Miss Phipps and other relatives of our stepmother are to receive her wealth," said Howard Baker, executor of W. T. Baker's estate, last night. "I don't think it amounts to a million dollars. The whole matter has been exaggerated. However, it is true that mother left no will. Consequently none of the money will come to us. But that doesn't make any difference, for the rest of father's property, of course, goes to us. If mother had been able to make a will no doubt she would have done just as the law will do now because she knew that we were well provided for, anyway. Miss Phipps, however, is not penniless as reported. On the contrary, she always has been well provided for. We are all satisfied with the way the estate is to be disposed of."

BANK INDICTMENTS ARE UPHELD

Ex-Judge Abner Smith and Codefendants Must Stand Trial for Obtaining Charter by False Pretenses.

The notice to quash the indictments against the officials of the defunct Bank of America was overruled yesterday by Judge Ben M. Smith in the Criminal court. The defendants in court were former Judge Abner Smith, Gustaf Sorrow, and J. V. Pierce.

In the arguments made about a month ago the defendants claimed that the indictments did not set forth the charge of conspiracy clearly.

"Where the charge in the indictment is that the defendants conspired and agreed together to do an unlawful act—for example, obtaining a bank charter by false pretenses—it is not necessary to set out the pretenses. The said pretenses constitute the people's truth of the unlawful agreement. On this ground the court sustains all of the counts of the indictments which simply charge the defendants with entering into an unlawful agreement to obtain by false pretenses a bank charter.

"The court holds that the language employed clearly shows the character of the defendants' offense committed and the manner of its commitment. Both indictments and each count therein are sustained and the motion to quash overruled."

The state's attorney said the cases would be placed on the call within a month.

THE BUSHEL NOT A BUSHEL.

The fruit dealers who are now under censure for selling fruit in baskets which do not hold the right quantities have made a confession. They have declared, what many a householder discovered long ago, that there is a difference between a "bushel" and a bushel. One of these terms refers to a measure long since abandoned by all good dealers. The other refers to a unit of price. The Britisher who talks of the guinea knows well that there is no coin of that denomination. In like manner, when the grocer or fruit dealer speaks of a "bushel" he has no reference at all to that old fashioned measure mentioned in the arithmetic.

The dealer says that he is the innocent victim of the basket maker's deception. This latter individual makes a nice round basket, with splendid handles. The fruit looks well in it when a bit of netting covers it. But when the purchaser proceeds to remove the contents a big dent is found in the bottom of the basket and the bushel is discovered to be only a "bushel" and the half-bushel nothing but a "half-bushel." One is a unit of measure. The other is a unit of price. There is not a bit of doubt that the basket makers reduce the capacity of the measures they make. But a few stiff fines imposed upon the dealers would soon put a stop to that. If every basket made by a certain firm was to be rejected there would be a change in methods in a remarkably short time.

The "bushel" basket is not alone. It has plenty of company. Not long ago a congressman from Chicago found, on examination, that many a "pound" article contained much less than a pound. A "quart" bottle seldom holds a quart. A "pint" rarely is a pint. The custom has become general in trade to scale and cheat a little everywhere. Even weights which are supposedly accurate are found on testing to be faulty. The shrinkage generally is on the side of the dealer. One never hears of the customer paying twenty cents for "a quarter."

The United States government is working toward a uniform system of weights and measures. For a hundred years things have run along haphazard. The trusting public has been cheated by dealers until it is expected. No one but a city inspector hopes to get a bushel for a "bushel." But a splendid equipment has been provided at Washington for the study of such matters, and the time is not far distant when the laws of the United States will cover cases of fraud in this direction. The bureau of standards has already done much during the short period of its existence. Its influence is sure to be felt everywhere before many years.

THE WEDDING AT ESSEN.

Imperial Germany has given to the world an object lesson in republican simplicity in the marriage of Fräulein Bertha Krupp. It is hard to believe that the "richest young woman in the world," had she been an American, would have been content with a simple village wedding presided over by an obscure country pastor, even had the emperor of Germany condescended to favor the ceremony with his august presence.

When the wife of Alexander Stewart, the millionaire merchant, was reproached for the plainness of her attire, she replied that she could afford to dress plainly and was in a position to set a good example to those who would profit by her encouragement. So Fräulein Krupp might have contended, and possibly did contend, that as a woman of enormous wealth and recognized position it was her privilege if not duty to put the solemnity of the marriage contract and the serious responsibilities of the new life above the extravagant ostentation of money and the pomp of ceremony. If it seemed necessary to spend money at such a time why not devote it to a cause that would benefit a larger number of people, or expend it in a way that would be more generally and enduringly beneficial?

Perhaps it was after meditation of this nature that the bride renounced all brilliancy of wedding display and chose to celebrate her marriage by presenting $500,000 to her workmen's invalid fund. The bridegroom was in no position to rival this generosity, but at least he was so far in sympathy with it as to express to the workmen his desire to maintain with them the cordial relations established by the founders of the works. And the emperor himself, moved by such exhibition of democratic good feeling, saluted the bride as his "dear daughter" and gave to the bridegroom and the workmen in representative evidence assurances of his most distinguished consideration.

There is everything to commend and admire in the simple wedding at Essen, a wedding born in true love and celebrated in the dignity of holiness. And it is pleasant to think that a married life begun so plainly and reverently, and with so marked an appreciation of the responsibilities and opportunities of wealth, will be as long and happy and profitable as it deserves. No better time than the present, with its accumulation of wealth and its love of display, could have been selected for the emphasis of a world text.

NORTHWESTERN R. R. ORDINANCE.

The passage of the ordinance permitting the Northwestern railroad company to build its new station and terminals should not be delayed by the council. It is an improvement which will require considerable time to complete. It is urgently needed and demanded by thousands of persons who use the suburban as well as the through trains. It is a public benefit of such importance that the council should give its consent to the improvement at the earliest possible day.

The property condemned for the use of the road will be amply paid for, and the abutting property will share in the benefit. If no other benefit to the city were secured but track elevation it should still call for prompt consent upon the part of the council, for the contemplated improvement practically means, so far as the Milwaukee division is concerned, track elevation from the station to the north line of Evanston. To learn what that means it is only necessary to look at Kinzie street, which is now rendered almost impassable by the great number of trains crossing it daily. The new station will be a benefit to the public, to the property owners, to the suburbs, and to the railroad, and it will be an injury to no one. There should be no delay, therefore, in granting the permission which the road asks.

While the new station and terminals will be an enormous improvement, yet in less than twenty years the station will be found too small and the company will realize that it would have been better if it had bought two blocks instead of one, east and west, and had laid forty tracks instead of twenty. It is the history of great public improvements that they are outgrown almost before they are completed. This has been the case with the new postoffice building. The Lake Shore station, which was considered large enough at the time it was built, should have been twice as large. It is now just about the size to fit Cleveland, but is wholly unworthy of Chicago. The Illinois Central station, which was supposed to be large enough when it was built and a genuine improvement, is already out of date and a failure as a first class station. It never was good for much, and such facilities as it had were long ago outgrown. The worst failure of all is the Union station on the west side, which is a disgrace to the Pennsylvania road and to the city. It is unclean, insanitary, unsystematic, inconvenient, insufficient, and destitute of a suspicion of architectural beauty. It is warm in summer and cold in winter, dangerous, small, dirty, and abominable. The Polk and Harrison street stations are not much better.

But the Union station, for which the Pennsylvania railroad is responsible, is such a violator of all the decencies and proprieties as to suggest that if there is a law regulating such offenses in this state it ought to be enforced, and if there is not such a law there ought to be one.

NO MEAN CITY.

The relatives of an American girl who has been having some trouble with the Russian police at the frontier suggest that she probably gave her residence as Chicago while her passport gave her real residence, a small town in Iowa. This discrepancy naturally aroused suspicion in the breast of the Russians, who have no official or other knowledge of the fact well known to Americans abroad that travelers like to claim residence in a city likely to be known by name to foreigners. One rarely finds in the list of arrivals at European resorts names registered from Evanston, Aurora, Laporte, or Davenport. Everybody from the middle west is from Chicago. Not that Tarsus was a mean city, but because Roman citizenship meant more, Paul claimed the consideration due a Roman. Creston, Ia., is a nice town, but Chicago is better known.

Chicago makes no objection to this use of the greater name. The foreign idea of the size, the wealth, and the importance of Chicago is heightened thereby quite as much as the foreign estimation of the traveler who claims Chicago as his home. Chicago is ready to welcome this voluntary assumption of citizenship by any whose conduct is creditable. The city has been wild for a week over the expertness in the national game of some forty men who played under the Chicago banner, but not one of whom was a resident of the city before he joined one of the Chicago ball clubs. As Paris has reached its high position among the cities of the world by drawing to itself the finest flower of all France, so it is natural that Chicago should attract the aspiring minds of all the inland empire of which it is the metropolis. In return the inland metropolis can afford to make the concession of the Chicago name to those whose unachieved ambition to become actual residents of the city leads to this form of recognition of Chicago's supremacy.

The people of this city are singularly modest, to such an extent, indeed, that an association has been formed recently to induce Chicago merchants to advertise the merits of the place. The truth is that there has never been any need for pushing into prominence. We are advertised by our loving friends. The praises of Chicago are sung in foreign ears by voices which never swelled the roar of the city's babel. The magnate of his little town, the student who has passed a few hours in Chicago between trains, the earnest leader of the local woman's club, all the fortunate people from down state who make the European tour, write Chicago after their names and tell of the city's wonders. Theirs is an innocent affectation and no one begrudges them their pride in passing as genuine Chicagoans.

BASEBALL AS A BUSINESS.

A good many people who joined the excited crowds in attendance upon the games for the world's championship in baseball must have had a thought of the money there was in it for some one. The total receipts are said to have been $106,000. Out of this the club owners took $62,493 as their share. Each member of the winning team received $1,872 counting in the division of the check for $15,000 given by the generous Comiskey. Each of the losers carried away $439. All around it was a profitable week for everybody.

There are indications, too, that this prosperity connected with the game during the season of 1906 was not limited to the series just finished. The statement is made upon good baseball authority that the Chicago National league club cleared $100,000 this year. Those who have seen the large crowds at the American league grounds on the south side feel sure that Comiskey will not be financially embarrassed during his hunting trip in the Wisconsin wilds. Even the popcorn man, with his daily sales of 1,800 sacks, has been happy. With plenty of funds in the club treasury the players have not wanted for salaries, and each one, winner or loser, closes the season with his prize money as an extra reward for his work.

Attendance figures are never reliable because there is no reason why a club owner should let the public know how he is prospering. But an estimate has been made that nearly 6,000,000 people attended the games in the various cities of the two big leagues, Chicago being nearly a half million ahead of New York, the figures for this city being given as 1,239,502. With a varying scale of prices ranging from 25 cents to a dollar, it is usual to average the people up at 40 cents. On this basis it is plain that Mr. Murphy would receive a nice Christmas present in case the Chicago club should be presented to him by its Cincinnati backer. His club drew over 650,000 patrons during the six months.

These considerations make it clear that a good baseball club, well managed, is a paying investment. It is reported that the Boston National league club has been sold for a large amount. This club has trailed along in the rear of the procession for several years. Yet its owners have been reluctant to let it go. Now and then a "sale" of a player is reported for $10,000. An occasional outlay of the sort is a profitable venture. The careful owner looks at the game from the standpoint of financial returns and plans accordingly. He "buys" a player as a manufacturer invests in an improved machine. He expects to get the money back in some way. If in game after game the grand stands overflow the suggestion is pertinent that larger stands would yield a profit. Some clubs no doubt lose money. But there are others where the owners are getting rich out of an appreciative public. Baseball is a great national game. It is also a good business venture under favorable conditions.

One of the latest portraits of Rudyard Kipling is a snapshot taken by his wife. It shows him as he looks while on his farm, but is fatal to his reputation as a hard working farmer. His trousers are creased.

Physicians generally, we are told, oppose any change in the spelling of "phthisis." The extra letters are needed to represent its complications.

The wedding ceremonies are over, and Bertha Krupp Bohlen and her husband are on their gunnymoon.

IN A MINOR KEY.

Had Heard of Them.

The grocer assured her the eggs were strictly fresh.

"Well," said Mrs. Lapsling, "you may send me a dozen. I have a perfect horror of these repoussé eggs the papers are talking about."

Hopeful Sign.

Inquisitive Boarder—"You think the world is growing better?"

Philosophical Boarder—"I do. You rarely see a mother-in-law joke in print nowadays."

Feline Sagacity.

"Speaking of that little dog that saved a family of five persons the other night by running around and barking when the house caught fire," observed the man in the mackintosh, "I've got an old tom cat at my house that once saved nine lives."

"That's easy," butted in the man who had his feet on the table. "He dodged the flatiron that you threw at him."

"Perhaps he got tired of being starved at your house and crawled away to some neighbor's," suggested the man with the baggy kneed trousers.

"Your shrewdness does you infinite credit, gentlemen," said the first speaker, handing each of them a cheap cigar. "Permit me to reward you. But you don't quite guess it. This cat, in nosing around the premises, found a pitcher of cream. He stuck his head down into it. It was a tight fit, but he managed to get his head inside. Then he was in a fix. His nose was in the cream, and he couldn't get his head back through the opening. Any other cat would have suffocated to death inside of——"

"Why," interrupted the man with the green goggles, "didn't he——"

"Jam the pitcher against the floor and break it? I knew you would ask that question. He couldn't. It was made of pewter. I am telling this story, please remember, and don't cut in again. This cat was confused for a moment, of course. Any cat would have been. He clawed around a little, and stuck his tail up in the air, but he didn't make any sound. He had sense enough to know that he couldn't carry on a conversation with the outside world while his nose and mouth were buried in thick cream. He squatted down and seemed to consider the matter. Then he acted. He had made up his mind. He felt his way to the nearest wall, and when he found it he reared up on his hind feet and stuck his head, with that cream pitcher on it, straight up in the air and stood there. That inverted the pitcher, you know, and the cream began to ooze out and run down on the floor. Presently his tail began to wag leisurely, as if to convey the assurance to the watchers that he was all right. He could breathe again. Then he sat down on the floor and proceeded to push the pitcher off his head with his forepaws. He wasn't in any hurry about it. He knew there would be no trouble. The cream had lubricated his head, and it slipped out just as easy as——"

But his hearers had filed out. They said there was a point at which lying ceased to be merely a sin and became a crime. C. W. T.

His Objection.

"Why do you object to your daughter's marriage to a titled stranger?"

"It's simply this," answered Mr. Cumrox. "I don't mind the money, but I object to a son-in-law who is in a position to insist on being addressed as 'your lordship' when I want to make a fuss about his late hours and his expense account."—Washington Star.

LETTER OF MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

Copyright: 1906: By the Marquise de Fontenoy.

HAD the unfortunate May. Alfred Dreyfus been an officer of the German instead of the French artillery it would have been impossible to have restored him to the imperial army after the establishment of his innocence, although other means might have been found of repairing in a measure the wrongs which he suffered. This is not due to any decision on the part of the emperor but to the prejudices of caste among the officers, which even William II. is powerless to modify.

Six years ago the captain of a crack Prussian cavalry regiment was court martialed for dishonesty in connection with the regimental accounts, sentenced to a year's imprisonment in a military penitentiary, and dismissed, of course, in disgrace from the army. On emerging from prison he found means of legally establishing his innocence and of clearing his name of every taint of dishonesty to such an extent that his decorations were restored to him and the war department assigned to him a considerable sum of money by way of damages, and quashed all the records that had unjustly stigmatized him with embezzlement.

But it declined to allow him to rejoin his regiment or to resume his commission as a captain of cavalry. It declared that it could not even place him on the list of half pay officers or on the roster of officers of the reserve or landwehr. The only thing which the war department professed itself able to do for him was to allow him to figure among the former officers who had resigned their commissions of their own accord and had severed their connection with the army without dishonor.

The reason given for this attitude on the part of the army was that a man who had worn the garb of a convict and been subjected to the stigma of a felon, even if unjustly, could never after that be tolerated as a comrade by the officers of the German army, no matter how much his innocence might be established.

This need cause no surprise, for it is entirely in keeping with those ethics according to which if an officer receive a blow or an insult from a man who by reason of social inequality is debarred from meeting him in a duel he is confronted with the alternative of either cutting the man down with his sword, even if his assailant be unarmed, or else he is forced to leave the army as unworthy any longer to wear "the king's cloth" or to associate with other officers as a comrade. And leaving the army in this fashion means social boycott and exclusion from clubs and salons.

It is these same ethics which have within the last decade forced two young officers, bound together by ties of closest friendship and affection, to embark upon a fatal duel with one another, because they happened to have exchanged friendly blows while skylarking. And it is again these ethics which prohibit an officer, under the penalty of the loss of his commission, from firing into the air in the event of his having been forced into a duel with a man against whom he entertains no resentment.

It must be understood thoroughly that these laws, most of them unwritten, originate with the officers themselves, who in each regiment possess the privileges enjoyed by clubs of passing upon the merits of candidates for admission to their corps and of blackballing—that is to say, barring those whom they do not consider likely to become congenial comrades.

It is to this that must be ascribed the remarkable absence of Jews from the commissioned ranks of the German army. The emperor, who entertains no prejudice towards the Jewish race, some of whom are his most trusted counselors and chosen friends, is ready enough to grant commissions to duly qualified Jews. If he refrains from doing so it is only because it is found impossible to assign them to any regiment by reason of the objections of the officers thereof. The kaiser, although the generalissimo of the army, is powerless to run counter to these ethics. Although he, like many others, realizes their injustice, yet even he is obliged to conform thereto.

One of the most picturesque features of Austrian court life is about to disappear, at any rate for a time. Advancing age and infirmity have compelled Francis Joseph to abandon his practice of giving daily private audiences to his subjects. He is the only sovereign in Europe who has kept up until now the medieval custom of granting private interviews to rich and poor alike.

The humblest peasant, even the nomad Tzigan, greasy, wild, and unkempt in appearance, without any home except his canvas covered cart, has until now possessed the privilege of access to his sovereign, and of pouring his wrongs into the ear of his monarch without the presence of any official or attendant.

Nothing used to be more characteristic than the scene in his antechamber at the Hofburg when the emperor is in residence at Vienna. The great room was thronged with cardinals and prelates, generals and statesmen, great nobles and magnates, and mingling with all these high and mighty personages were Bohemian bricklayers, Styrian farmers, peasants from upper Austria, humble shopkeepers from the poorer classes of Vienna, and village priests, all waiting to submit their troubles, their sorrows, their wrongs, and their grievances to "unsern guten kaiser."

It need hardly be added that in accordance with the teachings of the New Testament the village priest would generally be received before the scarlet robed cardinal, the poorly clad peasant before the cabinet minister in his gold embroidered uniform, and the farmer before the great territorial magnate.

Francis Joseph would invariably receive them standing in front of his writing table, against which he would sometimes lean when talking to them. If his visitor was in the least shy or alarmed his manner would immediately become paternal and encouraging, and mentally he would make rapid notes of what his subject had to say, to be remembered at leisure.

Sometimes it was a widow who wanted the discharge of her son from military service, at other times an old soldier anxious for the righting of some error in connection with his pension, or perchance some village priest appealing for financial assistance for his poor. To one and all the emperor would lend a kindly and attentive ear, summoning an aid or secretary to him to make a note of the most important cases, and would then dismiss the visitor with a kindly and paternal nod, frequently extending his hand, which would be kissed by the great and humble alike, partly in affection and partly in token of the deep and reverent homage.

It has been estimated that the emperor has received in this fashion an average of 3,000 people a year during his thirty-five or forty weeks' residence in Vienna. As his mind was on a strain throughout the interviews and he remained standing hour after hour while receiving his visitors, the fatigue was great. It is a fatigue, indeed, which the old kaiser is no longer strong enough to sustain. So, reluctantly, he has yielded to the imperative demands of his physicians and to the entreaties of his daughters, and from now on will only accord audiences in the most urgent cases.

Sometimes odd episodes have occurred at these audiences of the emperor. On one memorable occasion the loud squealing of a pig rang through the lofty antechamber of the emperor in the Hofburg at Vienna. This sound emanated from a small but noisy porker, adorned with ribbons, which was carried in the arms of an elderly woman arrayed in Tyrolean peasant costume. She had traveled a considerable distance in order to implore the sovereign's pardon for some military offense committed by her only son, who was serving in the army, and had brought the sucking pig with her as a gift to the monarch, with a view of propitiating him.

The woman had no trouble in reaching the emperor, although she experienced some difficulty in taking her offering along with her. The emperor, though, insisted that it should not be taken from her, and the pig not only shared its mistress' honor of an imperial audience but was graciously accepted by his majesty, who, of course, arranged to grant the petition which the woman had brought with her.

Nor are pigs the only denizens of the farmyard that have been seen in the antechamber of the emperor, for on St. Martin's day of each year the Jewish inhabitants of the capital present to him, in accordance with the time honored and century old custom, a couple of live and exceedingly noisy fat geese, the biggest of their kind, picturesquely adorned with bows and streamers, as an offering to the monarch by way of gratitude to the crown for the protection accorded to the Jewish race during the preceding twelve months.

NEWS OF THE THEATERS.

BEN-HUR.

A Drama in a Prologue and Six Acts.

Dramatized from Gen. Lew Wallace's Novel BY WILLIAM YOUNG.

Presented at the Auditorium theater, Chicago, Oct. 15, 1906. The cast:

Balthasar	Charles Riegel
Gaspar	Charles J. O'Brien
Melchoir	Charles Lawrence
Ben-Hur	A. H. Van Buren
Messala	John E. Ince Jr.
Simonides	Robert McWade Jr.
Ilderim	Henry Weaver
Arrius	Charles Riegel
Malluch	Charles Lawrence
Esther	Mabel Brownell
Mother of Hur	Margaret Dills
Iras	Helen Singer
Amrah	Stella Boniface Weaver
Tirzah	Blanche Kendall

"Ben-Hur" came to the Auditorium Monday night. It still remains the most stupendous dramatic production of the decade, and there is small doubt that many years will come and go before its real successor is found. It has held the esteem of thousands of theatergoers ever since it first was produced, and it needs but to be announced in order to have large audiences crowd to see it. It is an entertainment to which people go again and again. All classes are its patrons, and many persons whose religious inclinations are such that theatergoing is not a usual pastime with them turn with pleasure and eagerness to "Ben-Hur."

The reason is not difficult to discover. While the Wallace story in its stage form is made outwardly one of the most impressive and elaborate spectacles that the American theater possesses today, its spectacular features do not force the drama into a subservient position. The story told is one that is as general in its appeal as is human sympathy, and it is cumulative in interest. While the eye may be dazzled and the ear pleased, the appeal to the mind is an ever present factor. "Ben-Hur" remains a drama broad in outline, mighty in its claim for sympathy, and beautifully dignified in its presentation.

And throughout the years that have passed since the play first was offered there has been no deterioration in the production itself. Even in the regular theaters where it has been given, it invariably has been done in complete and handsome style. But in the Auditorium it is seen as it can be seen on no other stage in the United States. The spaciousness of that splendid house both in front and behind the footlights make possible pictures, groupings, and effects that are not to be obtained elsewhere. For the present engagement new settings have been provided, and many new costumes and properties prepared, and the result is a beauty and magnificence of production that are truly overpowering. And this beauty and magnificence have in them little suggestion of the garish or the unduly showy. There is a solidity, dignity, and worth about the present presentation that make it both impressive and artistic. It is in every respect a worthy production of a play which, criticise and flaw pick as we may, still remains one of the most effective and appealing dramas now on the American stage.

The "big" scene of the performance—the chariot race—is this year made especially thrilling through the having of five chariots and twenty horses instead of the customary two chariots and eight horses. And this scene still remains the greatest achievement of its kind that the American stage has known. The audience, which comfortably filled the Auditorium Monday night, and the large one which was present last evening, received the race with unqualified enthusiasm. The large chorus, the increased orchestra, and the organ all contribute their part to the completeness of the performance.

The present company is generally adequate. A. H. Van Buren, who appears in the title rôle, is possessed of an heroic physique, which makes him a dominant and towering figure in each scene in which he participates, and his acting throughout is convincing and appreciative. John E. Ince Jr. is the Messala, and, barring a faultiness in delivery, is capable. Robert McWade Jr. as Simonides, Henry Weaver as the sheik, and Charles Riegel, the Balthasar, all are excellent. Margaret Dills gives an effective portrayal as the mother of Hur, and Blanche Kendall is an acceptable Tirzah. Mabel Brownell as Esther lends the part an air of affectation hardly in keeping with the character of the gentle Jewish maiden, and Helen Singer as Iras, the Egyptian, inclines toward overacting in several of her scenes. Stella Boniface Weaver is still the Amrah, and gives a distinctive and impressive performance. The minor rôles are satisfactorily cast, and the many supers comport themselves admirably.

Sunday.

At the Great Northern this week "Sunday," the comedy by Thomas Raceward in which Ethel Barrymore starred two seasons ago, is being given in enjoyable manner. The settings used are the same that Mr. Frohman provided for Miss Barrymore's use, and therefore are wholly satisfactory. The performance, too, is more adequate than usually is the case when a past season success is first placed on the road at popular prices. Nora O'Brien, who last was seen here as the wife in "The Heir to the Hoorah," has the title rôle formerly assumed by Miss Barrymore. She does it with good understanding and with a praisemeriting degree of skill and smoothness. The young actress seems to have conquered in part the ungraceful walk and the affected style of speech which formerly so seriously marred her work. There is now a little more of naturalness and spontaneity in her acting, and if she could but go still farther and do away with her affectations entirely, and learn to walk freely and naturally, she would be a player who might make a desirable place for herself. For she impresses as having talent. As Sunday she is doing pleasing work, her handling of certain scenes—that of the letter reading in the second act for example—being commendable. The cast is of more than usual strength. Frank Gheen plays the two brothers—the good and the bad—and in both of them the richness of his speaking voice, the purity of his English, and the ease and virility of his acting make his performance in high degree satisfactory and commendable. Miss Effie Germon is the Mrs. Naresby and does the sympathetic part admirably. She has distinction in presence and in speech and makes the dear old lady not only appear socially what she should be but a likable woman as well. H. Ogden Crane is the Jacky, Elmer Grandin the Towser, Charles Gibney the Davy, Frank Kendrick the Lively, and Joseph Whiting the Tom Oxley.

This afternoon, commencing at 2:15 o'clock, and this evening at 8:15, Yvette Guilbert, the French "song talker," and Alfred Chevalier, the singer of Cockney songs, will give entertainments in Orchestra hall. The programs arranged include the most successful numbers in each artist's repertory.

Tomorrow evening in Orchestra hall, Dwight Elmendorf will be heard in the third of his travel talks. "Switzerland" is the subject, and report from Evanston, where the lecture was given Monday evening, has it that it is one of the most remarkable and most beautiful of its kind ever presented in the west.

A Yiddish theater is to be opened Friday night in the International theater—formerly Cleveland's—corner Wabash avenue and Hubbard court. Ellis Glickman, who was so successful for years as manager of a similar playhouse on Desplaines street will have charge of the performances, and it is said has brought together a strong company. "Gabriel," an operetta, will be the bill Friday night and Saturday afternoon; on Saturday evening "King Lear" will be presented, and Sunday afternoon and night "The Bowery Tramp" will be done for the first time in Yiddish.

Jane Oaker has been engaged as leading woman for the stock company at the Chicago opera house and will make her first appearance next Sunday as Geraldine in "The Stubbornness of Geraldine," which then is to be given here for the first time at popular prices. W. L. HUBBARD.

PERMANENT OCCUPATION OF CUBA IS URGED BY INSULAR INTERESTS.

Strong Forces at Work In Behalf of American Control, as Recurrence of Bushwhacking Tactics is Feared—Minister Morgan is Declared to Have Acted Without Diplomacy—Rebellion Might Have Been Averted.

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Though the administration has pledged its word to evacuate Cuba at the earliest possible moment, forces are hard at work to secure permanent occupation of the island by the United States.

These forces are not merely American, Cuban, and foreign business interests of the island, but of a large class of intelligent natives, who recall with horror their sufferings in the revolutions against Spain, and a revival of their fears by the opera bouffe performances of the last summer, and who want a stable government capable of maintaining peace and order.

The views of these people will be presented to the president tomorrow night by Secretary Taft and Assistant Secretary of State Bacon, who are expected in Washington tomorrow. Probably Secretary Root will hear them at the same time. It is not conceivable the president adopted his "hands off" policy with respect to Cuba without consultation with Secretary Taft, and, indeed, the latter voiced it in Cuba. But this fact does not necessarily imply that Mr. Taft believes the Cubans capable of an independent self-government. It is an open secret in official circles that renunciation of the policy definitely was determined upon only after Secretary Root returned to Washington from his South American tour.

Power to Call Elections.

Carrying out his declarations that the United States did not seek an inch of Latin-American soil, the secretary instructed Gov. Magoon just before the latter left Washington for Havana to call Cuban elections before Dec. 15, if the situation in the island warranted such action, and if not to postpone them until next June after the sugar crop had been gathered. Official reports which have preceded Messrs. Taft and Bacon state that unless extraordinary and unexpected progress is made elections cannot be held in December or even next June. In fact, there seems to be a general consensus of opinion that American occupation will last a year, if not longer.

These reports have brought home to the administration the solemnity of the obligation it incurred when intervention was undertaken. It pledged itself to restore control of the island to the natives, but not until complete tranquillity prevailed, and this latter condition can be construed if desired to mean only when the Cubans are capable of maintaining a stable government, sufficiently strong to preserve peace and order.

Secretary Taft has pointed out to President Roosevelt that the Palma government failed in the primal motive for existence of government—the preservation of order—and questionably, in calling for American intervention, the deposed president was actuated by the patriotic purpose of saving his country and his people from internecine strife.

Selfish Aims Caused Revolt.

The sole object of the liberal party in inaugurating the revolution was the sordid one of securing possession of the lucrative offices and the purse strings of the government. If the United States confides to that party the control of Cuba—and, as the moderates will not take part in the elections, this must be done—it is improbable there will arise another patriot ready to sacrifice himself for his country's good as Palma did, and the discontented will not long hesitate to "take to the bush" and endeavor to secure power and affluence by the picturesque methods the liberals plagiarized from other Latin-American republics.

The administration is confronted, therefore, with these questions, irrespective of the pledge already given: Can the United States rightfully relinquish Cuba to its people when such relinquishment will lead to a new revolt and necessitate another intervention? If a policy of good faith is to be observed should not American occupation last until the Cubans are able to preserve peace and maintain a government without foreign support? Whichever way the president has looked at these questions he has found but one feasible and satisfactory solution, and that spells annexation.

As a compromise the Cubans could be allowed self-government under American control. That is to say, elections for congress and various other officials may be held, but an American will serve as governor of the island and his authority will be backed up by the American army and navy.

Blame on Minister Morgan.

The fact that practically all of the republican leaders are crying out against the annexation of Cuba because they do not wish to inject a new issue in the congressional campaign necessarily has had tremendous weight with the president and his advisers. There is not the slightest doubt that so far as the administration and the republican party are concerned the Cuban problem could not have come to a head at a more inopportune time.

Perhaps its development could have been delayed or entirely arrested had the American minister to Cuba, Edwin V. Morgan, been more wide awake. The president is deeply disappointed in the minister's work. The latter had served as secretary to the international commission which had settled the outbreak in Samoa in 1899 and recommended a division of the islands among the United States and Germany, which subsequently was done. He was appointed secretary to the American legation at Seoul, Corea, transferred to a post of same rank at St. Petersburg, came to Washington and served in the state department, and then was named as minister to Corea.

When Herbert G. Squiers was recalled from Cuba, Mr. Morgan was named as his successor, and it was believed that his tact and diplomatic experience would enable him not only to maintain the most satisfactory relations with the Cuban government and people but to secure the inside information the authorities in Washington required in order to keep pace with the political intrigues of the island. Mr. Morgan failed; the president has said so. He left his post to enjoy a leave of absence in Europe at a critical time in the history of the government to which he was accredited, and apparently he had no appreciation of the seriousness of the situation.

May Not Retain Minister.

In view of this procedure it is not likely the administration would care to leave to Mr. Morgan the direction of Cuba's new government in case of early withdrawal. It has been noted also that President Palma conducted his negotiations with Consul General Steinhardt, overlooking Jacob Sleeper, secretary of the legation and chargé d'affaires, who outranked his consular colleague.

Mr. Sleeper also made a mistake, which has been condemned officially, in authorizing the first landing of marines in Havana. This step was too sudden, and was disavowed, the marines being withdrawn. Mr. Sleeper's act has had personal consequences, for he was ordered to Washington, and it was suggested he might go to Caracas, Venezuela. It is not certain he will get the latter appointment. It appears the administration had no desire to accord the revolutionists belligerent rights, a recognition they were seeking because of the better international status they thereby would have enjoyed and which they would have claimed had American marines treated with or accepted the surrender of any of their men. Moreover, the president wanted to show to the Cubans and the world that the United States was most reluctant to intervene; and this reluctance was the more desirable because Secretary Root had not yet completed his South American trip.

Future Trouble Predicted.

The United States has been fortunate in effecting occupation of Cuba without trouble, and its possession of strategic points will make concert of action between hostile elements extremely difficult. The army officers who have returned from Havana are confident the bushwhacking and office-seeking spirit will revive even after a period of American occupation. But its career, they believe, will be cut short by the American forces, while it would flourish and wax strong under Cuban rule.

"The insurgents were unorganized, undisciplined, and without skill," said one of these officers today, "and yet they were able to overthrow an organized government. If Palma had desired to continue his power he could have bought support from the ranks of this rabble, and there would have been displayed just as many fireworks, just as many mock heroics in his behalf as there were against him, with the funds at his command he could have kept up a bushwhacking campaign for months, but he did not care to see his country devastated, and he invited American intervention. Thus failed a government, well launched by the United States and protected by it, which represented the best element of the island. What the dominant political party would do is apparent from the appeals of the intelligent classes for American occupation to continue."

There can be no question that the impending conferences of Secretary Taft and Assistant Secretary of State Bacon with the president and Secretary Root will have an important effect upon the policy of the United States with respect to Cuba.

ORIENTAL CLUBS.

[From the Corea Daily News.]

The oriental is passionately fond of club life, and the smaller the degree of personal liberty he enjoys in ordinary life the more intense is his enjoyment of membership in some brotherhood. It does not make much difference what the nature of the club may be; it is the mere joy of club life, irrespective of object or principle, that appeals to him. Having once tasted this joy, he will do much rather than forego a continuance of it.

Oriental society is so constituted that the family, or clan, is the social unit, and not the individual. A man cannot be alone in his punishments, for they are also visited in greater or less degree upon his relatives as well. He cannot enjoy or suffer alone. Now, a club or society is a much smaller organization than society as a whole, and the individual forms a correspondingly larger fraction of it. This is an immense stimulus to self-esteem. The man becomes somebody.

This explains why almost any society, irrespective of its object, can instantly gather a numerous and enthusiastic constituency. Any man with a little tact could go out in the streets of Seoul and in twenty-four hours establish a Society for the Cultivation of Mushrooms on Thatched Roofs, with president, vice president, secretary, treasurer, and executive committee complete, and a membership list as long as a piece of string, if not longer. Why? Simply because membership in "any old" society does just a little to lift a man out of the humdrum of life.

MENTAL ALIENATION IN ENGLAND.

[From the London Hospital.]

From a general summary of the events, catastrophes, and revolutions that mark with a particular impress, the aberrations of the human mind in each country, we are naturally led to inquire into the particular cause of insanity in the different countries where this malady has been observed.

The first remark that suggests itself on this topic is that the expression of madness varies according to the character of each people. By examining the nature of the causes of madness we shall discover the normal state of each nation. In England, where everything that is excessive in a great civilization is to be found, mental alienation is frequent. Many special causes contribute to this, such as ill-assorted marriages, which engender hereditary insanity; hazardous and desperate speculations, the frequency of commercial crises, the increasing fluctuations of political life, the laziness peculiar to the rich, the abuse of fermented liquors, and lastly, the immense number of religious sects.

In France mental derangement is determined by vanity, ambition, pride, as by moderate love of pleasure, skepticism, and love. The sentiment of personality, as the French would call it—that is to say, innate self-love and a certain inconstancy and fickleness of the ideas—were, at the time of the Gauls, as they are now, the distinctive characteristics of that great nation.

PARK EMPLOYES ORGANIZE: CALL WORK DAY TOO LONG.

New Union Will Ask Eight Hour Schedule and Higher Wages—Department Store Drivers' Plans.

The 2,000 men who "spear" paper and flying pieces of débris and make themselves otherwise useful in Chicago's parks are forming themselves into the "Park Laborers' association," and soon will be arrayed against the various boards because of alleged infractions of the state law which provides that each working day shall be of eight hours' duration.

Meetings have been held in the vicinity of each of Chicago's big parks within the last week, and the organization practically is completed. Members of the new labor union assert that the men are compelled to work more than eight hours each day, and that the pay now allowed by the park boards—20 cents an hour—is not sufficient to provide a decent living for their families. The union will demand 25 cents an hour as soon as the organization is completed.

Secretary Frederick W. Job of the Employers' association, said yesterday he had received no intimation of the proposed demands for increased wages on the part of the department store drivers. The union men will forward their demands to each of the State street merchants within a few days.

Little Talks to Home Makers

Number 8 Swift's PRIDE Washing Powder—General Cleaner for the Bathroom

The Bathroom is one of the hardest places in the home to keep bright and clean. Do you agree? There is the tub—hard water makes it so difficult to clean, if you use ordinary soap. Our suggestion—sprinkle a little of Swift's PRIDE Washing Powder in the tub, after you have turned in about an inch of warm water. Then take a soft cloth, work up a suds and wash. You will be surprised how quick and what an easy matter it is. Rinse with clear water.

Nothing compares with Swift's PRIDE Washing Powder for keeping all of the bathroom appliances sweet and hygienic. And then there's the floor, the rug and the towels. Not a thing but what Swift's PRIDE Washing Powder will clean effectively and with the least possible work. Buy a one-pound package from your dealer and make it one of the necessary things in your bathroom.

Swift & Company, U. S. A.

TOASTS TO SPUDS BY LOYAL FANS.

National League Champions Given Warm Reception at Auditorium.

GIFTS FOR EACH PLAYER.

Men Prominent in Civil Life Sing Praises of Chance's Diamond Heroes.

Three hundred and fifty loyal followers of the Spuds gave the winners of the National league championship a rousing reception at the Auditorium hotel last night. In song, speech, and toast Manager Chance and his men were given proof of the high esteem in which they are held, an esteem not dimmed by the loss of the world's championship.

All through the dinner the individual members of the team were greeted with "What's the matter with Chance?" "He's all right!" and so on down the line. Then, as a lasting remembrance, every player was presented with a suit case made of alligator hide, while Manager Chance was given a cabinet dinner service.

Capt. Anson made the presentation speech, and, as soon as he arose, a team of junior Spuds, dressed in white with black caps, filed in front of the players, who were seated at the speakers' table.

Manager Introduces His Men.

Manager Chance introduced each champion, and every one was greeted with some form of baseball salutation.

During the dinner no one backed away from the plate, and when Toastmaster Col. J. Hamilton Lewis opened the after dinner proceedings with three slow raps of his gavel the fans soon reminded him that it was a baseball banquet. "One, two, three, you're out," greeted him, and when he paused for a moment he got "Play ball." From this point on the gathering was informal.

The corporation counsel paid a glowing tribute to baseball players, national athletes whose conquests drew no blood and brought no dishonor. Then he wandered to Rome and the Coliseum, but was brought back to the diamond with "You're the whole works, old boy."

Mayor First to Respond.

Mayor Dunne greeted the assemblage with "Fans and Fellow Rooters," and expressed his delight that, after having thrown the first baseball of the season at the west side park, it was his privilege to be present at the closing of the greatest season in the history of Chicago.

"We have in Chicago," said the mayor, "the two greatest clubs in the United States. By resolution the city council closed up the city offices on Oct. 9 and then sent Capt. Anson up to get me to sign it. When he shook his big fist at me, I did so."

"Cap" Anson told of his twenty-two years of service with the Chicago National league team and of his trips abroad with that team in 1874 and 1888.

In introducing Judge Cutting of the Probate court, who spoke on "Baseball from the Bench," Col. Lewis said he did not think there were any dead ones present, and the judge reminded him that part of his business was to "look after the weakminded, inebriates, and spendthrifts." He was credited with a base hit off Pitcher Lewis.

"No baseball player likes to be benched," continued the judge, "but if you will go into the voting booths you will see many lawyers trying to get on the benches."

"Baseball Abroad"—Ade.

"It is tough luck," began George Ade, "for a minor leaguer to follow speakers who have been batting above .400. I am down to speak on 'Baseball Abroad,' and, as there is none, my speech will be short. I selected the subject myself for that reason.

"In every port where American warships visit baseball is played. The natives watch the play, but few of them have nerve enough to try it.

"There are only two countries where baseball is played properly—America and Japan. All through Japan you can find baseball diamonds, and the little natives have learned to run and field well, and this is about all that is necessary, judging from some games I saw recently in this city." This gentle sarcasm was appreciated by the Spuds.

Murphy Demands Brains.

President C. W. Murphy paid a glowing tribute to his team and praised the sportsmanlike spirit of the players. "The first thing Mr. Chance and myself try to find out about a new man is whether or not he has brains," said the president, "and I think I may safely say we have no 'fatheads' on the team. We lost the world's championship, but there is another season coming, and we hope to land it then. I greatly regret that President Comiskey, one of the grandest sportsmen in America, is not able to be here tonight."

The players present were Manager Chance, Brown, Evers, Hofman, Overall, Lundgren, Tinker, Moran, Schulte, Pfiester, Kling, Gessler, and Trainer McCormick.

Letters of regret were read from Congressman Joe Cannon, Attorney General Moody, Gov. Deneen, Harry C. Pulliam, and James A. Hart.

COMISKEY OFF FOR THE WOODS.

White Sox Magnate, Accompanied by Squad of Nimrods and Rooters, Leaves for Fifield, Wis.

President Comiskey of the world's champion White Sox left last night for Fifield, Wis., at the head of a squad of intrepid nimrods, all White Sox rooters, for their annual attack on the feathered and finny tribes of that section of the state. Tom Loftus, formerly an American league magnate, who posed as chief mascot for the south side team during the world's series, will act as captain of the guides.

The sleeper which the party boarded at the Park row station resembled a moving arsenal when it started on its journey and if one-half the ammunition finds its mark all the promises made by the hunters will be kept. The trip will cover two weeks, it is expected, during which time the rooters will be able to walk off some of the effects of the recent battles on local diamonds.

Secretary Fredericks, who remained to close up some of the affairs of the White Sox season, will leave tomorrow night in charge of a squad of reinforcements, including John P. Agnew and George Thompson, veterans of many similar invasions of Fifield.

B. Dreyfuss Explains.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Several reports have quoted Dreyfuss, the Pittsburg club owner, as saying Charles P. Taft, owner of the Chicago National league club, proposed to turn the plant over to President Murphy as a Christmas gift. "What I said," declared Dreyfuss, "was that when Mr. Taft bought the Chicago club and placed Murphy at the head of it he said Murphy would have the controlling interest as soon as he had taken in enough money to pay for it. The club's receipts this year easily reached the required total, and Murphy is in a position to buy 51 per cent of the stock."

To Rejoin Central League.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Louis Heilbroner, formerly with the St. Louis browns, announced today that plans had been made for Fort Wayne to rejoin the Central league next season under the management of a noted player employed this year in a major league, whose name is withheld for the present. His purpose is to organize a stock company and build grounds only a five minutes ride from the courthouse. Heilbroner claims to have a definite promise of a franchise in the league.

Central League Meeting Called.

Terre Haute, Ind., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—President Carson has called a Central league meeting for Monday at Grand Rapids, when the pennant will be awarded to Grand Rapids, the clubs will take down their guarantee money, and pass on President Carson's financial report. It will be made known that no city is to withdraw. President Carson is expected to make known definitely if he is to be a candidate for reëlection at the annual meeting in January.

Freeport Quits Wisconsin League.

La Crosse, Wis., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—At the annual meeting of the Wisconsin State league this afternoon Freeport withdrew from the organization and Madison was admitted. It was decided to increase the circuit to eight clubs. Applications from Merrill, Winona, Appleton, and Stevens Point were received. Oshkosh and Green Bay will remain in the league. The pennant was formally awarded to La Crosse.

ELI AND TIGER IN FINALS.

MEET TODAY FOR INTERCOLLEGIATE GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP.

Yale Team Disposes of Cornell, 20 to 0, and Princeton Defeats Harvard, 15½ to 2½, in First Round at Garden City Club's Course—Changes in Links Said to Increase Difficulties—Travis' Opponent for Myopia Honors Unknown.

New York, Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Yale, holder of the title, and Princeton will be represented by six players each tomorrow in the final match of thirty-six holes for the year's team championship of the Intercollegiate Golf association. It is to be played at the newly arranged course of the Garden City Golf club, where, in the opening round today, Yale beat Cornell, 20 to 0, although two of the Ithacans halved, and Princeton beat Harvard, 15½ to 2½.

One point for each victory, plus one-half of the holes up, determined the score for each pair. Runner up to Yale last year and twice before that to Harvard for the team championship, the Princeton team is resolved to make a stiff fight tomorrow.

There was a gale from the north, yet Dwight Partridge had an 82. The new changes in the course are pronounced by the boys to increase the difficulties. Partridge was 11 up over Josephy. The other Yale boys had from 85 to 90, and all but two won out. Clow was 4 down with 5 to play, yet secured a half with Stull, while Howland, although 2 down with 3 to play, made another strong finish and broke even with Adler.

Princeton repeated last year's form by beating Harvard in the semi-final. Templeton Briggs, former Boston scholastic champion, caught W. T. West in one of his wild moods and beat him three holes. Briggs was 1 up at the eleventh hole, and won the twelfth in 4 after being bunkered. Gee had Wilder 1 down at the turn, and won out by 4 up. This match was the lowest scoring one, the two teams being 84 and 88. Summaries:

TRAVIS' OPPONENT UNDECIDED.

Darkness Stops Byers-Smith Golf Match at Myopia After Nineteen Holes in Semi-Finals.

Hamilton, Mass., Oct. 16.—Five well contested matches in the invitation golf tournament at the Myopia Hunt club today brought the event almost to the finals, with Walter J. Travis of Garden City as one of the survivors.

Darkness stopped an exciting match between Eben M. Byers of Pittsburg, the national champion, and W. P. Smith of Philadelphia at the nineteenth hole, and the players will continue their contest tomorrow morning, the winner playing Travis a 36 hole match for the trophy.

The best contest which reached a decision was that between Travis and W. C. Chick of Oakley, which the Garden City player won on the last green. Byers put out Hugo R. Johnstone of the local club in the morning round, 5 up, 4 to play. Travis found Arden M. Robbins, his clubmate from Garden City, a strong opponent. Summary:

Second round—W. P. Smith, Philadelphia, defeated T. G. Stevenson, Myopia, 5 up, 4 to play; Eben M. Byers, Pittsburg, defeated H. R. Johnstone, Myopia, 5 up, 4 to play; W. J. Travis, Garden City, defeated A. M. Robbins, Garden City, 3 up, 2 to play; W. C. Chick, Oakley, defeated F. W. Whittemore, Country club, 2 up, 1 to play.

Semi-finals—Byers and Smith, even up, 19 holes [unfinished]; Travis defeated Chick, 2 up.

Colman, 6 up 4 to play, after the vanquished golfer had several hard breaks in hard luck. Mr. Thompson disposed of W. L. Wells, a former holder of the H. C. Chatfield-Taylor cup, 2 up.

Miss Brandon yesterday won the Hardy cup at the Calumet Country club, defeating Miss Caroline Painter in the finals, 6 up 4 to play. RIOT MAY AFFECT RACING.

Scene at French Track on Sunday Results in Government Stopping Sport at Longchamps.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, Oct. 16.—The effect on racing in France and perhaps in other countries of last Sunday's riot at Longchamps may be considerable. That the government would take cognizance of the affair was a foregone conclusion, and its decision announced after the meeting of the cabinet today was that there be no more racing at Longchamps this season.

The greatest significance of the determination of the authorities to suppress racing at Longchamps for the present is to be found in the attitude of M. Lepine, prefect of police, who formally informed M. Ruau, minister of agriculture, he refused to hold himself responsible for the maintenance of order next Sunday if the races were held at Longchamps.

The reason was that, now that the lawless elements have found out how easily the betting booths could be robbed, they will turn out in such force on Sunday, especially in view of the crippled condition of the Longchamps buildings, where temporary booths have been erected, that they would sweep everything if they once had a good start unless the troops took extraordinary measures. Consequently the races next Sunday are to be held at Chantilly, which is far enough away from Paris to keep the mob from getting there.

Nobody believes the reports that the bookmakers started the riots because the outbreak clearly was spontaneous. Bookmakers who have been debarred from the French tracks for little more than a year have plenty of friends who are willing to assist them in securing a change of law which will permit them to return and do business. It is held in some quarters, especially among the foreigners, that the blow administered the Paris mutuals last Sunday may discourage the attempt to get this system of betting readopted in America. Opponents of gambling use the riot incident to denounce the government for encouraging racetrack betting, the Paris mutuals being protected by the government and the extremists will ask parliament to suppress this form of betting.

ROSEBEN BREAKS WORLD'S RECORD

Champion Sprinter, at 1 to 80, Runs 7 Furlongs in 1:22 and Wins at Belmont Park.

PERFORMANCE A WONDER

Former Mark Beaten by 1½ Seconds; Owner Johnson Scores Big Winning on Race.

New York, Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Roseben ran a wonderful race against time over the Belmont park main track today. With 126 pounds on his back he turned seven furlongs in 1:22, a new world's record, and incidentally enabled his owner, David C. Johnson, Frank J. Farrell, Jesse Lewisohn, and others to cut up $30,000 in winnings on the proposition the champion sprinter would beat 1:25½.

The best record for seven furlongs straightaway up to today was 1:23½, made by Belle B. at Monmouth park in July, 1890, while the previous world's record around a turn was 1:24⅘, hung up by Shields' Halifax, with 119 pounds up, in the Swift stakes at Sheepshead Bay last June. Halifax on that occasion clipped a fifth of a second off the record made in August, 1902, by Musketeer at Saratoga, which has since been equaled by Aeronaut and Sewell, the 2 year old which performed the stunt at Belmont only last Monday, with 100 pounds on his back.

Other Racers Scared Away.

Roseben was entered in the handicap on Monday with 152 pounds, but Owner Johnson withdrew him so he could cinch the fifth race today, in which Roseben got in with 126 pounds. Johnson expected to get some action in the betting ring, as there were thirteen other starters. But Roseben looked so invincible the owners and trainers, barring one, concluded to scratch. This left only the 2 year old Salvator gelding Beauclere to oppose the mighty son of Ben Strome-Rose Leaf.

When the jockey board was raised the crowd laughed and took the trouble to go into the betting ring, where the layers quoted 1 to 80 against Roseben and 60 to 1 against Beauclere. George Rose wagered $800 on the big sprinter to pick up $10, which he said would pay for theater tickets.

Then another heavy operator from California, known around the tracks as Little Pete, who once was a waiter and afterwards a barber before he became a turf plunger, wagered $5,000 to win $50. Meanwhile Dave Johnson, Frank Farrell, and a few others wagered $30,000, of which $20,000 was taken by "Cad" Doggett, that Roseben would break the record.

Breaks from Post Like Whirlwind.

Shaw broke Roseben away from the post like a whirlwind. Johnson stood near the judges' stand with his split second watch in hand, while the clockers in all parts of the grand stand were busy. Roseben, in the teeth of the gale that had been lifting hats off all afternoon, ran the first furlong in :12. Then he turned the first quarter in :23⅘, and reached the three-eighths pole in :35⅕. The half was covered in :46⅘, at which point Roseben had reached the middle of the far turn fully thirty lengths in front of Beauclere. As he rushed into the homestretch Shaw was seen to be hurrying the big sprinter, and the cry went up:

"He's after the world's record."

Many timers caught Roseben at the three-quarters in 1:10⅗, a world's record in itself, although it is not accepted, of course. As the wonderful racehorse dashed down past the field stand, then grand stand, Shaw was riding as if for his life. There was not a faltering stride, not a sign of weariness, as Roseben rushed on amid the wild cheers of 12,000 men and women, whose blood churned to the boiling point. Shaw did not relax as he reached the wire, but worked Roseben out fully a mile, which he covered in less than 1:40, as he was tiring at the end of that trip. He won the race by twenty-five lengths, Beauclere running the distance in 1:26⅘.

Wild Scene at Finish.

When Timekeeper Barretto hung out 1:22 there was a sensational scene. Hats were thrown in the air and hundreds rushed to the judges' stand to cheer Roseben and Shaw. Johnson leaped for joy and was warmly congratulated. No sooner had Roseben been led to the paddock than General Manager S. S. Howland hurried up to Johnson and said:

"If you will run Roseben on Saturday at a mile to beat Salvator's world record of 1:35½ the Westchester Racing association will offer $5,000 and a gold cup to go to you if the record is broken."

"If Roseben recovers from today's race all right it is a bargain," replied Johnson. It will be definitely settled tomorrow. Roseben, if he makes the attempt, will carry not less than 110 pounds, the burden shouldered by Salvator when he made his record.

Stake Race to Tourenne.

F. A. Forsythe's Tourenne, a 12 to 1 shot, made a runaway of the Rancho del Paso stakes, for 2 year olds at six furlongs. He broke in front and simply towroped the others, hurrying to the judges five lengths before James R. Keene's Philander, which beat Sewell by a head. Sewell in turn had a head over Fantastic.

John E. Madden's Saylor, at 16 to 5, got a clever ride from Sewell in the first race, for maidens at a mile. Sewell waited while Gypsy King, Young Davis, and Deuce showed the way. Then Sewell went to work, Saylor moving up on the rail and drawing away, winning by a length and a half. Gypsy King was second and Deuce third.

In spite of a bad looking ride by Roy, Bound Brook, the 7 to 10 favorite, managed to win the steeplechase by a head from J. E. Widener's Caller. F. Ambrose Clark's Maximilian looked the winner up to the last jump, where he fell.

Yale Loses Two Oarsmen.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—For the first time Yale oarsmen have begun the fall work of forming a varsity eight before the fall regatta. The varsity crew as made up by Capt. Noyes for the first practice of the year, follows: Stroke, Boulton; No. 7, Ide; No. 6, Capt. Noyes; No. 5, Peyton; No. 4, Meyer; No. 3, Rice; No. 2, Graham; and bow, Rockwell. Capt. Noyes is disappointed at the loss of two promising oarsmen in Schunemann, who stroked the varsity four last year, and Howe of the freshman eight. Schunemann decided not to return to college. Howe cut off a thumb during his vacation while trying to operate a buzz saw and is unable to hold an oar.

STAGG GIVES CHALK TALK

COACH SHOWS PLAYERS THEORY OF NEW FOOTBALL RULES.

Midway Leader Inaugurates Night Practice at Reynolds Club and Illustrates Novel Plays—Expects to Make Good Showing in Offense Next Saturday, but Is Not Sure of Defense—Purdue Star Breaks Leg in Practice.

Ghosts of former days were visible at the University of Chicago last night when Director Stagg led his doughty football men in an "after dinner" discussion of new plays and theories at the Reynolds club. It was the first night practice of the season, and the usual A B C's were mastered by the members of the varsity squad.

Stagg sat in a chair before a huge blackboard, and with a pointer in one hand and a piece of chalk in the other, executed circles, line plunges, forward passes, fumbles, tackles, punts, and everything in the football vocabulary except referees' decisions. He declared the practice was satisfactory.

This was the first time the maroon leader has had an opportunity to talk to his men in heart to heart fashion on the possibilities of the new game. His lecture brought out some new plays in connection with the forward pass and onside kick, while his interpretation of the new rules and fouls served to clear the minds of many of the regulars, who have lived in a blue haze on many of the points in doubt.

"Love Feast" on Friday.

Night practice will continue until Friday, when the maroons will be hosts at the "love feast" banquet to be given the Purdue players, rooters, and professors, which promises to be unique in college athletic annals. Only thirty minutes will be devoted to the theory of the game in the evening drill.

Previous to the "after dinner" affair Stagg thawed out still further on the workings of his team behind the closely barred gates. He expressed an opinion that his offense was strong, but was doubtful about its defense.

"We have developed a fairly good offense," he declared. "Lack of time has been the chief handicap, but I feel we will be able to make a good showing offensively against Purdue on Saturday. There are a few plays usable and some have been worked to good advantage against the freshmen.

"The defense is decidedly a doubtful quantity. I know little or nothing about our strength in this point. We will have to let the game decide. Our line still is weak. Purdue may not be forced to forward passes and other new plays in order to gain ten yards.

Working on Forward Pass.

"We have been working on the forward pass, but I cannot say we are getting along fast with it. The work, in fact, has been slow, and before we can expect any degree of success we must have more time. Chicago compares evenly with Purdue in the matter of veterans. Purdue has five men who played last year while Chicago has the same number. The work of the new men probably will have much to do with the way the game goes."

Stagg believes at least 5,000 persons will be present at the opening game. Purdue will send at least 1,000 rooters, having asked for this number of reservations. Chicago students will attend in large numbers. The reduced admission fee to students is expected to attract large crowds from both schools.

Word was received from Lafayette that the faculty of Purdue is working to make the Chicago-Purdue game take the place of the usual Indiana-Purdue contests, and are urging a large attendance at this game. The sale of seats opens today at Spalding's.

Stagg worked his lesser lights against the freshmen in scrimmage yesterday, saving his regulars for hard work today. The subs managed to run up eighteen points against the first year men.

Purdue Player Breaks Leg.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Runyon, the most promising member of the back field, had his left leg broken and his right ankle sprained during a fierce scrimmage today. He was removed to St. Elizabeth hospital. Coach Witham expected to use Runyon in the Chicago game on Saturday. The practice was the hardest of the season, and, after a series of games with class teams, the scrubs gave the varsity a good workout. Secret practice will be held during the remainder of the week.

YOST'S SCRUBS PLAY FIERCELY.

Only Garrells' Kicks Keep Michigan Varsity's Goal Line from Being Crossed in Practice.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—In a stiff forty minute practice behind closed gates at Ferry field today the scrubs came near to outplaying the varsity. It was only by good luck and the long kicks Garrells managed to get off that the second team was kept from scoring and the session ended with a 0 to 0 tally.

Twice the scrub threatened the regular goal, once when Featherstone broke around the end and got away for what looked like a sure score, but was brought down by Lowell, the fleet center of the regulars, and another time when by steady, consistent work the scrubs drove the ball down near the regulars' line.

Yost, who seems to be attempting to train each of his men for two or three positions, put in another unusual lineup: Lowell, center; Graham and Ruby, guards; Newton and Patrick, tackles; Curtis and Kanaga, ends; Witmier, quarter; Magoffin and Steckle, half backs; and Garrells, full back.

The coach was displeased with the showing of the men in the scrimmage and kept them after school for a stiff drill in signals. The shades of night had fallen when they filed into the gymnasium for their baths. It is not likely Harry Hammond will be in shape physically to play in the Ohio State game on Saturday.

Baird said tonight the railroads had turned down his requests for a rate to the Pennsylvania game and it is possible all the Michigan rooters who wish to see that contest will have to pay full fare.

SHAKEUP IN ILLINI BACK FIELD.

Fast Scrimmage Practice Held and Hodge Supplants Stewart—Other Changes Made.

Urbana, Ill., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Backfield shakeups are promised at Illinois, where a fast scrimmage was held tonight, with several changes in the lineup. Hodge, who was in the second set of backs, supplanted Stewart in the first. Hodge, despite his weight, is a valuable half back and will be worth more when he overcomes hurdling. Miller, a candidate for tackle, was tried at full back, where he appeared to advantage on the defensive. "Prep" Long, Cermak, and Mackey were tried out at end. Ovitz is now slated as quarter back, for it is believed he is too light for end. Coach Lindgren would like to avail himself of the baseball star's kicking. Green, who apparently is settled on for center, kicked well in practice and may be brought back and a back put in the line to pass the oval to him. Capt. Carrithers has not been out in togs since last Wednesday, but he expects to don them shortly.

The case of Carl Watson, the former Illinois athlete who went to Chicago last week, was the talk of the campus today. The Daily Illini, which started the discussion, promises a complete statement on the affair tomorrow. It is said that sworn testimony will be presented to the effect that Watson told friends he was being urged to attend Chicago.

SCHOOL PLAYERS IN DISPUTE.

Rielly Threatens to Quit Field During Practice of Wendell Phillips Team.

Practice at Wendell Phillips yesterday produced discord among the players. Rielly, the star half, threatened to leave the field. Capt. Glaesher finally settled the dispute. Groves, who reported for work for the first time this year, was sent in at full. Roche, the regular man at this position, being laid up with an injured knee. Groves made a few small mistakes, which upset Rielly, who dropped out of the signal work altogether.

North Division players took a four mile run to develop their wind yesterday. Capt. Dornblaster is satisfied with the showing of his men. The boys stood the run fairly well, barring those who have not been training to the mark. The team is scheduled to meet Chicago Latin again today at Lincoln park.

Myers Defeats Hooper.

Myers defeated Hooper in the balk line billiard tourney at Foley's last night by a score of 100 to 61. Hughes and Buehl play tonight.

SEEK AUTO TRACK AT WASHINGTON.

Tract of Land Wanted on Which to Run Races for Vanderbilt Cup.

TO BUILD PRIVATE COURSE

Committee Representing Donor of Trophy Inspects Suburbs of National Capital.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Negotiations are in progress for the establishment here of a track upon which future Vanderbilt cup automobile races will be run. Several New York capitalists were here yesterday and consulted a number of real estate firms relative to securing a plat of ground of sufficient size to be used for the national contests.

Several of the firms are understood to have submitted plans and it is regarded as extremely probable definite steps may be taken in the near future.

William K. Vanderbilt Jr. and A. R. Pardington, multimillionaires of New York, are believed to be behind the movement. So likewise, it is said, are all the leading makers of automobiles in the United States.

Private Roadway Sought.

Just after the races were run off on the Long Island track on Oct. 6 it was announced automobile races of like proportions never could be held over the Long Island track again. It was at this juncture Mr. Vanderbilt expressed himself as unconcerned whether or not the races ever were held in or near New York again. He announced he favored the purchase of a tract of land for the establishment of a private roadway over which the races could be contested without interference from any source whatever.

Mr. Pardington consented to go into the project, and together the two magnates set out to select a suitable place to establish a track. A committee, selected by these financiers, has visited sections of New Jersey and Connecticut, but as yet has failed to discover there a tract of land which would be satisfactory for automobile racing. The country in both of these sections is to some degree hilly and for automobile racing it is essential that the most level tract of land obtainable be procured.

The suburbs of Washington are level and ideal racing conditions can be secured.

Site Advantageously Located.

The site said to be desired is located on the Bladensburg road, six miles outside the city. It includes eighteen acres, and its location is especially advantageous because it is situated near two railroads, as well as on a trolley line from Washington. Upon the committee's return it is expected to make a second and more comprehensive examination of the desirability of this tract before reaching a final conclusion in the matter. The committee is understood to prefer this piece of ground to all other sites which were submitted, and it is regarded as likely negotiations soon will be closed.

The auto club contemplates the establishment of a course forty feet wide. A grand stand is to be placed in the infield, so that persons with field glasses can see the racing machines at all times during their course around the track. Several hundred thousand dollars will be expended in macadamizing the bed of the track.

YALE PLAYERS HAVE EASY WORK

Varsity Men Are Kept on Side Lines Except for a Brief Signal Drill—Forward Pass Tried.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—The Yale varsity players were kept on the side lines again today except for a brief signal drill. Tad Jones, Roome, and Howard Jones took part for the first time in two weeks. The only varsity absentee from the regular lineup was Tackle Forbes, who tried to play in tight shoes and had to lay off. He will be all right by Saturday.

Tad Jones and Roome were kept out of the ten minute half, which was allotted the varsity and second elevens. Dines ran the varsity eleven at quarter back and Stuart played full back. All the half was given to forward passing, but not a single toss ahead worked against the varsity, Howard Jones and Olcott leaping up and bringing down the ball every time. Capt. Morse played only a short time. He never has fully recovered his strength since the attack of ptomaine poisoning, but will be played in every game.

Zimowsky, full back at Brown university two years ago, was welcomed back to the squad today. He has managed to work clear of the faculty. The tackles practice today closed with a ten minute half between the freshmen and third varsity elevens, Capt. Coy scoring the only touchdown for the freshmen.

WISCONSIN.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—The regulars beat the freshmen in ten minutes of scrimmage today, 5 to 0. Soukup made the touchdown, securing the ball on a fumble after a quarter back punt. The stocky little half back is developing into a great player. Clark joined the squad and played at half back. Springer played quarter back and Messmer right tackle.

Before the scrimmage Coach Hutchins put the men through signal practice. He also spent half an hour in making the players run down on punts. "There are two things that you fellows must learn," said Hutchins. "You must learn how to protect your man who is punting and how to catch the runner on a punt.

Reports that the North Dakota team is an aggression of giants have scared Wisconsin. It is feared Dakota will be at least as fast as the Badgers.

NOTRE DAME.

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Notre Dame got another jolt today when it was learned that Dwan, who has proven a phenomenon at quarter back, may be obliged to quit the varsity owing to parental objections. The first and second teams battled today, the former crossing the latter's goal line twice. The varsity's showing, however, was unsatisfactory, and unless better work is done tomorrow work in the gymnasium will be inaugurated. O'Flynn, the premier candidate for subhalf back, injured his shoulder today and will not be in the game for some time. A misunderstanding in the schedule developed today. Lake Forest will not play here on Saturday and Manager Draper is scouting for a game.

MINNESOTA.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Much of the time was spent in formation work on Northrop field today, and only a twenty minute scrimmage was indulged in. Three of the regulars have been excused from work in order that they may take examinations, which must be passed this week or the men will be declared ineligible. "Bobby" Marshall, the colored end, is one of the unfortunates. If he should be lost the chances of having a winning team at Minnesota would be greatly lessened. The student body is breathlessly awaiting the faculty report, which will be made Oct. 20. Then the coaches will know what men can form the team.

Morgan Park to Play Rockford.

Morgan Park academy football team will play at Rockford, Ill., next Saturday. The high school team is considered to be one of the best in the state outside of Chicago. Capt. Wedow has had the Morgan Parkers working on the forward pass, which they have developed rapidly.

SPLIT OVER SUNDAY FOOTBALL.

Galt Club's Officials Repudiate All Connection with Its Proposed Trip to Chicago and St. Louis.

Galt, Ont., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—At a lively meeting of the executive of the Galt Football club tonight to consider the proposed western trip of the team the following resolution was adopted: "That the Galt Football club executive repudiates any connection whatever with the proposed trip to be taken to Chicago and St. Louis by the Galt football team. The executive strongly disapproves of the playing of Sunday football and will have no connection with the arrangements already made covering Sunday games."

A resolution also was passed calling in the sweaters, which are the property of the club. A motion approving the sending of a team, provided no Sunday games were played, was lost. Members of the executive claim the trip is being taken by the team as an independent outfit and that the players should not use the name of the club.

Despite all difficulties, however, a team will leave on Friday for Chicago.

Schaefer Wins from Daly.

New York, Oct. 16.—[Special.]—This afternoon Jake Schaefer played his last practice game at McGraw's academy before the championship contest between himself and Willie Hoppe, which takes place tomorrow night in the Madison Square concert hall. He defeated John Daly by a score of 200 to 94. The wizard's average was 12 6-16 and he made a high run of 53.

THOMPSON UNABLE TO FIGHT.

Match on Coast Is Called Off Because Sycamore Boy Is Too Sick to Fight Hyland.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—The Hyland-Thompson fight is off because of the sickness of Thompson, who is suffering from a severe attack of grip. Thompson began ailing last Wednesday, but his trainers thought he would throw off the cold. Today, however, he took to his bed and it was seen he could not fight tomorrow. McClintock, Hyland's manager, is willing to have his man fight Thompson later, but he insists that the $500 which he could claim as forfeit be added to the $750 side bet and that the winner take all the money.

MELLODY WINNER OVER WALCOTT.

Boston Boy Is Awarded Decision After 15 Rounds of Hard Fighting.

BATTLE AT CHELSEA A. C.

Victory of "Honey" Is Big Surprise—Colored Man Upsets Opponent in Second Round.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Joe Walcott was defeated tonight at the Lincoln A. C., Chelsea, after fifteen rounds of hard fighting, Referee Hector McInnes giving the decision to "Honey" Mellody. The decision was cheered by 4,000 spectators.

Both men weighed in at 145 pounds at 6 o'clock and were in fine condition. In the opening round both feinted and fiddled for the first minute, when Walcott shot a right to Mellody's stomach and followed it with a wicked left to the jaw. The local boy went down, and after taking a count of nine arose groggy but sensible enough to hold on and cover up.

Mellody came back surprisingly strong in the second and his awkward style enabled him to get to Walcott, the black demon being guessing. Round after round Mellody played for the black man's stomach, while Walcott attempted to shoot over his right and left. Occasionally Mellody would reach Walcott's jaw, but it was plain his plan was to stop Walcott by body punches.

Walcott put up a hard fight, but his young opponent was strong and hard to get at, in addition to having a stiff right and he. Mellody scored steadily and while Walcott tried to rally in the last round he was unable to land a decisive blow. While Mellody got the decision, Walcott was a dangerous man to the end.

The betting was 10 to 8 on Walcott to win and 2 to 1 Mellody would not last ten rounds. The wise money was hit hard.

O'BRIEN SCORES 2 KNOCKOUTS.

Stops Fred Cooley in Third Round and Jim Tremble in Ninth of Battles at Los Angeles.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Jack O'Brien knocked out Fred Cooley in three rounds and Jim Tremble in nine rounds before the Pacific Athletic club tonight, and thereby carried out the terms of his contract made with Manager McCarey when he agreed to put the men out inside of ten rounds each. By his clever work tonight O'Brien will be made a favorite in his battle with Tommy Burns for the heavyweight championship on Thanksgiving day.

O'Brien gave Cooley a sound drubbing. Bad blood has existed between the men since the night in Toledo when Cooley upset Jack with a hard punch under the chin, and it was O'Brien's ambition to wipe out the stain to his reputation. He accomplished the feat to the satisfaction of the big crowd present. He opened his batteries of left jabs and right hooks at the tap of the gong and kept up a rattling tattoo to Cooley's face and jaw.

Cooley tried time and again to swing a haymaker, but the nimble Quaker sidestepped and blocked and danced away until he had the Chicagoan dazzled with his rapid fire delivery. Then he stepped in and beat his man down. Cooley fought gamely and with desperation, but was no match for O'Brien in cleverness, and his heavy swings beat the empty air.

Tremble lasted longer than Cooley, but O'Brien wasted the early rounds in getting his second wind, for he had gone a fast pace with Cooley. Then he began to trim Tremble in artistic fashion. The boy was game and kept after Jack, but it was no use, and O'Brien wore him into a weakened condition, knocking him down three times in the eighth round and twice in the ninth.

Betting was even on O'Brien's ability to knock out both men, but no one presumed to accept odds on either one of the men knocking the Philadelphian out.

BUYS IN HARMON PLACE.

JACOB L. KESNER ADDS TO REAL ESTATE HOLDINGS.

Pays $26,000 for Lot, Price Being at Rate of $1,000 a Front Foot and $8.33 a Square Foot — Southwest Corner of Halsted and Fifty-second Streets Leased for a New Park Enterprise—Loan on Downtown Property Made at 3¾ Per Cent.

Mrs. Agatha Bier has sold to Jacob L. Kesner the property at 17 Harmon place for $26,000. The lot is 26x120 feet and is improved with a two story frame residence, which was given no value in the transaction, making the sale at the rate of $1,000 a front foot and $8.33 a square foot.

Mrs. Elizabeth Griffith has sold the property at 1726 Wabash avenue, 25x165 feet, adjoining on the south the new warehouse being erected by Rothschild & Co. The price paid is said to be around $800 a front foot. The name of the purchaser is withheld. Burt J. Fitzgerald negotiated the sale.

Gets Lease for Amusement Park.

The lease of the property at the southwest corner of Halsted and Fifty-second streets, known as Oswald park, by Mary Kotzenberg and others to Louis R. Lautterstein, was filed for record yesterday, also an assignment by Lautterstein to the Luna Park company, which is to conduct an amusement enterprise there. The corner comprises about five acres, and the lease, which runs for five years, provides for a gross rent of $14,500, with the privilege to extend for another term of five years at $4,000 a year. It also is provided that improvements to cost at least $30,000 are to be made, but it is understood the Luna Park company plans a much larger expenditure.

Edgar M. Snow & Co. have made a loan of $100,000 for five years at 3¾ per cent, secured upon the premises, 153-159 South Water street, 80x150 feet, with four story brick building.

The Chicago Title and Trust company is trustee in a loan of $50,000, five years, at 4½ per cent, to Mrs. Elise Kerchheim, secured by the property at the southeast corner of Ohio and Kingsbury streets.

Sells South Chicago Property.

Charles F. Swan has sold to Charles E. Haskwitz the property in Ninety-second street, fifty feet east of Houston avenue, in South Chicago, 25x135 feet, for $14,000, with incumbrance of $4,042.

In a partition sale of the property of the estate of Margaret Hurty at the real estate board auction room Joseph Hurty bid in the property at 192 Clinton street for $12,100, the property at 77 West Congress street for $6,800, and the leasehold estate at 60-66 West Jackson boulevard for $7,450.

OPPORTUNITIES IN SOUTH DAKOTA

Along the railway extension between Chamberlain on the Missouri River and Rapid City in the Black Hills of South Dakota, the following towns have been opened: Reliance, Kennebec, Presho, Vivian, Draper, and Murdo Mackenzie, all of which are in a flourishing condition. The actual successes of new settlers in these towns recently have been wonderful. Ten more new towns will be opened as rapidly as the railway is completed.

Mobridge, in Walworth County, South Dakota, on another new line of this railway, has just been opened for settlement and promises a great future. It is located near Evarts, Walworth County, S. D., just east of the crossing of the Missouri River in the famous Blue Blanket Valley.

These golden opportunities will not last much longer. Why not start in business now at one of these towns, where everything is new, where you will have an unusual chance for success?

NEW YORK STOCKS DULL.

TRADING ALMOST REACHES LOW RECORD FOR DAY'S SESSION.

Professionals Take but Little Interest in the Transactions and Attempts to Get Public Into Market Fail—Prices Move Within Limited Space, Union Pacific and Amalgamated Being the Only Important Issues Which Show Much Change.

[BY A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—[Special.]—The stagnation which became evident yesterday continued in force on the stock exchange today, the room traders taking but little interest in the session, while the public showed absolutely no inclination to speculate. The total amount of transactions fell lower than on any day since early in July.

There was a lack of large transactions, and this was thought to show that the large interests have abandoned their plan of interesting the public in the market. None of the important features was dealt in to any extent, and the movements in prices on stocks of first importance was too small to be of great interest. Union Pacific and Amalgamated Copper were the only ones which showed any large change, each gaining a point.

The sluggish movement and the dull trading in Amalgamated Copper were regarded as typical of the whole market. It is rare to see such neglect of this favorite medium of speculation on the eve of a dividend meeting. The directors are scheduled to meet on Thursday to decide the amount of the next quarterly disbursement. Assertions are confident of the intention to put the stock on an 8 per cent dividend basis, but every attempt to advance the stock brings out free offerings. Recent pressure against Union Pacific is regarded as equally significant of the disinclination of financial interests which control the market at times to lead a speculative movement.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $2,144,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Money on call, steady, 3@4 per cent; ruling rate, 3¾; closing bid, 3; offered at 3½. Time loans, dull and steady; sixty days, 5½; ninety days, 6 per cent; six months, 5¼@5¾. Prime mercantile paper, 6@6½ per cent. Sterling exchange, easy, with actual business in bankers' bills at 484.60@484.65 for demand and at 480.50@480.55 for sixty day bills. Posted rates, 481½ and 485½. Commercial bills, 480¼. Bar silver, 69¾. Mexican dollars, 53½. Government bonds, steady. Railroad bonds, irregular.

LOWER LEVEL FOR WHEAT

RECENT SELLING CONTINUED ON MORE BEARISH NEWS.

Foreign Markets, Added Favorable Argentine Gossip, and General Dullness Militate Against Bull Play—September Exports of Cereal and Flour Are Large—Corn Shade Easier—Oats Under Further Pressure—Hog Products Are Weaker.

As in the previous session, wheat yesterday ruled intensely quiet and heavy. There was no time in the course of the featureless session that the discouraged bulls seriously menaced the position of the bears. Values moved within narrow limits, with pressure always greater than support. Final quotations showed losses of ⅜@½c for December, ¼c for May, and ⅜c for July.

Almost everything in a news way was of a bearish cast, although there were items favorably construed by the price supporters. The painful absence of outside speculative support was one of the principal weights on the market.

Bears Begin Battle Early.

Bears started off early to follow up the advantage gained the day before, and the first hour witnessed heavy selling by scattered bearish longs and a fair degree of pressure from short sellers. Liverpool wound up ⅛@¼d lower, and more favorable news drifted in from the Argentine, which country really gave shorts a scare and bulls a tonic. Continental markets also displayed a weaker undertone. Considerable attention, however, has been shown in the advancing tendency of Kansas wheat at Antwerp in the last few days. The Belgian port has been a fair market to gauge by; it has performed bearish stunts when every one expected bullish ones, and turned bullish tricks when the trade looked for declines.

While the receipts of wheat at Duluth and Minneapolis—588 cars—fell fifty-one cars under those of the corresponding day last year, the arrivals at the former place were unexpectedly heavy. The receipts here were 134 cars, of which thirty-four graded contract, against 130 cars estimated. Primary arrivals aggregated 1,268,000 bu, compared with 1,300,000 bu the similar day in 1905. The Winnipeg receipts were 582 cars, against 480 cars a year ago.

September Exports Are Heavy.

Most of the day's export talk was bearish, as it has been for a long time, but the September official report on the amount of wheat and flour shipped from the United States, showing a total of 17,964,000 bu, was the most bullish since that for October, 1902. There were unconfirmed and vigorously denied reports of big flour sales at Minneapolis. The day's clearances of wheat and flour at the seaboard were equivalent to 258,000 bu.

Although the available supply, according to Bradstreet's, showed an increase of 4,482,000 bu, 41,105,000 bu less than the gain shown a week before, it was 2,240,000 bu in excess of the increase of a year ago. The export showing for September and the belief that the record was being maintained served to check bears in their selling movement.

Weather Conditions Favorable.

Weather conditions generally were of an ideal sort, highly favorable to a better movement from the farms of the northwest, and bearish traders at Minneapolis wired in most confident expectations of larger receipts at the leading points. The bulls, on the other hand, figure that the spring wheat growers are indisposed to sell freely of their grain at prevailing values. Relative to the future almost everywhere, the cash grain showed a firm undertone.

Corn Dull and Featureless.

Corn, quiet and featureless most of the session, moved within narrow limits, closing ⅛c lower for December and ⅛@¼c off for May. Scattered longs indulged in fair selling of May, shorts covering quite freely in December on the softer spots. Shipping business and inquiry at the local tables were dull. There was some selling on the official September report of exports, which showed well under those of the corresponding month last year.

Local arrivals were 387 cars, of which 273 graded contract, against 408 cars estimated. Primary receipts were 637,000 bu, against 439,000 bu last year. Weather generally was favorable, although in some sections it was not considered ideal for curing.

Oats Again Are Heavy.

Oats ruled heavy the greater part of the session, although some recovery was made from the softest spots. The dragging trade in the more important cereals, reported increased offerings from the country, selling by [illegible] cash concerns and longs, and pressure from local shorts were among the principal weights on the market. Commission houses, acting for traders who do not put implicit faith in the government's October report, were liberal purchasers on the decline.

Local receipts were 311 cars, of which 60 graded contract, against 347 estimated. Seaboard clearances aggregated the enormous total of 25 bu. There was a bare suggestion of improvement in the cash trade, but prices at the sample tables showed weaker. Final prices were at losses of ¼c for the active options.

Provisions Under Pressure.

Packers and scattered longs took a hand at selling in the provision market, their pressure resulting in a general recession of values. The closing gong registered losses of 10c for January pork, 2½@5c for lard, and 5@15c for January ribs. The soft spots found moderate investment buying of January lard. The run of hogs at western points was 51,000, against [illegible] a week before and 68,500 the corresponding day last year. Cholera hogs were reported among arrivals at the stockyards, but the trade paid little attention to the report.

Barley continued firm, with a good demand. Feed was quoted 39@40c; malting, [illegible]; screenings, 30@43c. Receipts were [illegible] cars.

INTERESTING TRADE GOSSIP ON 'CHANGE.

A small quantity of wheat was worked for export yesterday by local houses, but otherwise the cash market was exceedingly dull. The most of the foreign bids at the close were considerably out of line. The milling demand was slow and featureless. Differences were unchanged, No. 2 red being quoted 1¼c under December and No. 2 hard 1c under on track.

The southwestern markets were dull and ½@1c lower. At Kansas City a considerable quantity was carried over. No. 1 northern at Minneapolis was quoted 2c over December, with a fair demand from the mills. Monday's sales of flour were good, but there was little doing yesterday. Country receipts were fairly heavy. Seaboard points reported export business quiet.

The domestic demand for corn was poor, especially from New England points. Baltimore reported bids close to an export basis for corn. Prices in the local market were ⅛c lower. The movement of old corn continues in fair volume. Oats were weak, ¼@⅜c lower. There were good sales on the decline.

Local cash sales were 50,000 bu wheat, 70,000 bu corn, and 260,000 bu oats. The seaboard reported sales of 120,000 bu wheat in all positions, 80,000 bu corn, and 200,000 bu oats.

Armour, Love, J. Rosenbaum Grain, Bartlett-Frazier, Barrett, Logan-Bryan, Ware-Leland, Wright, and Pringle-Fitch-Rankin were the big sellers of wheat. Rankin was a buyer early, but later sold. On the decline Comstock, Kneeland-Clement-Curtis, Updike, Jackson, and northwestern houses were buyers.

Other buying was scattered. The Northern Grain was the leading buyer of oats, with Bartlett-Frazier, Peavey, Wright, Updike, Congdon-Steever, and Wrenn selling freely.

John Cudahy was an open seller of January and November lard and January ribs, and Woolf, Schwartz, and Bartlett-Frazier sold January lard. Raymond was a buyer on the break.

Closing prices for wheat in foreign markets were: Liverpool, ¼@⅜d lower; Paris, unchanged to ⅛c up; Antwerp, unchanged; Berlin, ¼c lower; Budapest, 1¼c lower.

Estimated receipts for today are: Wheat, 72 cars; corn, 235 cars; oats, 270 cars; rye, 7 cars; barley, 56 cars; hogs, 30,000.

An Argentine cable to the New York produce exchange said that the last year's crop of wheat in that country was now estimated at 168,000,000 bu on an acreage of 13,585,000 acres. The flax crop was placed at 26,400,000 bu on an acreage of 2,524,000 acres. If the figures on the wheat crop are correct it would indicate that there is still a considerable quantity of old wheat to come forward. Cable advices regarding weather and crop conditions were uniformly favorable. Broomhall cabled that general refreshing rains had fallen, and private cables were to the same effect.

The Northwestern Miller had a direct cable from its Argentine correspondent saying: "Wheat area sown officially declared to be 5,500,000 hectares, or approximately 13,750,000 acres. Trade circles are of the opinion that locusts will not do much damage owing to the advanced growth of the crops. Crops are thriving well; customary drawbacks do not seem to be more than ordinarily troublesome."

September exports of wheat and flour from the United States alone were 17,964, or the largest for any single month since October, 1902. For the first three months of the crop year the total was equal to 37,220,000 bu, as compared to 13,969,000 bu last year. Corn shipments for September were 3,377,000 bu, against 5,697,000 bu a year ago.

A New York wire said the produce exchange had posted an advance of 1¼c per bu on Kansas hard wheat at Antwerp, following an advance of ⅝c there on Monday.

Deliveries on October contracts yesterday were 15,000 bu corn and 250 tcs lard.

Sales on the call were: Corn—2,000 bu No. 3, this year's shipment, at 39⅝c track Chicago; 2,000 bu No. 3, shipment on or before Nov. 15, at 42½c track Chicago; 10,000 No. 3, shipment on or before Nov. 15, at 41½c through billed; 10,000 bu No. 3 yellow, shipment on or before Nov. 15, at 41½c through billed; 10,000 bu No. 3, ten days' shipment, at 44¾c track Chicago.

Charters were made for 110,000 bu wheat at 2¼c, and 100,000 bu corn to Buffalo at 2c.

The following applicants for membership were approved by the directors at their regular meeting: J. A. McLeod, J. R. Chapman, J. A. Tiedeman, E. C. Travis, and G. H. Lyons. H. G. Meadows and Benona P. St. John have applied for membership; and D. T. Hammond and John M. Simpson have posted their memberships for transfer.

Broomhall's summary of crop conditions in foreign countries said:

"United Kingdom—The weather has improved. Seeding is making fair progress.

"France—Further rains have fallen, which have been beneficial for seeding; holders are firm.

"Germany—Seeding is being carried on under favorable conditions. The demand for foreign grain is good.

"Hungary—Seeding is progressing under favorable conditions. The corn crop is good, but it is reported to have received some damage from unfavorable weather.

"Roumania—Complaints are heard regarding the quality of corn. Rains have caused some delay in seeding.

"Bulgaria—The crop outlook is favorable.

"Russia—Seeding has been generally carried out under favorable conditions. Supplies in the southwest liberal, in the Azoff small partly owing to heavy rains. Holders there firm.

"Italy and North Africa—The crop outlook is unchanged.

"Spain—Seeding has been done under generally favorable conditions. However, are asking an increase in the duty."

IN THE NEW YORK MARKETS.

Sales of 28 inch 64x60 print cloths of all goods available to January were made during the day at 3⅝c, an advance of ⅛c.

IN FOREIGN MONEY MARKETS.

LONDON, Oct. 16.—In the market today the supplies of money were restricted owing to bills maturing at the Bank of England and the payment for $5,000,000 in Irish land stock. Discounts were firm. Trading on the stock exchange was limited, but prices were steady. Americans developed a steadier tendency under the lead of Canadian and Southern Pacific, which was followed later by increased buying of Union Pacific. Hudson Bay touched a new record, 101½. Copper stocks were active and dearer.

BERLIN, Oct. 16.—Trading on the boerse today was quiet. Russians were stronger.

PARIS, Oct. 16.—On the bourse today the firmness was maintained under the influence of better news from Russia and prices closed strong. Russian imperial 4s closed at 72.05 and Russian bonds of 1904 at 485.00.

ON THE LOCAL EXCHANGE.

UNITED BOXBOARD ISSUES SHOW CONSIDERABLE STRENGTH.

Preferred Advances to 12⅝ on Good Buying—Swift & Co. Firm Up to 117, and Diamond Match Drops Below 125—Official Denial of Edison-Subway Deal—Western Electric Gross Earnings Said to Show an Increase of 40 Per Cent.

United Boxboard issues showed considerable strength on the local exchange yesterday, and the preferred advanced to 12⅝. The buying was of a little better character than has been noted for some months. It can be announced on authority other than that of the speculative management that the earnings are good and the company in the best position it has enjoyed since its organization.

Improving the company's standing is slow work, but it is progressing satisfactorily, and a continuance of the present volume of business at current quotations should mean a material increase in the price of the stock. There is no news other than that of good earnings.

Swift & Co. shares were made a little more active, and the price firmed up to 117. Shipbuilding common has steadied at 70. American Can issues showed no improvement. The preferred ruled at 56⅝.

Diamond Match dropped below 125, closing at 124⅝. National Biscuit issues were steady. The common halted at 73.

In the bond department L 4s sold at 91. There was some demand for Swift & Co.'s 5s at 102. United Boxboard 6s held steady at 75.

Chicago Edison-Subway.

There is official denial for the reports that the Chicago Edison company is about to be leased by Chicago Subway interests. There have been no actual negotiations and there has been no proposition submitted. There has been some talk between interests in the Edison company and the capitalists behind the Chicago Subway, but there has been nothing definite.

The recent visit of the president of the Chicago Edison company to New York was for the purpose of attending a conference of Edison companies from Boston, Philadelphia, New York, and Chicago. The heads of these different corporations compare notes in features of management with a view of mutual benefit. An illustration is to be found in the policy of advertising in newspapers, an experiment the success of which it is desired to ascertain. This, however, is only one of the number of matters which the managers consider.

A great deal of the talk of leasing the Edison company probably springs from the fact that the Chicago Subway takes its current for the operation of trains from the Edison company. The Subway company has, temporarily, at least, abandoned its project of building a power house.

There was also a revival yesterday of the old story, many times printed, that the People's Gas company might use its Cosmopolitan electric ordinance to force the Edison company into a sale of its plants to the gas company.

Northwestern "L" Borrowings.

There is some misunderstanding about the method of raising funds adopted by the Northwestern Elevated. Of the $3,000,000 4 per cent bonds recently authorized, $2,000,000 have been used as collateral for short time loans rather than sell the bonds in the present dull market. Loans have been made with various institutions. Blair & Co. of New York have loaned a small amount.

Tennessee Coal New Stock.

At a special meeting of stockholders of the Tennessee Coal and Iron company, held at Tracy City, Tenn., yesterday, the increase in the common stock was approved. New stock to the extent of $20,000,000 was voted, making the outstanding capital $50,000,000.

Betting Favors Mr. Hughes.

As far as wagers indicate anything regarding the contest for the governorship of New York, they are in favor of Mr. Hughes. The betting yesterday was 3 to 1 against Mr. Hearst. Wall street goes wrong a great many times, but experience in local elections there has been that its information was good.

Kansas City Railway.

There is no probability of a dividend on Kansas City Railway and Light common in the current calendar year. After the turn of the year, if the business continues as it is at present, the question of a dividend at the rate of probably 4 per cent will be considered. The management of the company believes in accumulating a surplus, and the history of corporation management shows that the shareholders receive, through an increase in the market value of stock because of a growing surplus, a larger dividend than results from payment of cash with an insignificant surplus.

Federal Mining and Smelting.

At the annual meeting of the Federal Mining and Smelting company E. Brush and F. T. Gates were elected directors in place of P. B. Bradley and George W. Young, resigned. At a subsequent meeting of the new board the retiring officers were reëlected.

The company reports for the fiscal year ended Aug. 31:

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

The live stock market took a slump yesterday and closed weak for all offerings. The trade started in with the prices low and failed to gain strength at any time during the day. Prices for cattle were some 10c lower than on the previous day. The responsibility for the indifferent demand was charged to the unusually liberal receipts for Tuesday.

The prices for hogs went 10c lower than on Monday partly because the quality was not as good. Sheep showed even a greater decline, some of the prices being 20c lower. There were too many sheep for the trade.

The receipts were: Cattle, 12,000; hogs, 19,000; sheep, 42,000.

GRAPE PRICES ARE FIRM.

The grape market was firm, receipts being moderate and a fair demand existing. Eastern grapes sold well at a shade higher prices. Apples were firm owing to the more moderate receipts. Fancy eating apples particularly were in excellent request, a few orders being received from outside points. Trade in butter and eggs was active at steady prices. The arrivals of strictly fresh eggs are not sufficient to fill the demand.
